Elizabethtown's Best

Lyng Names Espy, Cope To Beef Promotion Board

BY JACK HUBLEY

While champions of red meat may have differing opinions on how to get the job done, most agree that stepping up promotion efforts is the key to rejuvenating the beef market. But getting the story to the public costs money.

Cattlemen will begin stoking the kitty this fall when the $1-per-head checkoff goes into effect, probably some time in October, according to USDA Livestock and Seed Division spokesman David Hallett.

"Basically, every time an animal is sold the seller pays one dollar and the buyer has the responsibility of getting that money to the state beef council," says Hallet, pointing out that the way the program is set up, one animal may generate more than a dollar because of multiple sales. All state programs will be incorporated into the national effort, with state beef councils taking 50 cents of each dollar and the other 50 cents going to the national board.

The checkoff will continue for 22 months, at which time a nationwide referendum will be held to assess producer acceptance of the program. During this 22-month trial period, cattlemen may apply for a refund of their contributions, but if the nation's cattlemen vote in favor of the checkoff, the program becomes mandatory.

Funds accumulated through the checkoff will be administered by a 113-member Beef Promotion and Research Board, with represen-

Walker Visits Farmers

Congressman Robert Walker held his annual tour of area farms Wednesday to meet with farmers in informal settings for "town meeting" style discussions. "What impacts on ag policy is not just production farmers but the total agribusiness community," Walker said. "I'm not sure it's a cheap food policy that motivates government officials so much as the power that comes to those bureaucrats and committees that run agriculture out of their hip pockets. If we reduce farm programs, you would have a demolition of the amount of power that occurs in their hands. My fear is that there is momentum in

Lancaster Co. Holstein Day At Welk Farm

PEACH BOTTOM — It rained all morning but the Lancaster County Holstein Field Day at the family farm of Paul Welk here still featured the annual judging contest, noon meal, and a short program after lunchs. Lancaster County Dairy Princess Pam Kendig brought Teddy the stuffed bear she uses to help her make speeches for milk. Teddy reminded Pam severl times to tell every one to drink more milk.

Glenn Shirk Lancaster County Extension Agent said he looked forward to a stabilized dairy industry that has become reasonably healthy. "There is a market for milk," Shirk said. "And reasonably priced feeds should help the net price. Forages may be a bit short in Southern Lancaster County," Shirk said. "And with a possible lowering of quality, farmers should make adjustments in their feed rations to compensate for any lack of quality in forages. As you put up your forages, that's the time to control quality," Shirk said. The county agent also noted that Johnson grass was overrunning many fields. And farmers should be careful that weed seeds did not come onto their farm by custom operators or in feed purchases.

Winners in the judging contest were, men's division: H. Landis Weaver, 98 points; David Kolb, 97 points; and Arland Keener, 96 points. The winners in the women's division were: Kim Stoud, 88 points, Carol Best, 84 points; and Millie Groff, 81 points. The winners in the youth division were: Denise Best, 90 points; Fred Ranck, 85 points; and Sara Hess, 85 points. Judge for the event was Bob Knutsen, Rising Sun, Maryland.

Drought Hay Fund Reaches $18,103

The 1986 Summer Drought Hay Fund has received a total of $18,103 to date. If you want to contribute to this drought hay fund, make your checks payable to 1986 Summer Drought Hay Fund. Then send your check to Lancaster Farming newspaper, 22 East Main Street, P.O. Box 366, Lititz, PA 17543, attention Hay Fund or attention Editor.

At the Lancaster County Holstein Field Day is (left to right) Jay Ranck, committee chairman; Kim Stroud, women's division winner; Denise Best, children's division winner; and Bob Knutsen, dairy judge.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

SEPT. 1-7, 1986

Showers are the rule as kids go back to school.

Labor Day Sept 1 Great Britain and her colonies switched to the Gregorian calendar, touching off violent protests, Sept 2, 1752 Average length of days for the week, 13 hours, 2 minutes Brush fires fanned by winds destroyed 20 villages and over a million acres of forest in Michigan, Sept 5, 1881 New moon Sept 4 (Thurs) Violent hurricane hit the Florida Keys, leaving 408 dead, Sept 2, 1935 President William McKinley shot and fatally wounded by Leon Czolgosz in Buffalo, N Y, Sept 6, 1901 He's a fool that cannot conceal his wisdom

Ask the Old Farmer: The porcelain has worn off an old bathtub in our house, but my husband doesn't want to replace it because it's so comfortable for his size Is there a paint available that we can use to restore the tub? P A W, Rhinebeck, N Y

There are epoxy paints made to coat old tubs and basins It won't be the equal of a new tub, but it should last for three or four years Be sure to clean the tub and fumigate the room after the job, since the paint fumes are toxic

Home Hints: As your crops finish producing, sow winter rye in fallow areas to act as a 'green manure" when you till next spring

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Beginning of week showers with cool temperatures, midweek rainy and warm, end of week cool

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins with thundershowers and cool temperatures, midweek sunny and warm, end of week showers with cool temperatures

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Rainy and mild at beginning of week, clear and hot midweek, showers with mild temperatures at week's end

Omaha Weekly

Thursday, Aug. 28
Report supplied by USDA

Slaughter steers and heifers closed this week steady to 50 cents lower than last week's closing levels. Trading was marked by good buyer demand throughout the week. Dressed beef and boxed beef price declines prompting buyers to be bearish in their bidding but seller resistance to sharply lower bids was evident as some recovery was noted on Wednesday. Slaughter cows and bulls 2.00 lower.

Estimated 5 day receipts this week 4900 compared to actuals last week of 4089 and 6645 last year. Slaughter steers accounted for 45 percent of receipts, heifers 41 percent, cows 9 percent and feeder cattle 3 percent.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: Closing sales choice 2-4 1050-1300 lbs. 59.00-60.75. Mixed good and choice 2-3 1050-1250 lbs. 57.00-58.00.

Cheap Food And Fall Political Races

America's 2,328,000 farmers provide the food and fiber for 201 million people in the U.S., plus another 70 million in other parts of the world. No other country has this kind of production efficiency.

The most recent U.S. Department of Agriculture figures indicate that it costs a farmer $517.98 to raise enough food for one person for a year. This comes to a production cost of $139.5 billion to feed 271 million people.

According to Dean Belt, University of Delaware Extension Agricultural Agent, one U.S. farmer now grows enough food for 116 people. "We are the best fed nation in the world," Belt says. "And at the same time, we spend only 15 percent of our after-tax income on food–much less than in most other countries. As consumers, Americans are very fortunate that farmers are able to produce the variety of foods they do for such a low cost."

For every dollar Americans spend for food, however, the farmer gets only 27 cents. The rest of that dollar, goes to support the many jobs made possible by the farmer. It takes 13 million people to market and retail the food and fiber farmers produce. It requires an additional 5.4 million people to sell the seeds, equipment and other farming inputs and to provide the services such as transportation and storage used by farmers.

A loaf of bread is one way to illustrate the farmer's current economic plight. A 54-cent, one-pound loaf of white bread contains 5.1 cents worth of wheat, lard, soybean oil, corn syrup and dairy products. That's all the farmer gets from its sale. The rest of the money goes to pay for manufacturing, marketing, transportation and advertisig.

With all the talk about government wanting to help the farmer in the midst of financial crisis, you can't help wondering where the political heart really lies. Representative Jim Jeffords, R-VT, last week told delegates to the Milk Marketing Inc.'s mid-year meeting in Columbus, Ohio, that President Reagan nor congress would support any supply management program that could possibly increase food prices to consumers.

Jeffords pointed out that 435 congressional and 33 senate seats are up for election this year. You get the definite impression that cheap food for the consumer is a lot more important to at least some of our politicians in Washington than a fair income for our farmers' production efficiency.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Control Johnsongrass

This sorghum-like grass is a problem on many fields in this part of the state. There are cases where nothing is being done to control this weed; for those I would remind you that Johnsongrass is listed as a noxious weed in Pennsylvania. In corn there is little that can be done at this time of year except cut the seed-head off and burn them. It'll require treatment at planting time.

However, in other fields such as small grains, where the growth of Johnsongrass reaches 2½ to 3 feet - - in the boot stage – the plants may be sprayed with Roundup. These plants are very heavy seed producers; a few plants allowed to go to seed this fall will mean hundreds of plants next summer. Johnsongrass is fast growing and will crowd out most farm crops. We urge landowners to make every effort to eliminate Johnsongrass from their farm. The 1986-86 Agronomy Guide lists control information.

To Be Safe During This Busy Season

We are entering one of the busiest and most hazardous times of the year... silo filling and corn picking time. Blend into that time wheat and barley planting and the last cutting of alfalfa. This means a lot of farm machinery will be on our highways during semi-dark or dark hours.

Slow moving vehicles such as farm equipment traveling on highways present a real traffic hazard. The motorist must recognize that a tractor traveling at 10 to 15 miles per hour is almost standing still compared to a 55 mph car. Most highway drivers have never driven a farm machine on the highway and simply do not realize how slow they do travel.

Proper identification and warning is very important. Let's keep alert this busy fall season both on the highway and in the fields.

To Mow or Not To Mow Alfalfa

Each year we receive a lot of calls as to whether alfalfa should be cut the first part of September or not. According to crop authorities it is not just a simple yes or no question. If you have left one of your cuttings go into full bloom, then you do not need to be concerned; however, if you have not, then do not cut the first two weeks of September. The reason for this is, it's the period when the plants are storing food in developing rhizomes for next year's growth. To disturb this development will result in less rhizomes and less growth next year. The final cutting can be made in late September or early October. On stands that have been established this spring, from which one or two cuttings have already been made, it's best to allow it to stand; this will give a little better winter protection.

The application of a phosphate-potash fertilizer this fall is a good practice. Use your soil results as a guide on rates of application.

To Protect Yourself From Mosquitos

If you enjoy being outdoors but hate being eaten alive by mosquitos and biting flies, Dr. Clarence Collision, Extension Entomologist at Penn State, some good advice. It's a che- called Deet and it can be f(most personal insect repellents.

For best resistance, look on the label for a Deet concentration of at least 50 percent Aerosols can be applied to clothing, while foams and lotions can be used directly on the skin. Lotions have the best repellent properties. If you are going to be out in a deep woods area where the population of biting insects is very high, lotions would be best.

Repellents containing Deet can be safely applied to the skin, however, repellents can be irritating so be especially careful when you are protecting children and avoid getting lotions or sprays in eyes or mouth.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHO'S IN CHARGE?
August 31, 1986

Background Scripture: Daniel 7 through 8.
Devotional Reading: Daniel 9:14-19.

When we were children, we probably never wondered about "Who's in charge?" We assumed someone was in charge of life and the universe, because that's the way the world seems to be.

But, as we get older, we may begin to wonder if our first impression was, in fact, on target. Is there someone or some thing in charge, and, if so, who or what? Give this question enough thought and you will likely consider one or more of the following possible answers:

1. God's in charge.
2. Human beings are in charge.
3. Nature's in charge.
4. Fate's in charge.
5. Nothing is in charge.

Only answer number one is really satisfying to me. If people are in charge of the universe, that is, in light of our ingenious capacity for failure, very frightening indeed. Nor is it any more reassuring to think that "Nature" might be in charge, or "Fate" (for who's in charge of "Fate"?). Worst of all is the thought that nothing or no one is in charge, that the world is stumbling along on pure chance.

FRIGHTENING OPTIONS

Of course, it's not just a matter of who is "in charge" of this universe, but that even greater issue that goes beyond the present moment: is there a plan, a purpose and some fulfillment to which we're headed? This is not just a matter of intellectual curiosity and speculation. For, what we believe about the answers to these questions has a great deal to do with how we live life right now. If there's no purpose to all of this, then why try? But, if quite beyond my own efforts and meaning, God has an eternal purpose for us and the whole of creation, I am freed to live on a higher level in the here and now.

THE END TIME

That's why from time to time we need people like Daniel to find and share a vision that looks beyond the present moment and even beyond our own time and place: "Understand, O son of man, that the vision is for the time of the end" (8:17). For, no matter how obscure the symbols in the prophet's vision, the message is clear: God is in charge and the end of all things is in his hands.

8 Reasons For Choosing... CABLEVEY

(1) CABLEVEY Saves Labor - That's important when you want to maximize milk production by feeding more often.

(2) CABLEVEY Saves Feed - Many dairy producers have found the milk production increased even with equal or less feed after installing CABLEVEY.

(3) CABLEVEY Pays For Itself - Just from the increase in milk production alone, many systems have paid for themselves in 12 months or less.

(4) CABLEVEY Reduces Feed Separation — Unlike flex augers, feed separation is minimal .. that means a more uniform ration to all cows.

(5) CABLEVEY Handles High Moisture Corn — The 2" system and plastic drops are specially designed to handle high moisture corn without constant hang-ups.

(6) CABLEVEY Takes The Corners — Specially designed 90° corners allow efficient system operation for nearly any barn layout.

(7) CABLEVEY Saves Energy — 1 Motor and 1 system handle many livestock operations

(8) CABLEVEY Controls Feed By Weight Or Volume — Cows individually fed a pre-set amount by Weight or Volume automatically 5 to 8 times per day for highest efficiency.

Milk Advertising Continues Growth

WILLIAMSPORT – The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council is continuing its expansion of milk advertising programs directed at consumers in ADADC's marketing area. These programs were reviewed for local dairy producers at the District 19 meeting of ADADC, held Aug. 27 in Mifflinburg. This is the first in a series of meetings which ADADC will be holding to inform dairy producers about milk promotion.

Roberta Bronson, ADADC dairy marketing specialist, was the main speaker for the evening. According to Bronson, ADADC has developed a total promotion program for milk ranging from radio and television ads to restaurant and supermarket promotions. She stated, "We are trying to get our message out to the consumers in as many ways as possible. This is done by placing our messages wherever milk products are bought or consumed in order to reinforce our media advertising."

The restaurant and foodservice area has been one of the largest areas for expansion for ADADC during 1986. Dairy promotions have been coordinated with several restaurant chains, including a back-to-school promotion with Perkins. In this promotion, which takes place this fall, consumers who purchase a glass of milk at Perkins restaurant will receive a free book cover which contains a milk advertising message. Over 50,000 book covers will be distributed throughout ADADC's area.

Since a significant amount of Pennsylvania's milk is sold in New York City, ADADA continued its promotion efforts in this area. They coordinated a successful ice cream promotion with the McDonald's chain this past summer. Consumers were able to save 25 cents off the cost of all McDonald's ice cream products by presenting a Real Seal at the time of purchase. This program will run nationally next summer based on the success of this initial promotion.

Media advertising continues to be the backbone of ADADC's program. Two new television ads were developed for the New York market this year. The first featured New York Mets' All-Star Darryl Strawberry as milk's latest spokesman. The other is a Spanish milk ad directed at New York's significant Hispanic population. Both of these new ads are coordinated with the generic milk promotion ads being sponsored nationally.

Following Bronson's presentation, elections were held for the district committee. Elected were: John Walter, three years; Fred Epler, three years; Jim Sanders, three years; and Ken Shuuck, two years. These people will represent the counties of Bedford, Blair, Centre, Clinton, Columbia, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Lycoming, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Snyder, and Union.

Speaking Of Watermelons....

Three generations of Brenemans got in this picture of 130 pound watermelons, Paul, his son Paul, Jr., and grandson, eight year old Keith Allen. The big watermelons were grown on the Breneman produce farm at RD4 Lititz.

The seed came several years ago from a world record holder called the Oklahoma Giant Strain developed by Vernon Conrad at Bixley, Oklahoma. The Brenemans expect to show these big watermelons at some of the Lancaster County fairs, but Paul said, "Someone else might have a bigger one."

North Jersey Market To Now Sell Hay

BY ED SHAMY
Northwest New Jersey
Correspondent

HACKETTSTOWN — The long hayride may be over for farmers in northwestern New Jersey and northeastern Pennsylvania.

The North Jersey Livestock Auction Market, long a respected place to sell cattle, eggs, chickens, and other commodities, will begin to sell hay on Tuesday, September 23.

Buyers and sellers who take advantage of the auction will be spared the ride to the closest hay markets in Ephrata and New Holland, both of which are well over an hour's drive from this region along the Delaware River.

Auction master Al Nunn, who presides at the weekly auction in eastern Warren County, said the market's executive board had been considering the addition of hay to its list of commodities for several years.

The final decision came after Duane Copley, the district manager of the Warren County Soil Conservation District, made a convincing pitch to include hay.

Copley told the board that the creation of a formal hay market could help soil conservationists convince area growers to stabilize erosion-prone hillsides and would reflect dramatic changes in the agriculture of the region.

The auction market executive board, already endowed with the necessary space and the available time to undertake the hay auction, agreed.

The sale was created primarily for the common hay products grown in the area — alfalfa, timothy, clover, orchard grass and the mixed bales — but Nunn said that mulch hay, straw, ear corn, baled corn fodder and other grain-related products would also be sold.

The sale will be held in the open air in a meadow across Stiger Street from the auction market. Vendors can sell their hay by the ton or by the bale, said Nunn. Those who have their forage auctioned by weight will be required to present to the auctioneers a certified weight slip. A list of certified scales in the area is being distributed to potential sellers.

Nunn said the livestock market's executive board waived a suggestion that the hay auction be held on a trial basis, convinced that it will draw a market from those producers and buyers who have traditionally traveled to southeastern Pennsylvania and into New York State to swap hay.

Copley believes that many growers will be interested in the Hackettstown hay sales because, for some, it costs as much as $30 per ton to ship the bales of feed to distant markets.

Sellers will also benefit because they will be paid promptly for their hay, according to Copley.

Nunn confirmed that the payments for items sold at the auction are issued on Thursdays. The auction is held each Tuesday, year-round.

Copley said that when farmers sell to other farmers, they often agree upon the price of the hay, but don't receive payment for weeks, or even months. The auction market can improve cash flow for financially pinched growers, he said.

For Copley and the conservation district, the new hay market comes as a victory that could make the erosion-control argument more effective.

Warren County is New Jersey's most concentrated dairy area. Hunterdon County, to the south, is ranked among the top producers of milk. And immediately across the Delaware River, dairy is a prime agricultural industry in Northampton County, Pennsylvania.

But increasingly, dairymen are leaving the business and getting into cash crops and more specialty cropping. And perhaps the most rapid growth has been in horse industry. There are no fewer than 10 horse race tracks within 100 miles of the area, and breeders and trainers have responded by building their stables in the mountainous area. New Jersey is among the leaders of the states with the most number of standardbred and thoroughbred horses in the country.

Many of the horse breeders, however, don't grow their own feed, and depend on area farmers to fill the void.

Dairy farmers, too, are slowly converting their farms to cash crops. More than 2,500 head were accepted into the federal government's dairy herd buyout program, with more than 30 farmers participating in the three counties.

Copley said many of the participants have come to his office, asking how to fill their fields now that they don't need silage and other feed programs exclusive for dairy cattle.

Most, said Copley, don't want to compete in the corn, soybean and wheat arenas because of severely depressed prices. And the lag gives a great opportunity to conservationists who want to see hays and legumes planted on erodible land.

The crops are "a fantastic reducer of erosion on farm ground," said Copley.

"It makes our selling conservation a lot easier, if I can tell somebody to strip crop with hay and sell through the auction," said Copley. "Now we can point to a market for them."

The result could be financially healthier farmers.

"A lot of these guys could do better financially if they took some of this ground they have now in corn and started establishing some hay," said Copley.

Nunn said the livestock market will test the hay market and will determine how busy it gets and how much time it demands.

Currently, it's slated for 11 a.m. on auction days, when there is ordinarily a lull in activity and two auctioneers are free.

If the hay draws many vendors, it is conceivable that a special day just for the forage could be established at the market, Nunn said.

There's no way, yet, to predict if that will be needed.

But those who have worked to get the hay auction rolling are enthusiastic enough that they don't have much trouble envisioning a bustling market.

Northumberland Farmer Cited For Conservation Efforts

SUNBURY — Barry Woodruff, a Northumberland County farmer, has been selected as Conservationist of the Month for August by the board of directors of the Northumberland County Conservation District. The announcement was made by Robert Pardoe, Jr., district chairman.

Woodruff, 24, is being honored for his efforts in developing and implementing a soil conservation plan on a farm that he recently purchased. He has installed 36 acres of contour stripcropping, a 1000-foot sod waterway, and 2800 feet of subsurface drainage. Future conservation activities, including the construction of a 800-foot sod waterway next year, are being planned.

"When I bought the farm, I knew it needed some work," said Woodruff. "I grew up on my dad's farm just down the road. I noticed that when it rained hard the creek at the bottom of the hill always ran muddy. I knew it was topsoil from this farm because there aren't any other farms above it that drain this way," explained Woodruff.

Soil Conservation is a good investment, according to Woodruff. "We know it's going to pay," said Woodruff. "Keeping the soil in place is going to help our crop yields. You have to control the runoff or all your topsoil will be gone."

Woodruff has had to reshape his new farm in other ways. Two months after he purchased the farm, the house where he and his wife and two children lived was completely destroyed by fire. "It happened the Sunday before Christmas," said Woodruff. "We lost everything in the fire but, fortunately, we weren't at home when it happened. It isn't so bad if you lose everything, as long as nobody gets hurt." The Woodruffs have recently completed the construction of a new home.

Despite the setback, Woodruff remains optimistic about his future and the future of agriculture. "My dad said that when he started out, things were real bad for about seven years," said Woodruff. "He made it, and I think we will too. Things are bad right now but they have to get better. People that manage their farms right will make it."

Woodruff is the first recipient of the conservation district's new monthly award. The award will be used to recognize the conservation activities and accomplishments of farmers, community leaders, and other individuals.

'Clear Title' Rules

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has put in place final clear title rules of the 1985 Food Security Act, which say, beginning Dec. 24, purchasers will be allowed to take clear title to farm products unless they are notified of an existing lien.

Each state decides for itself whether to establish a notification, system. However, unless lenders notify potential buyers or states develop a central notification system, buyers would take clear title to farm products even though a lien exists, just as with other products under provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code.

B.H. (Bill) Jones, head of USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration, said one key change in the final rules involves the fees states may charge for maintaining and publishing a list of liens.

"We have concluded that the law does not give the Secretary of Agriculture authority with respect to fees," Jones said.

Questions should be addressed to the Office of the Administrator, Room 3039 Building, P&SA/USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Lyng Declares Results Of Wheat Poll 'Inconclusive'

WASHINGTON — Although slightly more than half of the wheat producers who submitted valid ballots in the recent U.S. Department of Agriculture wheat poll favored mandatory production limits, no such controls will be advocated by USDA.

"Based on the relatively small response to the wheat poll, I don't think a great deal of significance can be attached to the results," said USDA Secretary Richard Lyng in a prepared statement. "I therefore consider the poll to be inconclusive."

Lyng's remarks refer to the fact that about 78 percent of those eligible to vote declined to participate in the poll.

Since the results of the poll are non-binding on the Secretary of Agriculture, many producers viewed the poll as little more than a formality mandated by the 1985 Farm Bill.

Of the 1,565,517 ballots mailed to wheat producers, 346,034 were returned, and of those, 26,626 were determined to be invalid.

The remaining 20 percent — 319,408 — were valid. Of those, 171,389 — 54 percent — favored mandatory production controls; 148,019 — 46 percent — opposed them.

The poll contained six questions. In summary, they were:

- Do you favor mandatory limits on production that would result in prices of at least 125 percent of the national cost of production?
- How do you classify your farm operation?
- Do you own or rent to others or are you an operator/producer?
- What is the predominant class of your wheat?
- How big was your operation in 1986?
- Did you produce a crop of wheat with an acreage base of at least 40 acres during at least one of the 1981-1985 crop years?

The wheat poll ballots were mailed to wheat producers in 47 states June 25. The closing date was July 14.

Approximately 16,000 ballots were rejected at county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices, because producers failed to follow instructions for placing the ballots in the proper envelopes or because they enclosed more than one ballot in the envelopes. The use of envelopes is a routine practice designed to ensure ballot security and guarantee the integrity of the polling process.

Some 10,000 ballots were rejected at the ASCS Kansas City management office, where all ballots were sent for tabulation. The vast majority of these were disqualified because producers failed to answer the first question.

Repeat Winners Top Somerset Co. Dairy Show

BY MARGIE FUSCO
Cambria Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE — Karen Marteeny, Somerset, walked off with county honors for the second time in as many months. In July her cow Marteeny Tony Carry took the grand champion award at the county Black and White Show. On Aug. 20, the 2-year-old cow repeated her performance copping top honors at the Somerset County Fair Dairy Show in the 4-H and open classes.

The Marteeny cow milked 19,500 pounds in her first lactation and is a daughter of Marshfield Elevation Tony out of Berkline Betty Cheif Cola. Her dam is classified VG-85 with a milking record of over 22,000 pounds milk and 800 pounds fat.

In second honors, Paul Carr, Somerset, also staged a repeat performance with his Carrdale Pete Little-Jo. The 5-year-old cow, which took reserve grand champion titles at both the Black and White Show and this year's fair, is milking over 21,000 pounds milk per lactation on 4.4 test with over 900 pounds fat. She has been classified EX-91 with an excellent mammary. The cow was sired by Straight-Pine Elevation Pete. Her dam was Carrdale Triple Threat Joy. Carr also won the grand champion showman award for the day's events.

In the color breeds Dean Snyder, Berlin, had the grand champion 4-H Guernsey and Gerald Murray, Salisbury, exhibited both the grand champion and reserve grand champion Guernsey cows in the FFA show.

Jill Barclay, Somerset, showed the grand champion and reserve grand champion Jersey in the 4-H show and Jim Kaufman, Boswell, took the same honors in the FFA show. Brian Walker, Meyersdale, had the grand champion Ayrshire and Darren Walker, Somerset, exhibited the reserve grand champion. Ayrshires were judged solely in FFA.

Among the Brown Swiss exhibited, Thomas Bell, Somerset, took grand champion of the 4-H show. Robert Fritz Jr., Garrett, showed the grand champion in the FFA show, and Philip Martz Jr., Berlin, had the reserve grand champion.

Judges for the dairy show were Paul King of Delta, type, and Carol Schurman, Clymer, fitting and showmanship. Somerset County Dairy Princess Missy Walker was on hand to present ribbons and trophies to the winners.

Derr Family Capture Westmoreland Co. Dairy Titles

Cambria Co. Correspondent

GREENSBURG – "I thought we just had average animals," admitted Adam Derr Sr., modestly. He began to suspect his family was doing something right when Adam Jr. came in with his first trophies, for senior and grand champion, in the 4-H/FFA judging at the Westmoreland County Fair Holstein Show on Aug. 20.

The Hawkeye Farms entries, from Scottdale, exhibited by daughter Dyanna went on to take reserve senior, reserve grand and junior champion honors in the Jersey show. And to cap off the family honors, daughter Rebecca came home with reserve senior and reserve grand champion in the 4-H Brown Swiss judging. To cap the week-long fair, Adam Jr., came home with the reserve grand champion showman and fitter.

The Derr's grand champion Holstein, Ro-Sha-P Candy Astro Charlene, is a five-year-old currently milking over 23,000 pounds of milk and 980 pounds of fat at a 4.6 percent test. She has been classified VG-88 and was sired by Paclamar Astro Top Command.

Another Westmoreland County family had to make more space on the trophy shelf as well. Melissa Sulkosky brought home both junior and reserve junior champion Guernsey titles, and her sister Jennifer exhibited the senior and grand champion Guernsey as well. Jennifer also showed the senior and grand champion Brown Swiss in the 4-H category and took reserve honors in the open category for senior and grand champion with the same cow.

Colored Breed Champions Named At Kutztown Fair

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

KUTZTOWN — Colored breeds enjoyed a good showing at the 1986 Kutztown Fair as over 100 dairy animals from the Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey and Jersey breeds paraded before judge Steve Shaw, Delaware Valley College, dairy husbandry graduate, at the Fair on Aug. 12.

In the Ayrshire breed, Mark Price, Douglasville, exhibited the grand champion. His 3-year-old, Conebella H.C. Petulia caught the judge's nod and bested the other entries. Reserve champion honors went to James Blatt, Robesonia, with his 4-year-old, Heindel G.M. Ella. Daryl Hoch, Oley, exhibited the junior champion, and Mark Price also showed the reserve junior champion.

In the Jersey breed, Carol Dreisbach, Hamburg, and her 3-year-old, Wilderness MMC Cupid, bested over 30 entries to take the grand championship. Irish Creek Jerseys, Mohrsville, exhibited the reserve grand champion, Irish Creek Magic Apache, a 4 year old. Junior champion rosettes were taken by Amy Phillips, Mohrsville, with her junior calf, Irish Creek Brass Desiree, and the reserve honors went to Carol Dreisbach with her senior calf, Wilderness Warrior Comet.

GU-Bred Angus wins in Kentucky

NEW YORK — Restaurateur Jerry Brody expressed delight that his Gallagher's Farm's heifer, Marlene, was named the national champion Angus calf at the Kentucky State Fair held in Louisville Aug. 4 and 5.

At the age of six months, Marlene stood 50¾ inches tall and weighed 660 pounds. The average Angus heifer of that age is 46 to 47 inches tall weighing 500 pounds. More important, however, is the fact that Marlene boasts more ribs and strips with less flank and chuck and carries a third more beef.

Marlene is the result of research and development in genetics by Dr. Jim Evans, an embryologist, who is a founder of Genetics Unlimited of West Grove, Pennsylvania.

Marlene will be used in the future to produce Angus cattle that points the way to better and leaner beef.

Southeast District FFA Lists Winners

KUTZTOWN — The 31st annual Southeastern District FFA Junior Dairy Show was held at the Kutztown Fairgrounds on Thursday, Aug. 21. A total of 110 animals were shown from four counties.

Scott Youse, of the Oley Valley FFA chapter, showed the grand champion Holstein, Linden-Loch Sexation Rena-Twin, a senior 2-year-old cow. Reserve champion honors went to Woodbine-ND Sexy Susy-ET, exhibited by Thomas McCauley of the Elizabethtown chapter. Holstein was Jomarde Delegate Jingle, exhibited by Denise Stump of the Tulpehocken FFA Chapter, captured the junior champion ribbon. Reserve junior champion, Reu-Hel Farms Starwars exhibited by Scott Troutman of the Conrad Weiser FFA Chapter, topped the senior calf class.

In the Ayrshire show, Laura Harding exhibited the junior champion animal — Sycamore Meade Quality's Renny, an intermediate calf. Heather Hernley claimed reserve junior champion honors with Timberlawn Squire's Annie, a senior yearling. Senior and grand champion Ayrshire was Chestnut Ridge Starboy Pandora exhibited by Wesley Harding. Wesley also showed the reserve senior and grand champion animal — Penn-bell F.C. Poppie. All three Ayrshire champion exhibitors are members of the Northern Lebanon FFA Chapter.

Bruce Heilinger, Eastern Lebanon County FFA, showed the senior and grand champion Brown Swiss, Irons Blueberry. Reserve senior and reserve grand champion was Shady Creek Lolita shown by Tammy Balthaser of the Hamburg FFA Chapter. Junior champion animal — Shady Creek Libby Letha — was shown by Michael Kunkle of the Northern Lebanon FFA Chapter. Michael also showed the reserve junior champion Brown Swiss — Shady Creek Index Bonnie Bess.

In the Guernsey competition, Jon Zollers of the Kutztown FFA chapter copped both the senior and grand championships, as well as reserve senior and reserve grand championships. Stone Mill JA Bart Racquelle stepped into the grand and senior champion spots. Foxie Springs Falcon Lady stood next to her in the reserve senior and reserve grand champion position. Junior champion Guernsey rosettes went to Warwick Manor Lonnie, shown by Kevin Stoltzfus of the Twin Valley FFA chapter. David Mull, of the Solanco FFA chapter, paraded his entry, Mar-Muldale Fayette Holly, to the reserve placing.

Topping the Jersey competition, the grand and senior champion animal, Hillacres Celia Stephanie, was shown by Thomas Arrowsmith of the Solanco FFA chapter. Larry Gerhart, of the Cloister FFA chapter, showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion animal, Bold Dan's Buttercup. Thomas Arrowsmith also showed the junior champion animal, Hillacres Mike Emylou, and the reserve junior champion Jersey, Hillacres Top Brass Tippi.

Jersey, Hillacres Top Brass Tippi.

In breeder exhibitor competition Doris Stump showed the first place Holstein animal, with Glenn Stoltzfus second. In colored breed breeder exhibitor competition Jon Zollers was first and Tom Arrowsmith second.

Type judges for the show were John Howard, Willow Street, for the Holsteins and Dennis Hoshall, Oley, for the colored breeds.

USDA Buyout Report

WASHINGTON, D.C. — An estimated 21,900 head of dairy cattle were slaughtered in federally inspected plants during the week ending Aug. 9, as a result of the Dairy Termination Program, the U.S Department of Agriculture announced Wednesday.

This total includes all cows, heifers and calves identified as dairy animals designated for disposition in compliance with the program requirements.

The cumulative total of cattle slaughtered under the program from April 1 through Aug. 9 is an estimated 664,900 head.

The purchases of meat in addition to normal purchases are to help offset the effects of the DTP on the domestic meat market. These purchases, which totaled 11.3 million pounds during the week ending Aug. 23, consisted of 11.2 million pounds of frozen beef carcasses and 80,000 pounds of frozen boneless beef. The cumulative purchases total 276.3 million pounds.

Dairy cattle reported for export under the program for the period April 1 to Aug. 23 totaled an estimated 29,456 head. During the week ending Aug. 23, 3,550 head were reported exported, the largest weekly export total to date.

Live cattle exported under the program are expected to increase as countries develop tenders to participate in the export enhancement program. Live cattle exports are in addition to meat purchase requirements.

McCauley Wears Elizabethtown Dairy Crowns

ELIZABETHTOWN — Three became Thomas McCauley's lucky number this week. During the eight days which were necessary for him to compete in three different shows, he claimed three championships with three different animals.

The third, and most recent, championship happened on Thursday at the Elizabethtown Fair. Here, McCauley's 3-year-old, Metcalfs Valiant Beauty-ET, topped her herdmate, Queen Star Sexy, to garner grand champion titles of the open and junior show.

Crediting Beauty with greater width of rear udder and dairyness throughout, judge Lew Ayres, also commented on the closeness of the champion pair. After pulling the two cows for grand and reserve grand champion into the center of the ring, he pulled a third animal into the center, McCauley's senior 2-year-old, Woodbine-ND Sexy Susy, to mention her exceptional dairyness and correctness.

This is the sixth consecutive show that McCauley has entered where his close pair have claimed one or more championships. To illustrate how close the pair is, at their most recent classification Beauty was scored at EX-92 and Sexy was scored EX-93.

Also, McCauley, a member of the Lancaster County 4-H Holstein Club and the Elizabethtown FFA Chapter, has claimed the championship at the Elizabethtown Fair for the past three years.

Junior champion of the Elizabethtown Fair went to Penn Springs' senior yearling heifer sired by Valiant. This is the sixth consecutive Elizabethtown Show for the Kauffman family.

Taking reserve junior champion was Timothy and Ruby Donough's entry sired by Ford. Donoughs purchased this intermediate yearling heifer at the April Spring Highlight Sale and plan on using her as one of the foundations of their developing herd. This is the first year they have shown at Elizabethtown.

Elizabethtown's Top Market Lamb Brings Record Price

BY JACK HUBLEY

ELIZABETHTOWN — The Elizabethtown Fair capped its youth livestock events with a sale of market-ready beef sheep and swine on Thursday evening.

This was the first year for selling steers at the show, and the three FFA project animals that went

Folker Wins Youth Show Again

ELIZABETHTOWN — Chad Folker did it again. Win a 4-H hog championship that is. This time the 12-year-old son of Mr. & Mrs. Tony Folker, New Holland R2, won the Elizabethtown fair event Tuesday evening. Last week a Folker entry won the Lancaster County 4-H Roundup at Manheim. Chad is a student at Summit Valley Elementary School in the Garden Spot district. His winning entry this week was a heavy weight cross between a Chester and a Hamp that came from Lyle Bidner Farm in Mohamet, Illinois.

The reserve champion was shown by Duane Swanger, 10-year-old son of Mr. & Mrs. Paul Swanger, Bainbridge R1. The Swanger champion was a Hamp/York cross that came from the White Oak Mills program, Elizabethtown. Show judge Gary Dean called the event an excellent quality show.

Hampshire Ewe Is Elizabethtown Fair Supreme Champion

BY SUZANNE KEENE

ELIZABETHTOWN — Michelle Mylin's Hampshire ewe caught the eye of the judge more than once during the Elizabethtown Fair youth sheep show Wednesday. Show judge Lee Wagner selected Mylin's entry champion Hampshire and at show's end went back to it for his supreme champion.

The supreme champion was selected from seven breed champions, and the market and sale lamb champions.

The yearling Hampshire ewe's momemtum continued into Thursday evening when she was named supreme champion of the fair. The Elizabethtown event is unusual in that the fair assembles its top dairy, beef, sheep and swine champions and crowns a supreme champion over all species.

"I really didn't think she had a chance," said Michelle after taking the show's highest livestock honor. "She didn't have any problems, but I didn't think she was big enough."

The supreme champion is chosen by four judges who compare each animal to the ideal of its respective species and select the animal that comes closest to those standards. Serving as judges for this year's contest were state FFA executive secretary Bill Erikson, retired Lancaster County agent Max Smith, state representative Sam Hayes and Galen Martin of Animal Medic, Inc.

Michelle, the 17-year-old daughter of Jay and Carol Mylin, and her siblings Scott and Andrea, raise a flock of 40 lambs at their home in Manheim. The Mylins brought 14 of their animals to exhibit at the fair and went home with numerous ribbons for their efforts.

A member of the Lancaster 4-H Woolies Club, Michelle said her champion was bred by Mike Andrews of Maine.

The reserve supreme champion trophy went to contender Mark Tracy and his homebred Southdown ewe. The 10-year-old son of Gerald and Helen Tracy, Masonic Homes, Elizabethtown, Mark has a flock of Suffolks, Southdowns and market lambs.

In addition to his reserve champion, Mark showed the champion and reserve champion Southdown ewes and the champion sale market lamb. He also topped the heavyweight class in both the market and sale lamb competitions and had the champion middleweight market lamb.

Seventeen-year-old Tricia Musser edged out competitor Tim Engle to claim the market lamb championship. The daughter of Harold and Judy Musser, Greentree Road, Elizabethtown, Tricia said her 106-pound Hampshire wether was bred by Tim and Sarah Fleener of Lancaster.

The reserve champion market lamb went to Tim Engle. The reserve champion sale lamb was exhibited by Ellen Lewis.

Doug is the 12-year-old son of John and Marilyn Martin of R2 East Earl.

Competition was a bit stiffer in the Dorset division with Darryl Coble edging out Jenny Taylor for the championship. Darryl is the 11-year-old son of Dave and Sylvia Coble of R1 Hershey.

In the Shropshire division, Connie Kline captured both the champion and reserve champion honors with two ewes she received through the sheep chain. Connie is

BY JACK HUBLEY

ELIZABETHTOWN — Tim and Mark Foreman turned out to be double trouble at the Elizabethtown Fair's beef show on Wednesday evening, taking the grand champion trophy with what judge Ken Winebark termed "a real stylish, nicely balanced calf," and winning reserve honors with—of all things—a purebred Simmental heifer.

The sons of James and Marie Foreman, the brothers raise their blue ribbon beef on their Hershey-area farm where the family finishes steers and breeds a few club calves each year.

Older brother Tim, 17, has taken top honors at Elizabethtown on numerous occasions during his 10-year career as a member of the Lower Dauphin 4-H Beef Club. This year's champion was a homebred Chianina-Angus weighing 1,050 pounds. The champ was out of a three-quarter Chianina bull and a purebred Angus cow, both owned by the Foremans.

A decade of practice and guidance from his father has helped Tim become a consistent winner. When picking his show prospects he looks for a clean-fronted calf with a square rump. "We try to pay attention to correctness in the legs, too," he adds.

Fielding the only entry in the breeding beef show, Mark Foreman had to look elsewhere for competition. Winebark seemed to have little trouble comparing apples and oranges, and turned the show into lady's night by selecting the show's only female entry as his reserve champion. "She came closer to my picture of the ideal Simmental heifer than the others did to the ideal steer," the Lebanon County extension livestock agent said in defense of his choice.

4-H ers Reap South-Central Championships

HARRISBURG — The South-Central District 4-H Dairy Show, held Monday in the Farm Show building's small arena, proved to be a dress rehearsal for some showman. Blue ribbon recipients from this show will return in late September to conclude their 1986 4-H tanbark trail with a walk around the Farm Show's large arena.

In the Jersey breed, Mary Ellen Deaven, Cumberland County, captured the grand championship with her 9-year-old cow, Faithful Advancer Colleen. Judge William Schnebly noted her good fore and rear udders, as well as her smooth general appearance. Colleen stood in the grand champion position of this show last year. Her best showing was her 1983 reserve grand championship of the 1983 All-American Show.

Mary Ellen purchased Colleen from her sister, Marilyn Zinn, after Marilyn completed her FFA career. Collen classified at EX-90 and produced a top record of 13,000 pounds of milk with a 5.6 test.

Dale Mummert, a member of Franklin County's Northern 4-H Dairy Club, captured Guernsey grand champion laurels with Chestnuts Premier Trixie. A 4-year-old daughter of Eastern Glow Wistar Premier, she came to Mummert's show string three years ago because of her strong show qualities.

Judge James Shaw tapped Deb Shetterly's two cows for the champions of the Ayrshire show. Deb, of Sycamore Meade Farm, Millersburg, showed her 4-year-old, Sycamore Meade Lock's Lovely, to the grand champion spot. Lovely recently freshen in July and scored VG-89 at her last classification.

Her 5-year-old entry, Sycamore Meade Champ's Luvie, homebred top and bottom, stood in the reserve grand champion position. Deb is an 8-year member of the Upper Dauphin 4-H Dairy Club.

Repeating his performance at the Lancaster County 4-H Show, J. Scott Trimble topped a strong Brown Swiss Show with Rea-Mor Sparky Lady. This senior 2-year-old cow, sired by Rea-Mor Improver Sparky, bested the 3-year-old entry by Judy Mase for the grand championship.

Dauphin County 4-Her, Karen Feidt took the junior championship with her intermediate yearling, Feidt Jubilation Reva. Michael Kunkle, Lebanon County was awarded the reserve junior championship.

Christine Young, Cumberland County, claimed all four champion rosettes of the Milking Shorthorn Show. Her 3-year-old cow, Three Springs Angie D, took top honors. Angie D has taken the grand champion ribbon of this show for the past two years. During the next month, Christine plans to show her champion at the Eastern National Show, Maryland State Fair, York County Fair and the All-American.

Holstein honors went to the Thomas McCauley's 5-year-old entry, Queen Star Sexy, in a close placing over Aldean Crider's 4-year-old cow. Shaw credited Sexy with an advantage in height, sharpness over the withers and depth of body. He praised both cows as being a "super pair of cows."

Sexy, a daughter of Ocean View Sexation, has been shown by McCauley since 1981. During that period, his father, Dr. Alan McCauley, notes "she has only had one bad day." Her most recent championship was at the South-Central Holstein Championship show.

Crider, Chambersburg, showed his Antrim-Spring Mars Pete daughter to the reserve spot of the Holstein show. She produced a top record of 19,000 pounds of milk and classified at VG-87. She is also the 12th generation of the first registered animal owned by Crider's father, Harold Crider.

Proof that all hybrids aren't alike.

A lot of seed salesmen will tell you that all hybrids are alike. That they're all developed from the same public lines. Well, depending on the salesman, that could be true — of his lineup. It's not true at Pioneer. That's because every Pioneer® brand hybrid is developed from one or more lines that only Pioneer has. It's one of the reasons why the differences between Pioneer hybrids and others show up at harvest. And why you find so many Pioneer hybrids with exceptional yield, dry down and standability.

Performance wise, 3744 is tough to beat. Besides outyielding the competition by a wide margin over the last three years, 3744 usually dries down faster. It has excellent root and stalk strength, resists Northern, Southern and Carbonum Leaf Blights, and does well under higher populations and higher management or irrigation.

3352

This newcomer has already proven itself as the yield leader for its maturity. Over the last three years in this area, 3352 holds a significant yield advantage against competitive hybrids. Now, that kind of performance speaks for itself. But besides yields, 3352 has very good emergence and early vigor along with excellent stay green and leaf disease resistance against Northern and Southern Leaf Blights, Eyespot and Gray Leafspot. This hybrid is going to surprise a lot of folks.

A leading hybrid with the ability to deliver big, hefty yields in poor growing seasons as well as good growing seasons. 3378 owes much of this success to its hearty agronomic traits like outstanding plant health, superb standability, fast emergence, strong drought tolerance and ears that "flex" to accommodate growing conditions. With so much going for it, it's not hard to see why 3378 is a lot of growers' favorite corn. Plant some and you'll be convinced too.

Foster, Snider Show Strings Turn In Banner Winning Performances

BY BETSY STITT
Blair Co. Correspondent

HUNTINGDON — Quality ran deep in all classes of the recent Central Championship Holstein Show, held at the Huntingdon County Fairgrounds, however, the number of entries was down considerably.

A large crowd witnessed Singing Brook Farms receiving the premier exhibitor award and Globe-Run Farms receiving the premier breeder award, in spite of a drenching rain that fell at the start of the show.

This is the third consecutive year that the Obie Snider family of Imler has earned the premier exhibitor banner.

Singing Brook Farms also exhibited the grand champion cow. Singing Brook Pete Audie is a 6-year-old daughter of Straight-Pine Elevation Pete. Judge Richard Keene described her as a good-looking, good-sized cow with balance and symmetry. He also credited her with looking like she worked.

The John Foster Jr. family of Petersburg claimed the reserve grand champion rosette with Globe-Run Lay-Y-Mat Dell. A 5-year-old daughter of Lar-Y-Don Fond Elevation, Dell also copped the best udder title for her class.

In the junior show, another member of Globe-Run Farms, John Andrew Foster III, showed the grand champion, a senior 2-year-old daughter of Ocean-View Sexation.

Allenor Holstein Farms, Bedford showed the junior champion, Allenor Temptation Opal, a tall, stylish heifer daughter of C Roybrook Temptation-ET.

Hollenbach, Stump Top Showman At Southeast Show

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

KUTZTOWN — 4-H youth from eight counties gathered in Kutztown last Friday, Aug. 22, for the 41st Annual Southeast 4-H Dairy Show. The counties included Berks, Bucks, Chester, Lehigh, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton and Schuylkill, and the stakes were for a blue ribbon and a chance to compete in the state show in Harrisburg in September.

Judged by the modified Danish system, where a judge may award several ribbons of the same color in each class as the animals merit, the dairy entries were judged by type judges, Steve Neely, Tunkhannock, and Ginger Myers, Littlestown, fitting judge, Shannon Neuman, York County, and Showmanship judge, Dave Lash, Washington County. Each exhibitor is permitted to take a maximum of two blue ribbon animals from this district show to compete in the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, Sept. 22, at the Farm Show Building, Harrisburg.

When the dust cleared from the day long judging, the breed champions included Gayle C. Urmy, Coopersburg, Lehigh County, with her grand champion 3-year-old Brown Swiss, Buzzing Acres Leeanne. Reserve grand champion was also the junior champion senior yearling, Victory Acres Star Charo, owned by Troy Koenig, Bernville, Berks County. This flashy senior yearling bested the reserve senior champion, Buzzing Acres Mandy, a junior 2 year old owned by Gayle Urmy. The reserve junior champion, owned by Paul Gehringer, Bally, Montgomery County, was a junior yearling named Bally Cosmo Actress.

In the Holstein breed, M-Maplegrove ES Mysticle-ET, a senior 2 year old owned by Patricia Miller, Nazareth, Northampton County, topped over 100 other entries on the Holstein division. Classified VG-89 as a 2 year old, Miller's Holstein is working on a record over 22,000 pounds of milk. A member of the 150 cow herd at Kenneth and Carol Miller's Maplegrove Farm, the 2 year old also won as a heifer, according to her 16-year-old owner.

The reserve grand championship went to a veteran grand champion 3-year-old, Ge-Ma-De Poinsettia, owned by Diane Troutman, Myerstown, Berks County. The junior champion was Fountain Farms Queens Violet, an intermediate calf owned by Craig Walton, Newtown, Bucks County. The reserve junior champion was Diane Troutman's summer yearling, Ge-Ma-De Poinsettia Petunia.

The champion showman and fitter in the Holstein breed was selected after the type show and included all those exhibitors who had received both a showing and a fitting award in their class. Topping a large class of individuals from each type class was Doris Stump, Bernville, Berks County.

There were 32 Guernseys in the Guernsey show in which 4-Hers from Berks County reigned undefeated. Taking the Grand Championship rosettes was Sherri Lynn Zollers, Mertztown, with her 4-year-old, Zollers SL Telestar Karen, just recently fresh. Reserve grand champion went to the aged cow of Susan Hollenbach, Bernville, showing Almira of Montview Farm.

In the Jersey breed, Mark Price, Douglasville, Berks County, topped 28 entries with his junior 2-year-old, Irish Creek Noble Prudence. The reserve grand championship went to the 4-year-old cow shown by Susan Curtis, Milestone Star Baby. Curtis hails from Green Lane, Montgomery County. The junior champion was the junior yearling, Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Penny, shown by Karen Sanner, Downingtown, Chester County. Reserve junior champion was Troy Hendricks, Phoenixville, Chester County, with his senior yearling, Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Twinkie.

Horse Imports Restricted

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has restricted the importation of horses from Norway because contagious equine metritis (CEM) has been found there. The restriction is necessary to protect U.S. horses from the disease.

"CEM is a serious veneral disease that affects fertility and breeding in horses and other equines," said Bert W. Hawkins, administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. "CEM was first diagnosed in Ireland and France in 1976. In 1977, we restricted the importation of breeding-age stallions and mares from countries where the disease exists."

Now that the presence of this disease has also been confirmed in Norway, USDA has amended the regulations to add that country to the list of countries in which CEM is present. These regulations prohibit the importation of horses from the listed CEM countries and of horses that have been in a CEM country within the preceding 12 months.

14 Chapters Show At Central District FFA Dairy Show

BY CRAIG BINGMAN
Snyder Co. Correspondent

REEDSVILLE – The 31st Annual Central District FFA Dairy Show was held on Aug. 12 at the Mifflin County Youth Park in Reedsville. Ten counties were represented including 14 FFA Chapters. The central district includes the counties of Centre, Clearfield, Juniata, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Schuylkill, Snyder, and Union.

Top Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Jersey and Holstein animals were awarded rosettes Using the Danish System, premiums were awarded to blue, red, and white ribbon animals. Judges for the show were: James McCaffrey, type judge; Dan Spangler, fitting judge; and Donald Sanders, showmanship judge.

The grand champion Ayrshire rosette and fitting award went to Tammy McTavish of the State College Chapter with her Penstate Command 123. Born on Dec. 3, 1985, she is the offspring of sire Granbynne Royal Command and dam Penstate Premier 183. The breeder was Penn State University.

Reserve honors went to Tracy Buffington with her Sept. 1984 born Bet Buff Haggai Kay Kathy. The Upper Dauphin student bred the dam, Star Kay Kookie. The sire of the animal was Elk-Ayr Haggai.

The Brown Swiss grand champion rosette was won by David Feidt of the Upper Dauphin Chapter with Feidt Titan Rachle. His 6-year-old animal was sired by Lar-Le Stretch Titan and is the daughter of High Spruce Rochele L. Feidt, also winner of the fitting and showmanship awards, was the breeder.

Feidt also captured the reserve champion honors with Feidt Reward Roseanna His June 1984 born animal is the daughter of Ken Ir Elegant Reward and Feidt Titan Rachle.

The rosette for grand champion Guernsey was won by Line Mountain's Kyle Brown with his Terlin Premier Roxanne, a 3-year-old dry cow. The dam, Terlin Rosina, was sired by Western Glow Wistar Premier. The breeder was Terry Mausser.

James Sankey from Clearfield captured reserve champion. Paradise Acres Ska Nita, a 2 year old, was sired by Shadylawn King Arthur. The dam, Nedres Naomi, was bred by Mark Pifer. Sankey also won the fitting and showmanship awards.

EDN-RU A.S.M. Glorys Theda, a 6 year old owned by Joyce Harpster, captured grand champion Jersey. The State College FFAer also won the fitting and showmanship awards. The animal was sired by Advancer Sleeping Milestone and is the daughter of Theda Ranger Glory. Harpster was the breeder.

Reserve champion rosette went to Harpster's EDN-RU Samaons Thedas Thelma, a 2 year old sired by Gramhil Leader Sophia Samson. Joyce bred grand champion EDN-RU A.S.M. Glorys Theda to make this a mother-daughter winning team.

The grand champion Holstein rosette was placed on Penn-Dell Chairman Rhonda, an April 1984 born animal owned by James Houser of the Penns Valley FFA. Houser, also winner of the showmanship and the owner breeder awards sponsored by Ron Zimmerman, was the breeder of dam Penn-Dell Elevation Rose-Twin. The sire was Cal-Clark Board Chairman

Irene Benner of the Greenwood Chapter shared the showmanship award and is the owner of reserve grand champion Santee-Acres Tony Selena. This 3 year old was sired by Marshfield Elevation Tony. Benner also bred dam Santee-Acres Majesty Susan.

David Feidt, right, captured both the grand and reserve grand champion rosettes of the recent Central District FFA Show.

A total of 86 animals were judged during the one-day show. All blue ribbon winners will advance to the Pennsylvania State FFA Show in Harrisburg on Sept. 22. The central district show was sponsored by Sire Power Inc., FFA Chapters, and participating FFA members.

USDA Vows To Provide Grain Storage

ST. LOUIS, Mo. – Another bin-busting corn crop is in the making, and the USDA is taking steps to help corn growers find space to store it.

In addition, the USDA is working to find new markets for those crops, said Richard Lyng, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. Lyng spoke at a closing session of the National Corn Growers Association annual convention last month.

Noting concern about storage of a large crop, along with huge carryovers and a slow market, Lyng said the USDA is taking steps to help farmers find storage space. They include:

- Utilization of excess barge capacity for temporary storage.
- Approval of emergency temporary storage space in warehouses licensed by federal and state governments under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement.
- Substitution of grain in those warehouses where storage space is tight.
- Approval for farmers to store grain on the ground while remaining eligible for price support program benefits.

Noting the need to eventually sell those crops, Lyng said the new farm bill will make export commodities more competitive with sharply lower and more flexible loan rates. "We are no longer giving a free ride to competitors, nor are we providing our competitors strong incentives to put more land into production," Lyng said.

Lyng promised to "begin recapturing a fuller and fairer share of world markets for American farmers."

He asked for patience and understanding by American corn growers as U.S. representatives negotiate farm export provisions through the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

"Free trade according to sound rules is fair and beneficial to consumers and producers alike," he said of the global trade talks.

While there has been some concern about an overall U.S. trade deficit, Lyng promised a favorable trade balance for agricultural producers in 1986 of about $7 or $8 billion.

"That's lower than it has been and is reason for some concern," he said, "but all signs point to an improvement in that situation in the months ahead."

Elizabethtown Sale

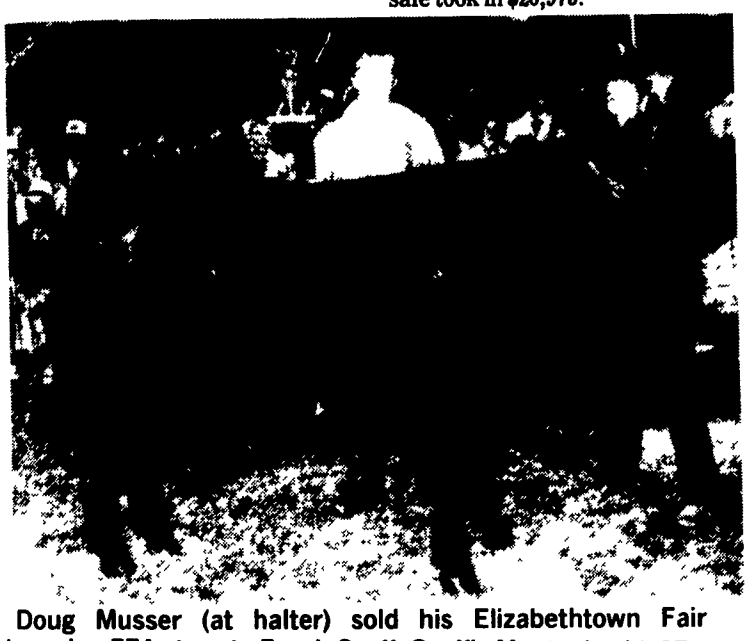
across the block averaged 66 cents a pound, not counting Doug Musser's champion that brought the top bid of $1.07. The buyer of Musser's champion was Frank Groff of Groff's Meats, Elizabethtown. The sale's four steers brought $3,554.

The sale's high overall bid was offered by Leroy Fox of Fox's Markets, Middletown, who set a fair record by offering $6 per pound for Mark Tracy's champion sale lamb. By far the sale's most active lamb buyer, Fox was high bidder on 12 of the 26 animals offered.

The lamb sale grossed $4,321, for an average price of $1.33 per pound, not including the champion.

Just as Fox's Markets dominated the lamb sale, Hatfield Packing was the event's most active hog buyer. Hatfield bought both the champion and reserve hogs, paying $4.20 a pound for Chad Folker's 233-pound grand champion and $4 for Duane Swanger's 214-pound reserve.

Total receipts for the hog sale came to $13,100, for an average of 81 cents per pound, not counting champions. Overall, the livestock sale took in $20,975.



Doug Musser (at halter) sold his Elizabethtown Fair champion FFA steer to Frank Groff, Groff's Meats, for $1.07 a pound.

PDA To Study Farmland Loss

DOYLESTOWN – The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has selected Bucks County as one of three counties for an "Agricultural Land Data Collection" study. The purpose of the study is to track the conversion of farmland to other land uses.

The Bucks County Conservation District is responsible for locally conducting the study, and has contracted Laurel Mueller, a soil scientist for Soil Services Co., Inc., to manage the project.

Active farmland in 1980 and 1985 are being inventoried through the scanning of aerial photos and field checks. The percentage change in acreage over the 5-year period will be determined for each township in Bucks. The study will generate data for each interested township to closely examine their own trends.

After winning last week's county 4-H swine show, Chad Folker did likewise at the Elizabethtown Fair and sold his champion market hog to Dean Ziegler of Hatfield Packing for $4.20 a pound.

According to Mueller, the three counties were selected by the Department of Agriculture to represent three different types of transition. These counties are: Dauphin, Somerset, and Bucks.

Somerset, a very rural county, is presumed to be gaining in agricultural land, following mine reclamation. Dauphin's farmland losses are concentrated around Harrisburg. Bucks County, having the strongest development pressures, is expected to show the fastest and most wide-spread rate of farmland loss.

Cheryl Johnson of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in Harrisburg is statewide coordinator of the project. According to Johnson, the project is a pilot study to develop methods of regularly inventorying and monitoring farmland throughout the state.

Lisa Ishimuro, the aerial photo interpreter for the Bucks study, notes, "Even the most recently flown aerial photos of 1985 cannot keep pace with the rapid rate of change in the landscape. The rate of farmland loss is alarming."

Laurel Mueller, often responsible for evaluating soil suitability for developers, states, "Soils that pass the tests for septic system permits, or that are otherwise legally buildable, are deep, well-drained, and on gentle slopes. Prime farmland is what fits the bill. What's left are the floodplains, wetlands, mountainsides, and boulderfields."

Mast Consignment Tops Berks County Sale

READING — Temperatures dropped to an unseasonable 54 degrees for the Berks County Holstein Sale held at the Old Reading Fairgrounds. However, the large crowd heated up when Bendy-Brook Valiant Lidee entered the sale ring and bids clicked-off at a rapid pace.

When the dust settled, Kevin Sattazahn, Womelsdorf, became the just-fresh, 2-year-old cow's new owner with a bid of $2,150. Consigned by Nevin Mast, Oley, the Valiant daughter is out of a VG-86 Pete daughter. Her dam's cow index stands at plus 815 milk and plus 11 fat. She produced a top record of 21,050 pounds of milk and 788 pounds of fat.

The next dam boasts three records over 30,000 pounds of milk and two records over 1,000 pounds of fat.

Richard Beiler, New Tripoli, purchased the second-high selling animal, a consignment by Hidden-View Farms, Robesonia, for $1,600.

Hidden-View Milu Petunia, sired by Milu Betty Ivanhoe Chief, freshen on May 16. Her current record, in 26 days, stands at 1,672 pounds of milk and 76 pounds of fat with a 4.5 test. Her dam, an Arlinda Commander daughter, classified VG-85 with a best record of 21,760 pounds of milk and 743 pounds of fat. The second dam classified at VG-86 with a top record of 30,210 pounds of milk and 1,116 pounds of fat.

Backus Associates managed the sale with Mike Weimer handling the auctioneering assignment and Jay Howes reading pedigrees.

Dean Hartman served as the sale chairman. His sale selection committee included: LaVerne Moser, Ray Bicksler, Donald Meyers, Harvey Stoltzfus, Dennis Sattazahn and David Schlantz.

West Virginia Names Colored Breeds Champions

BY DEBBIE STILES-RENZI
Staff Correspondent

JACKSON'S MILL, W.V. – Four breeds graced the show ring at Jackson's Mill State 4-H Camp near Weston, for the opening classes of the 1986 West Virginia Dairy Cattle Show and Festival.

Winning the nod late Tuesday morning August 12, in the Ayrshire breed for grand champion in the open division was Vinemont Jasper Jeanne, exhibited by Howard and Lori Tabb of Lyle Tabb and Sons, Leetown. The 4-year-old was one of six animals brought to the State Show by the Tabbs, who have the distinction of being the largest Ayrshire operations in the nation, milking approximately 260 head.

Lyle Tabb and Sons also had the reserve champion Vinemont Royal Tina, and a 3 year old.

Youth grand champions in the Ayrshire breed were both 4-H exhibits, the grand champion, Vinemont Mortakai Dawn's Lady, shown by Dawn Banks, and the reserve champion, a senior yearling heifer Helen's Super Ruby, owned and shown by Ellie Brown.

With the exception of one, all champion honors in the Guernsey breed show went to animals belonging to the Nay family, an extended-family corporation that operates a purebred Guernsey operation on the Lewis/Harrison county line in northcentral West Virginia. Riverbend Choice Amy, shown by Heather Nay, was the choice for grand champion in the open, youth, senior open and senior youth classes, while two other Nay animals, Riverbend Royal Bess, and Riverbend Royal Lilly, took the reserve honors in overall Senior, youth senior, respectively.

Junior youth champion was Riverbend Matt Lindy, shown by Heather Nay. Twelve Guernseys competed during the West Virginia show, the highlight of the showing year for most 4-H'ers and FFA members with dairy projects, as well as open showmen.

"We've shown here about 10 years," says 15-year-old Remington W. Perkins, son of Harry Perkins, owner of Perk Farm near the State Fair headquarters of Lewisburg, West Virginia. Practice must make perfect, for the Perkins family cleaned up in the Jersey show with their nine animals.

For Jersey open grand champion, youth grand, open senior and youth senior grand champion the rosettes during awards presentation Thursday went to the exhibitor of Perk Annie Big Boy Danny, an older cow owned by Perk Farm, entered in the aged cow class. Open reserve champion overall went to Perk Rem Big Boy, (shown by Remington Perkins), a senior 2-year-old animal also selected as youth reserve, senior open and senior youth reserve champions. Other winners from Perk Farm were shown by "Rem's brother and sister, Annie and Harry "Perk" Perkins.

And, finally, while the numbers weren't tremendous, the quality of the two milking shorthorns entered in this year's color show was such that judge Lois Skeen of Maryland gave them top honors in the classes they entered. Barbara Jane and Cristy Jane, owned by Kenny Lee Cooper of Ohio county, were the grand and reserve champions, respectively, in their breed class.

30 YEARS AGO

30 Years Ago

— The first Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition will be held in the State Farm Show building and arena here Nov. 12-16 of next year, State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning announced today. Plans are underway to bring a well-known western rodeo for the event which is expected to attract up to 100,000 people, he said.

— Farmers — even those who cannot take acres out of production — will benefit through the Administration's Soil Bank program through increased prices for farm commodities, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson told a news conference at Hershey Saturday evening.

— Diethylstilbestrol hormone pellets are producing large type turkeys into good broilers at the University of Wisconsin. One pellet is said to make large type turkeys even fatter than some small type turkeys which have not been treated. Large type birds reach broiler weight about 20 days earlier. Approved by the Pure Food and Drug Administration for use in poultry, "stilbestrol" as it is better known, may open a new field in the poultry industry.

— Farmers in central counties of the western half of Pennsylvania have reason to call this the "rainy season," according to 20 weeks cumulative rainfall reports announced today by the State Department of Agriculture.

— (Item from the Mail Box Market) FOR SALE: One large crocheted table cloth. Madalean design. Cream color. 64'x98" $25. Also ladies black wedge heel loafers size 7-D. $5. Phone Manheim 5-4135.

— A registered Guernsey herd has made an outstanding production average in the Lancaster County DHIA, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club. The 45-cow herd of Raymond F. Witmer, Willow Street, has finished the 1955-56 testing year with an excellent average of 10,697 lbs. milk and 534 lbs. fat, highest fat average in the county for a herd of this size.

Inter-State Local To Meet

SOUTHAMPTON – The Princess Anne Local of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative District 4 will hold its annual dinner meeting Sept. 5 at 7 p.m. at the English Family Restaurant, Westover, Md.

Robert M. Dever, Inter-State assistant general manager, will be the guest speaker. Dever, along with District 4 Director Wm. Blan Harcum, will give an update on cooperative business and dairy issues.

A business meeting will be conducted by Roger Hudson, Princess Anne Local president, to elect officers, delegates and alternate delegates for the coming year. Nominations will be taken for district director, as current director Harcum's three-year term expires.

Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative represents over 3,000 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. The cooperative marketed 2.54 billion pounds of milk in fiscal 1986.

West Virginia Disperses Champion Rosettes State-Wide

BY DEBBIE STILES-RENZI
West Virginia Correspondent

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. – There couldn't have been a greater geographical difference between winners — as well as exhibitors — at the 1986 West Virginia registered Holstein Show at the 45th Annual West Virginia Dairy Cattle Show and Festival. From counties that touch Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania borders came the champions of this year's show, the largest breed show at the state event.

The 1984 champion, Cherrybrook LTD Balboa, returned this year with owner David Thomas of Preston County to win grand champion honors and senior reserve champion placing in the open show. The All West Virginia 3 year old, from Maryland- and Pennsylvania-bordering, Preston County won over a Virginia-neighboring County, Monroe, exhibited by Pond-Oak Dairy, Miss WDH Blendell Adon Erna, shown by Doug Dransfield. Doug is the son of Raymond Dransfield, owner of Pond-Oak Dairy of Monroe County.

The eastern panhandle of West Virginia brought the Holstein Show's youth grand champion. WVA Greystone Citation Vanessa, exhibited by Chip Daniel of Jefferson County, was selected senior champion female in the youth division and also overall grand champion in this division. Runner-up in both youth senior and overall was Big Sinks Valiant Eileen Fern, 4-H project of Denise Rinehart of Lewis County, located in central West Virginia.

A total of 145 Holsteins were shown in this year's show of 25 classes, exhibits representing 56 families from 12 different counties across the state. These included centrally-located and northcentral Barbour, Harrison, Lewis counties; Northern Panhandle counties of Marshall and Ohio; the eastern panhandle's Berkeley, Jefferson and Mineral counties; northern Preston County; and the more southern counties of Greenbrier, Jackson, Mason and Monroe.

'Buyout And Build Ups' Affect Numbers, Prices At W. Va. Sales

BY DEBBIE STILES-RENZI
West Virginia Correspondent

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. – Prices were depressed at the Dairy Heifer Replacement Sale, part of the 45th Annual West Virginia Dairy Cattle Show and Festival, and the numbers were down one-half of what they were last year in both attendance at the shows and consignment at the sale.

"Buyouts and build ups," dairyman Joe Neel explained, as the reason fewer exhibitors had participated in this year's state event, held the week of Aug. 11 at Lewis County's Jackson's Mill, the state 4-H camp.

"The general situation of the dairy industry in West Virginia," says Steve Miller, dairy specialist with the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, is partly to blame for the fewer numbers this year. A few dairy operations involved in the buyout obviously chose not to show, while those who were not in the buyout program were taking advantage of cheaper money to expand their operations or improve them.

"We lost 13 (dairy farms) in the buyout in Greenbrier and Monroe counties alone," stated Neel, during a lunch break at the registered Holstein Show, held Wednesday, Aug. 13. Southern Greenbrier and Monroe, which borders the state of Virginia, have a substantial chunk of West Virginia's dairy industry, and some of its best herds.

"We've had the top DHIA herds in the state the last 10 years, I think," said Neel.

"As long as I can remember," Miller confirmed. The area has around 50 to 60 dairy farms, total.

In a state where family — extended family — operations are the rule, and large numbers exhibited from different family members of the same farm are common. The few who did not show or consign this year were typically those exhibitors with a large number of animals, which explains the massive drop in attendance.

In 1985 almost 200 Holsteins were exhibited in the West Virginia registered Holstein Show. This year, the total number of exhibits, including those of the Guernsey, Ayrshire, Jersey and Milking Shorthorn breeds totaled only 188.

"The way interest rates are right now, it's the best time to ask for money," conceded Miller.

One family, Guernsey dairy farmers Richard Cronin and Sons of Lewis County were one example. They are busy putting in a new manure disposal system. "So we just decided to go to the State Fair," said Jo Cronin, and exhibit there, later, when things weren't so hectic.

The federal government's buyout program is not a pleasant topic of conversation for West Virginia's Commissioner of Agriculture, Gus R. Douglass, who was on hand for the final ceremonies of the state show and festival Thursday night, to crown the new dairy princess. "The dairy buyout program was one program I didn't support," said Douglass in an interview. "The dairy surplus buyouts should have gone to surplus areas . . . not the entire nation."

Douglass was not completely negative on the program, and its effects. "A lot of those folks who took advantage of the program were looking to retire early, or those who were in a little bit of financial trouble," he admitted. "This, for them, was a way out."

But Douglass feels the program will ultimately result in shortages in some areas, the need for high-cost shipping from one part of the country to another of dairy products to remedy shortfalls, and higher prices then being passed on to the consumer without a realization of any greater profit by the dairy producer. "We've lost all this production," he stated. "We lost more dairy farms (in the buyout) than the surplus areas (such as the Midwest)."

There were 13 counties represented at this year's state dairy show and festival, with a total of 99 exhibitors. The 19th Dairy Heifer Replacement Sale, held on Thursday afternoon during the show, brought a relatively large crowd of prospective buyers to the show barn at Jackson's Mill, although only 13 animals, nearly half of what was consigned the previous year, were offered for sale by 4-H youth.

The top price at the 1986 West Virginia Dairy Heifer Replacement Sale, held in conjunction with the state Dairy Show and Festival, was $2,350, paid by Russ Linger, left, Huttonsville, for Tim-Rock Cap Cassie. The animal was consigned by 4-Her Stephanie Hannah, Jane Lew, Lewis County.

Merle Chaplin, a dairy farmer from the northern panhandle of West Virginia, bought the second highest selling animal. MLCF Diane earned $2,000 her consignor, Jason Poth of Harrison County Dairy Club.

"The (dairy) project runs in cycles," explained Cathy Britvec, former recording secretary and show clerk at the West Virginia Show. Youths holding projects that would have sold animals at this heifer sale have declined in recent years, according to Britvec, but she commented she expected to see an upswing in consignments in coming years.

Prices were not too favorable at the sale, however, in spite of the lower numbers. Bidding was sluggish, with auctioneer Denny Remsburg of Jefferson, Md., often stopping to reiterate the qualities of the heifer on the sale block, and to plead for a bid.

Two animals topped the two thousand mark, nonetheless. Russell Linger of Linger Farms in Huttonsville, Randolph County, paid the top price of $2,350 for Tim-Rock Cap Cassie, a heifer consigned by Stephanie L. Hannah, a 4-Her from Lewis County.

A 16-year-old Harrison County dairy club member, Jason Poth of Bridgeport, received the second highest price for the day, $2,000, for his bred heifer MLCF Diane, bought by Merle Chaplin, of Moundsville.

The most entries (41), combined, of all the breed shows at this year's dairy show and festival came from the eastern panhandle county of Jefferson, home of the outgoing West Virginia dairy princess, Loretta Bane, Leetown. On Thursday night, after the grand champion awards presentation and the "Parade of Champions," state commissioner of agriculture Gus R. Douglass crowned the 1986-87 W. Va. Dairy Princess, Julia Pence, of Greenbrier County.

Columbia Co. Farmer Empathizes With Drought Victims

BY HELEN KEICHNER
Columbia Co. Staff Correspondent

While Pennsylvania farmers were experiencing generous shower activity in the north central part of the state, Duane Shuman of Mainville, Columbia County imagined himself in the shoes of Southeastern farmers who were in the midst of a record drought.

His concern culminated in 8,000 bales of donated hay!

By way of the local radio station, newspaper and Columbia County Conservation Office, Shuman got his message around to farmers from three counties for surplus hay. About 75 farmers donated anywhere from a pick-up truck load to five farmers who each donated an entire trailer load.

Shuman's Millville farm seemed to generate the most dropoffs, but there were various other locations throughout Columbia County where large pick-ups were made.

Haylift '86, a farmer to farmer "bale-out," was hailed a resounding success in this area.

Shuman couldn't believe the response. When he launched his appeal, he hoped for two or three loads. As it turned out, he expects 10 large trailer loads or 8,000 bales.

The first three loads with 800 bales each pulled out of the Shuman farm on August 8. Five days later, two more loads were sent out and the end of the week, two vans loaded up. There's a couple thousand more bales to go.

The Virginia Dept. of Agriculture provided transportation.

The latest pick up was by two vans donated by Virginia Power Co. each with a capacity of 500 bales.

The response has given this farming community an emotional boast. Hap Schatz, a Mt. Pleasant Twp. farmer said, "Columbia County farmers have problems, but it doesn't prevent them from lending a hand."

Many of the farmers contributing hauled their loads in that first day and just stayed to help load the trailers. They worked hard, but had a good time. Shuman was impressed in more ways than with quantity at the results of his appeal.

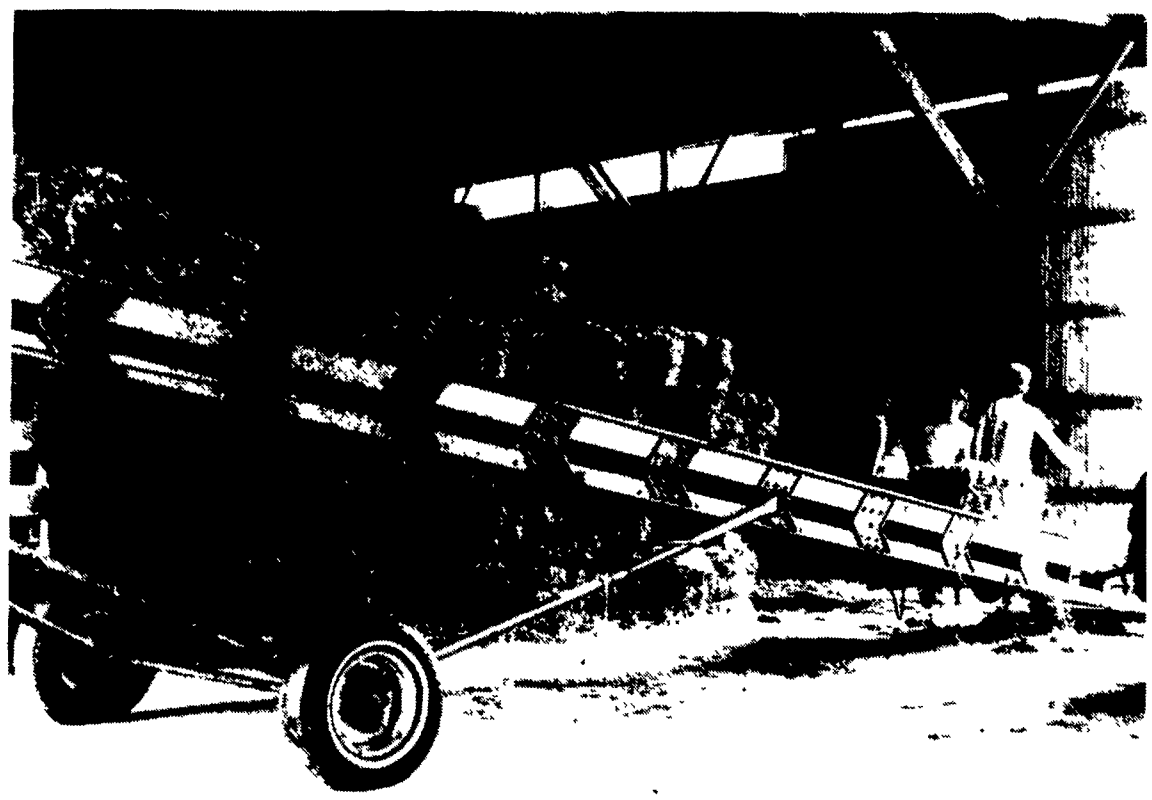
Schatz didn't have any hay to donate, so he provided 30 lbs. of ground beef for more than a dozen hungry workers. Shuman's wife Betty along with another contributor's wife, Eva Esslinger made up barbeque and provided pastries and cold drinks.

Dick White, agricultural extension agent from Brunswick County, Virginia was on hand to witness the haylift. He said the first load would be dumped in his county and parceled out to other areas. Some Virginia farmers like Joe Hamelin who accompanied the trucks to Pennsylvania said he can't wait for the help. He has little feed left for his cattle.

Another farmer, Billy Temple, said he won't take any of the hay. He said others need it more than he. With what he has left over from previous seasons, he'll get along by cutting back his herd. Temple came to Pennsylvania just to meet their benefactors.

Bob Houston, Columbia County Extension Agent expressed surprise at the amount of hay donated. "We're overwhelmed by the turnout," he said.

Contributions came from Columbia, Montour and Luzerne Counties.



Hay was stored at Duane Shuman's farm where it was loaded with the help of a conveyor. Tracy Martenas, Betty Shuman and John Esslinger load the conveyor. Duane Shuman is out of sight and Irvin and Dale Martenas are on the receiving end in the van.

Spencer Wins Dairy Award

The first annual American Cyanamid Company Dairy Science Award was presented to Stephen B. Spencer, an extension specialist of Pennsylvania State University, for his contributions to improving the efficiency of dairy products.

The award was presented at the American Dairy Science Association's annual meeting at Davis, California by David S. Walton, marketing manager for bovine somatotropin at Cyanamid's Agricultural Division.

"Spencer's technical expertise and enthusiasm for communicating his knowledge makes him a very appropriate choice for the first American Cyanamid Dairy Science Award," said Mr. Walton. "He has provided producers with more efficient milking systems, improved milking techniques, and better milk quality and mastitis control."

Spencer has been active in many professional associations including ADSA, the International Association of Milk, Food and Enviornmental Sanitarians, and the National Mastitis Council.

American Cyanamid established the Dairy Science Award to recognize "significant contributions in research, teaching, extension, and/or industry (including technology transfer) in the assimilation of new milk production technologies." The award carries a $1,500 stipend. Selections are made by ADSA.

PFA Supports Farm Legal Cases

CAMPHILL — Since many of the decisions that affect farmers are now finalized in the courts rather than in the state legislature, the Pennsylvania Farmers Association has established a legal defense fund. This fund was mandated by the delegate body at the 1984 annual meeting. Kent Shelhamer, chairman of the PFA legal fund board of directors and Steve Crawford, PFA director of employer programs, told Lancaster Farming this week that farmers have come to expect the PFA's work with the legislature to be successful. But now the legislative branch of government is not our only problem. The courts have suddenly become involved. They are rewriting the interpretation of the laws. We are in a new ballpark.

While many court cases involving farmers can impact upon the entire agricultural community, they always start with the individual farmer. Unfortunately more often than not individuals do not have the financial resources to get the legal representation they really need. As it stands now individual farmers are getting caught up in a system where the justice they get is the justice they can afford.

We sometimes forget that we have three branches of government, the legislative, executive and judicial branch. PFA banded together to collectively effect legislature in favor of farmers back in the 1950s. But we are in danger of losing ground we have gained over the past 36 years, because now the best place to instigate change is in our court system.

Often farmers are forced into legal problems through no fault of their own. Typical examples of this kind of litigation would be environmental cases, migrant labor cases, or real estate reassessment. We are now seeing individual judges putting more strict regulations on farmers than are called for in the Department of Environmental Resources. In Northampton County a case about application of sludge is still being processed. Here the judge imposed standards on a farmer much more strict than DER standards. The judge did this based on the complaints of neighbors.

In North Carolina reassessment took place and agriculture didn't fair well at all. The legal fund of the North Carolina Farm Bureau stepped in and litigated that case. They spent almost all of their money, $40,000 to $50,000. But they won the case and saved the ag industry about $40 million.

Shelhamer and Crawford both agreed that when you get into court, it's different than working with the legislature. In the legislature you have some friends. But when you're in court you never know how it's coming down. You have much less influence in the courts than in the legislature.

"With a legal fund, we are able to get involved in several different ways," Shelhamer said. "We can give an outright cash support to farmers in court to help with legal fees Or we can help farmers get proper legal representation. Or we can file a legal brief as a friend of the court."

Farmers across Pennsylvania now have the opportunity to help develop a fund to protect rights and fight legal battles that will affect all of agriculture. The driving principle behind the PFA legal fund is simple. Utilize the collective strength of the agricultural community to come to the aid of the individual farmer.

The fund is controlled by a volunteer board of directors It is a feature of PFA But it is not run by PFA

Burdettes Take Third Championship At Franklin County

GINGER SECHRIST MYERS
Adams C. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG — It's been said that good things come in three's. Jim and Nina Burdett, Windy-Knoll-View Farm, Mercersburg, couldn't have agreed more with that saying as they picked up their third consecutive grand champion banner at the 1986 Franklin County Fair Open Holstein Show.

Still fresh from winning the reserve grand champion title at the South-Central Championship Show, Burdett's winning 3 year old, Windy Knoll View Justa Wonder, also picked up the trophies for the best udder of the show and the best animal owned and bred by exhibitor. Judge Dennis Patrick called her, "the easiest winner of the evening."

Wonder is no stranger to the winner's circle at this county show, having won her respective class for the past three years. This VG-86 daughter of MD-Sunset View RA Wonder was the All-Pennsylvania Junior 2 Year Old in 1985. Her best record surpasses the 22,000 pound mark. To make this win even sweeter, Burdett notes that Wonder's dam was the reserve grand champion of this show in 1980.

The reserve champion trophy also went to another recent winner from the Carlisle show. Meadow-Vu Chief Pansy, exhibited by Meadow-Vu Farm, Mercersburg, came out the winner of a strong 4-year-old class and was named the second best udder to follow as the reserve champion. Scored VG-87, this Vincent-Vu Molly Chief's best effort eclipses 18,000 pounds of 3.7 percent milk.

Jim and Nina Burdett also swept both junior champion awards in the open show. Judge Patrick called their winning junior yearling, Windy Knoll View Ultimate Pala, more dairy and granted her an advantage of tracking more correctly as walks than does her stablemate, Windy Knoll View Pammy-Twin, the winning summer yearling. These heifers were junior champion and reserve junior champion respectively.

In the youth show, Aldean Crider, Antrim-Spring Farm, Chambersburg, had a blue ribbon night garnering both the grand champion and reserve grand champion trophies with his homebred entries. His 3-year-old, Antrim-Spring Milestone Sylvia, also was named the best owned and bred animal of the youth show.

On the strength of their milk cow entries, Ken and June Mellott, Ken-Mel Farms, Mercersburg, were able to rack up 100 points in each division, enough to win both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners.

Heifer Project International Receives Grant

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — The Ralston Purina Trust Fund of St. Louis, Mo., has presented Heifer Project International, the U.S. based, nonprofit, agriculture development agency, a grant in the amount of $15,000, announced Alden R. Hickman, Executive Director of HPI

Hickman said that the grant will be used to support HPI's 131 livestock development projects in 35 countries and 13 U S states The projects help low-income families develop the means and vocational training in animal agriculture to provide food for themselves and their communities

This grant is the first partnership between Heifer Project and Ralston Purina and was awarded after four Ralston Purina executives visited HPI's national headquarters in Little Rock and the International Learning and Livestock Center in Perryville earlier this summer

Ralston Purina is one of the leading manufacturers of livestock and pet foods in the world The company recently announced the sale of its domestic livestock feed operation to British Petroleum Corporation The overseas livestock feed operation and well known pet food lines will be retained, company officials said

Heifer Project International has been involved in the distribution of livestock and training of low-income recipient for over 40 years. Livestock for each project is chosen according to the environment and cultural needs of the people and each participant receives training in proper care and management, feeding, breeding and health care of the animals receives HPI regularly provides dairy and beef cattle dairy goats, sheep, pigs, water buffalo, poultry oxen, honey bees and other native livestock to projects

Headquartered in Little Rock HPI operates eight branch offices across the country

Dairy Gridiron Classic Debuts At Penn State-Temple Football Game

ROARING SPRINGS — Pennsylvania dairymen are giving the Penn State-Temple football game a new look Sept. 6.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program will present a 2-foot bronze replica of the milk can to the winning team, as announced this spring. But there is more to it than that, it was revealed at the August meeting of the Dairy Advisory Board.

The outstanding player at each game will be given a miniature milk can trophy, it was pointed out. Also, a scholarship for $1,000 will be donated to the winning university for non-athletic students.

Advisory Board Chairman Don Duncan of Robesonia noted that Coach Joe Paterno was "especially delighted" with the scholarship.

Board members also were asked by Cathy Lockerman of the TCS sports network to come up with a name for the intrastate rivalry that could be used on the broadcasts. Not bowl, it was pointed out, as Penn State doesn't participate in bowls during the regular season. After much discussion, board members picked "Pennsylvania Dairy Gridiron Classic."

"We're promoting milk as a fun, trendy beverage and we expect to reach 900,000 adults each game during the season," Duncan added. "That's a huge untapped market for milk."

For the Dairy Classic, the board will buy 17 advertising spots during pre-game and live game broadcasts, plus several announcements of the trophy and scholarship awards.

Similar trophies and a scholarship will be awarded at the Penn State-Pitt game on Nov. 22.

In other business covered by the board during their meeting held at Ag Progress Days, a Christmas Holiday advertising campaign featuring eggnog was approved.

At the beginning of 1987 the board plans to use a campaign focusing on 2 percent milk.

The dairy recipe contest sponsored by the board received an overwhelming response. Category winners will be named at the annual meeting of the board, scheduled for Oct. 16. The menu for the meeting will consist entirely of the winning recipes.

Dr. Robert McCarthy, professor of food science at Penn State, reported on the progress of his research regarding milk's influence on cholesterol levels. PDPP, which financed the research, heard the preliminary research data which looks favorable for the dairy industry.

Dr. Sidney Barnard, professor of food science at Penn State, reported on the progress of his studies involving milk quality and flavor. As part of his study, he is working closely with producers to solve their rancidity problems. PDPP financially supports this study as milk flavor directly influences milk consumption.

More than 4,000 dairymen contribute 10 cents a hundredweight to the Pennsylvania program, with $2 million budgeted in 1986 for milk advertising, promotion, research and market development.

Queen Manor Extends Streak At Northwest Show

BY NANCY KUNICK
Crawford Co. Correspondent

The Doeberieners claimed 10 first place trophies, as well as owning a share of the grand champion and showing the reserve grand champion and champion bull in route to capturing the premier exhibitor banner.

Returning to the winner's circle, Cherry Brook LTD Balboa was named the grand champion by judge Loren Elsass of Wapakoneta, Ohio. As a senior 2 year old, she was the grand champion of the 1985 Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show in Meadville. More recently, she stepped into the reserve championship position at the Western Pennsylvania Holstein Show where she was topped by the reserve grand champion of this show, aged cow C Cale Hill Kelly Ned-Red.

Recently fresh, the 3-year-old grand champion topped a class of 16 and garnered best udder honors. A Valiant daughter, she is owned by Queens Manor, David Thomas and David Dowler. Dowler bred this champion, and she is the first animal to carry his prefix.

Morrell Farms of Cochranton earned the premier breeder banner by winning first place ribbons in the senior get of sire and produce of dam classes, as well as placing high in several other classes. Morrell Farms also exhibited the best bred and owned animal, an aged cow sired by Brookfield Elevation Libido.

Junior champion went to the senior yearling, Queens Manor Kingpin Inga, owned by Marsha Anthony. An intermediate yearling topped a class of 38 entries and received the reserve junior champion placing. Leadfield Prestar sired the junior champion Rynd-Home Prestar Bonjeur-ET, owned by Paula Rynd.

Justin Doeberiener accepts the premier exhibitor banner for Queens Manor Holsteins, while Jason Morrell accepts the premier breeder banner for Morrell Farms at the recent Northwest Holstein Show.

The Dairy Business

By Newton Bair

Cut The Apron Strings

The Singer farm has been in the family for a long time. In four more years, it will qualify for recognition as a Century Farm, having been bought by Grandpa Singer back in 1890.

Jake and his wife, Martha, are the third generation to farm the land and keep a herd of dairy cows. In fact, dairying has become their way of life, and with the help of their son Josh, they have developed a good herd of registered Jerseys.

Josh has worked on the farm since he was old enough to feed the calves, and now owns several cows that grew out of his 4-H projects over the years. He has saved some of his wages, has a late model Chevy pickup, and intends to marry his steady girl, who is also a farm girl who owns several 4-H cows. Time to get started farming on their own.

Whoa there! Let's look at the situation a little closer. Jake and Martha are not ready to turn the farm over to Josh, and there is no way to get enough money together for Josh and his bride to start out on their own. Besides, Dad and Mom Singer can't handle the 60 cows without help. Simple solution - take Josh in as a partner, and everybody's happy. We hope.

Father - Son partnerships are quite common, and seem on the surface to be a sensible solution to the problem of starting a new generation on the farm. Many of these arrangements work out just fine, but there are obstacles to be hurdled and pitfalls to be avoided. They usually work quite well for a year or two, or until one or the other of the partners begins to feel that he is getting the shorter end of the stick.

I've seen it happen both ways.

Dad has always been the "boss," and fails to let Junior make any decisions that affect the business. Junior feels like a hired hand instead of a partner, and wants to get out just when they have borrowed more money to expand. Dad is crushed by the thought of having to manage the farm and the extra debt load alone.

The problem can also develop when Junior has too many new and revolutionary ideas for Dad to understand. Middle-aged parents have worked hard, lived frugally, and lived without things that couldn't be bought for cash. A modern farm demands equipment and facilities that can be bought only with lot's of cash, most of it borrowed. Only Dad has the equity and the assets to back up a loan, so the son is either hesitant to propose improvements to the business, or takes the family out on a shakey limb with his innovations. Either scene can lead to trouble and conflict.

Now, it must be admitted that there are many degrees of dissention that can develop between two-generation partnerships like this. It is only when the dissagreement becomes intolerable that a break must occur. Many family spats can be healed by sitting down and communicating. Communicating does not mean just talking things out. Real communication only happens when both sides are listening to what the other is really saying. Feelings often go deeper than the words can express. And words can often be misleading, like making statements that only portray small hurts instead of real diversity in ideas.

Let's assume the farm business is making progress in spite of differences of opinion. Chances are that things will go smoother if Dad begins to realize that Junior has really grown-up and is ready to take on more responsibility. Maybe he hasn't got all the experience of added years, but he has been exposed to the advances of time and technology, and only needs the tempering that responsibility will provide.

This correcting move on the part of the Senior partner is called "Cutting the Apron Strings." The trick is to recognize when the time is ripe to let Junior take on more responsibility for making major decisions. Cutting the ties to the older generation may mean the difference between Junior being a true partner in the business, or just another hired hand.

July Milk Priced At $11.86

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Dairy farmers who supplied milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during July 1986 will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $11.86 per hundredweight or 25.5 cents per unit. Market Administrator Thomas A. Wilson also stated that the price was $11.27 in June 1986 and $11.93 in July 1985. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive plan does not effect the uniform price for the month of July.

A total of 15,898 dairy farmers supplied the New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing Area with 993.2 million pounds of milk during July 1986. This was a decrease of 0.3 percent, about 3 million pounds from last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $118.6 million. This included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers used 377.6 million pounds of milk for Class I, 38.0 percent of the total. This milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low test, and skim milks. For July 1986, handlers paid $13.53 per hundredweight or 29.1 cents per quart for Class I milk compared with $13.71 a year ago.

The balance, 615,599,027 pounds or 62.0 percent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream, and yogurt. Handlers paid $11.09 per hundredweight for this milk.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat. For July 1986, there was a price differential of 16.5 cents for each one-tenth of one percent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

All prices quoted are for bulk tank milk received from farms in the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

Franklin County Crowns Colored Breeds Champions

GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG — Despite a steady downpour which diminished the ringside crowd, the showing of the Franklin County Fair was filled for the Colored Breed Show held here Aug. 21. Wayne Stiles, Westminster, Md. served as judge for the parade of Brown Swiss, Jersey and Guernsey entries.

In the Jersey competition, Pleasant Valley Jerseys, the Lester Martin Family, Chambersburg, swept the show by winning all but two of the individual classes and all of the group classes. They also netted three of the four champion trophies in both the open show and the youth show.

For grand champion of the open show Stiles went to the winning aged cow, Top-O-Hill Milestone Faithful, exhibited by Doug Martin. Stiles granted this perennial show winner height and width of rear udder attachment over the reserve grand champion, Merry Moan Alisia, a 5-year-old cow shown by Denise Martin.

Alisia returned to the ring to pick-up the rosette for grand champion of the youth show. Cowdale Samsonite Delight, the second-place 5-year-old cow, was selected as the reserve grand champion. Delight was exhibited by Tina Martin.

The Guernsey Show enjoyed one of its largest turn outs in recent years with quality matching the increased numbers shown. The Seth Schnebly Family, Clear Spring, Md., captured the most wins and exhibited all but one of the open show champions.

For grand champion of the open show, Stiles went to his best uddered cow of the show, a 3 year old, Crown Stone Tex Nancy. He granted her sharpness over the withers and quality of udder over the first-place aged cow, Crown Stone Goliath Haven, the reserve grand champion also shown by the Seth Schnebly Family.

In the youth show, the grand champion trophy was won by Dale Mummert, Chambersburg, with a 4-year-old cow by Western Glow Wistar Premier. Reserve grand champion of the youth show was Lone Pine Top Penny, a dry cow, exhibited by Nancy Myers, Chambersburg.

Stiles went with the winning senior calf, Walnut Lane BT Bitty, shown by Rodney and Darlene Stuff, Mercersburg, for junior champion of the open show. He granted her more depth of body and smoother blending of parts than the Schnebly's senior yearling, Crown Stone Jupiter Orchid, who was pinned the reserve junior champion.

Brian Schnebly, the third generation of the family to be in the ring that day, picked up the junior champion ribbon in the youth division. Reserve junior champion of the youth show was Lone Pine Friday's Amanda, shown by Arnold Myers, Chambersburg.

It was once again a family affair in the Brown Swiss Show with Patty, Jennifer and William Gloss winning all but two of the classes in the show. However, those two classes were won by brothers Ivan and Alan Meyers, Greencastle, who claimed the grand and reserve grand champions of both shows.

Paula JA Burton Beverly, the winning aged cow and best udder of the show, won both grand champion titles for Alan Meyers. Ivan Meyers captured both reserve champion titles with his winning 3 year old, Tidy Brook S. Improver Beth. The Gloss Family won both the open and youth show junior and reserve junior champion awards.

Judge Wayne Stiles, left, congratulates the colored breeds champions at the Franklin County Open Holstein Show. Taking Jersey honors was Julie Martin, while Seth Schnebly captured the Guernsey title and Alan Meyers showed the champion Brown Swiss. Franklin County Dairy Princess Tina Geeseman distributed ribbons.

Adding ammonia to corn silage has a long list of desirable benefits not only as a protein source but also improving the silage fermentation.

However, with anhydrous ammonia there are several aspects that are less desirable.

- A hazardous product dangerous to handle.
- It is highly volatile with much atmospheric loss
- It must be handled with special pressurized equipment.
- The rate of retention depends on moisture content of corn silage.
- There is uncertainty in calibration.

There is an alternative ammonia product which seeks to maintain the desirable and improve on the undesirable.

Martin's Hi-Protein liquid silage additive.

tation from 38 states and three geographical units, along with one additional unit representing importers. The number of board members from a given state is determined by the cattle population within the state.

Earlier this month, USDA Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng announced the 113 appointees based on nominations received from each state. Pennsylvania's board representation includes J. Paul Espy, a full-time beef producer from Huntingdon County, and John D. Cope, a York County dairyman.

John Cope

In interviews earlier this week both men underscored the importance of beef in a balanced diet. "Beef has the highest nutritional value of anything on the market," Espy says, noting that the beef industry will have to work on three basic areas to increase the demand for its products: eliminating external fat, making beef products more convenient to prepare and "keeping the quality up" by producing tender beef with the necessary amount of marbling.

While Espy is convinced that the external fat has to go–"We either have to breed it off, feed it off or cut it off," he says–he feels just as strongly that the marbling has to stay. Contrary to popular belief, there's no difference in calories between well marbled meat and meat with little marbling once the meat is cooked, Espy asserts. What marbling does do, though, is maintain beef's tenderness, moistness and flavor, he says.

But producing nutritious and flavorful products isn't enough, says the cattleman. Those products must be convenient to prepare. "The consumer doesn't want to spend much time cooking anymore," he says.

At the producer level, Espy called for more professionalism in all segments of the industry." The cow/calf producer needs to pay more attention to selecting the parents of his calves, and those calves should be preconditioned so the transition from the range to the feedlot will be easier. "The quicker we feed these animals out, the better off we'll be," he says.

Feedlot operators must pay more attention to nutrition and minimize the use of antibiotics, he says. Espy, who serves as president of a five-farm meat producing and marketing corporation called Spruce Creek Meat Company, uses no antibiotic growth promotants in his own cattle.

In addition to heading up Spruce Creek Meat Company, Espy finishes 1,000 head of beef cattle annually and farms 700 acres of corn and alfalfa. He is a past member of the National Cattlemen's Association board of directors, and served as president of the Pennsylvania Beef Council from 1983 to 86, and president of the state Cattlemen's Association from 1980 to 83. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees in Agricultural Education from Penn State.

A descendant of the founders of Cope's Corn, John Cope has been affiliated with Ashcombe Farm Dairy for 34 years. He currently serves as vice president and general manager of the firm's two operations, located in Dover and Mechanicsburg.

The need for dairy industry representation on the Beef Board is obvious, says Cope, pointing out that a major portion of the beef used by the fast food industry comes from dairy animals.

Cope says that dairy beef is in step with the trend toward leaner beef products. "The dairy animal that goes to market is a machine to put milk in the pail and is using a tremendous amount of energy to do that. It's my thought that the animal is lean by nature," he says.

From his own experience, says Cope, Holstein steers are capable of "remarkable growth. You can get them in a tender condition because they grow so fast," he notes. "I've had our Holstein steers up to 1,350 pounds in 14 months."

While Cope applauds consumer health concerns, he cautions that the pendulum has swung too far. "We need to encourage people to look at their total diet and health needs and not start excluding basic food groups," he says.

Cope currently serves on the National Holstein Board and is a past president of the state Holstein Association. He holds a bachelor's degree in Agricultural Economics from Penn State.

The first meeting of the Beef Promotion and Research Board is scheduled for Sept. 4 to 6 in Dallas, Texas.

Walker Visits Farms

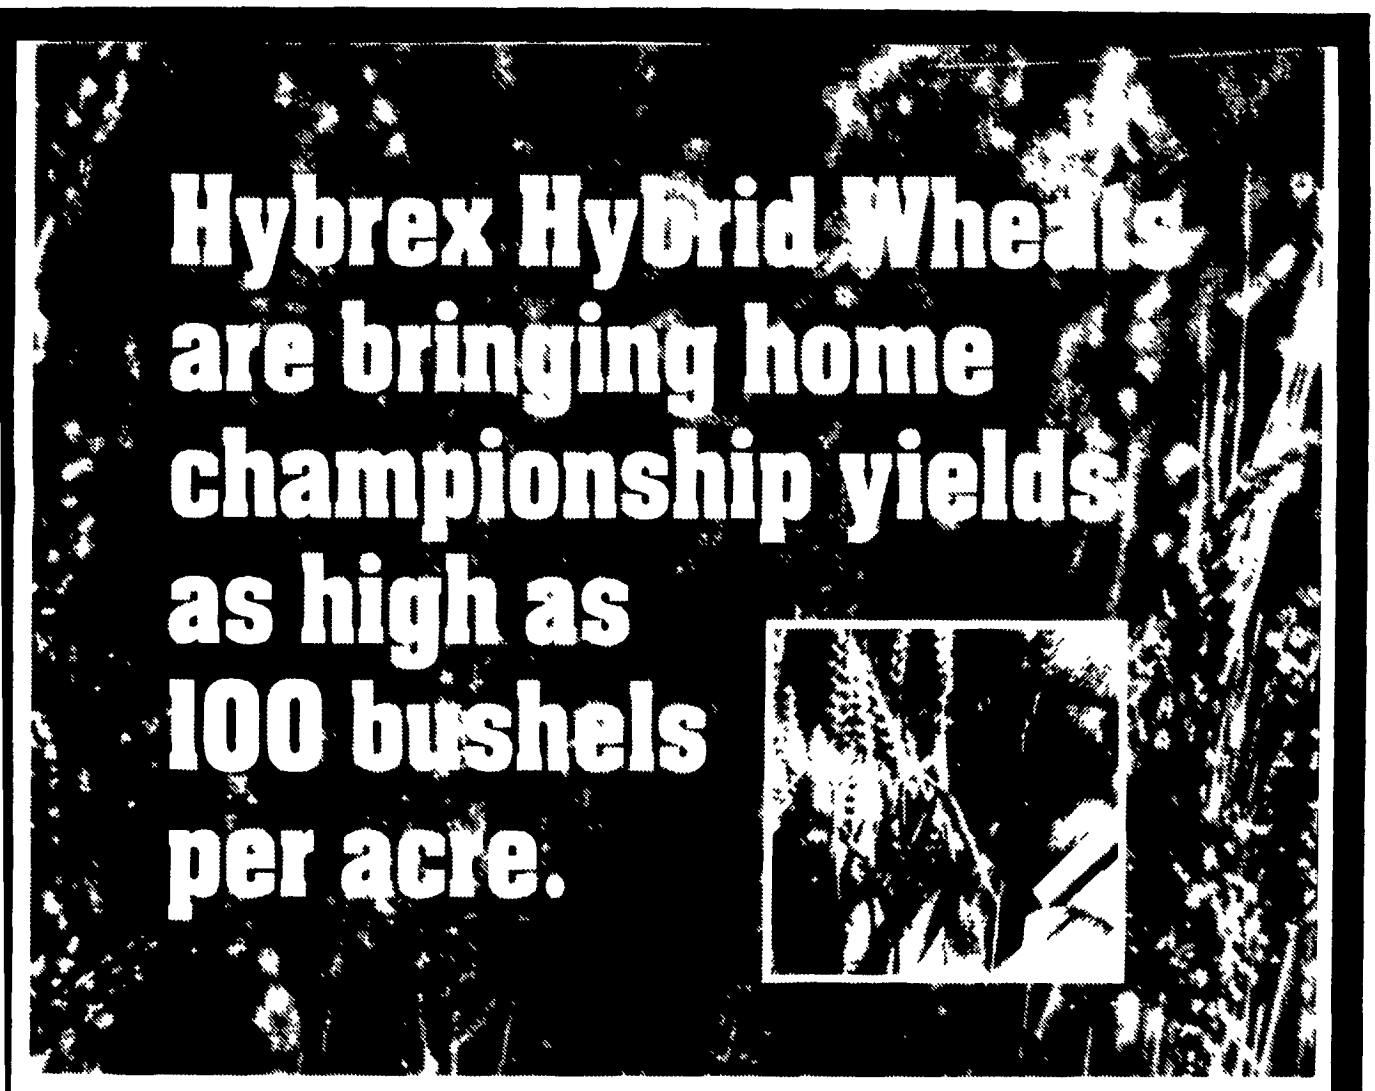
Washington somewhat sustained by a farm community that is desparate to find solutions. And therefore allow Washington to assume more and more control with the hope that Washington will arrive at a solution."

"My impression is that Washington has no solution. We have gone through 20 years where we have looked to government to solve our problems. But the problems get worse and worse. Now I'm hearing about government quotas. That would be as close to socialized farming as we could get. You can't have a short-term quota system. It gets to be long term. And in Canada the quotas now define the price of the farm. Selling the quota is about the same as selling the farm itself. That totally disrupts the structure of agriculture. Now the subsidy programs for agriculture take up so much of the ag budget, the congress has a tendency to seek to eleminate lesser cost such as those related to funding the Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service. Congress has tended to protect these organizations so far. But I don't know how long we can continue to hold out."

A total of five farms in Lancaster and Lebanon County were on Walker's farm tour. The farms he visited included J. Robert Kindig Farm, Conestoga; Kenneth Noll Farm, Lancaster; Ike Geib Farm, Manheim; Lynwood Heagy Farm, Lebanon; and Earl Lehman Farm, Annville



Twelve years of intense research have created a line of thoroughbreds unlike any other seed wheat in the world The technology is based on a chemical hybridizing agent designed to produce the most advanced wheat hybrids in the shortest possible time

The results? That extra hybrid vigor-once available only in seed corn Increased tillering, which dramatically reduces seeding rates (up to 50% in some tests) Greater straw strength And added tolerance to ward off disease

Bred for the American wheat farmer of the 80's, Hybrex hybrids respond wholeheartedly to high management techniques

In a university trial in Maryland, a Hybrex hybrid easily outdistanced a field of 23 popular varietals with 127 bushels per acre

And we're currently conducting trials with customers in Pennsylvania and Maryland that are showing outstanding results. Like these farmers, with good crop management, you should significantly surpass your present varietal yield record, and boost profits substantially

Call us or write for more details—we'll tell you about our regional results

Troutman Tops Over 150 Entries At The Kutztown Fair

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

KUTZTOWN — Grand champion of the Holstein Show at the 1986 Kutztown Fair was Diane Troutman, Myerstown, with her 3-year-old Sexation daughter, GE-Ma-De Poinsettia. She topped a show with over 150 entries from Berks County, and several entries from surrounding counties.

Reserve championship honors went to Cathleen Ohlinger, Mohrsville, with her 3-year-old Mars daughter, Rue-Hel Farms Mars Bailey, who had just taken reserve honors at the Eastern Championship show on Aug. 9. Junior champion ribbons went to Scott Troutman, Mohrsville, and the reserve junior champion was Diane Troutman, Myerstown.

$4,900 Tops Kraybill Dispersal

ELVERSON — Two bidders matched each other, dollar for dollar, for the right to own Dimon-Acres Valiant Satin. When the hammer came down for the final time, Mark Weber, Mohnton, was the successful bidder, outpointing contender Wilmer Hostetter. Weber purchased Satin for $4,900 at the recent Wilmer and Mark Kraybil Herd Dispersal.

Satin, a VG-87 Valiant daughter, will freshen in December with a Whittier Farms Ned Boy calf. During her first lactation, in 300 days, she produced 17,145 pounds of milk and 534 pounds of fat. Her cow index stands at plus 364 milk and plus 13 fat.

Her dam, out of Lawcrest Marvex-Twin, produced a top record of 19,090 pounds of milk in 253 days. The next two dams produced records over 22,000 pounds of milk and 800 pounds of fat.

Kore Peachey, Milroy, purchased the second-high selling animal. Fountain-Farm Jem Marquis. This 4-year-old cow, classified VG-87 with an excellent mammary, will freshen in September with a Ned Boy calf.

As a 4-year-old, she became the 10th generation to be classified at 87 points or better. Her next four dams produced records over 22,000 pounds of milk.

Her top record stands at 21,460 pounds of milk and 771 pounds of fat. Her present cow index stands at plus 272 milk and plus 23 fat with a CTPI of plus 444.

Traveling from Belvidere, N.J., Oscar Unargst returned home with the third-high selling animal. He purchased Penn-Lite Chairman Lulu for $2,300. A chairman daughter, she produced a top record of 15,340 pounds of milk and 545 pounds of fat. Bred in November, she will freshen this month with a Den-K Kirk Boy calf.

The sale averaged $1,048 on 84 head. Dale Hoover managed the sale and read pedigrees. Leon Kurtz handled the auctioneering assignment.

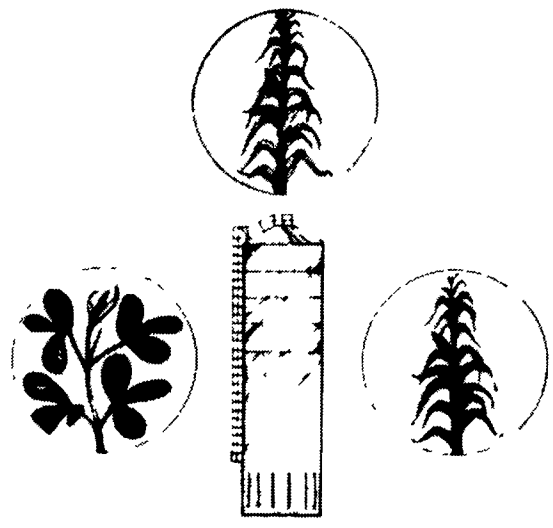
NOW IS THE TIME...

...TO THINK ABOUT STORING THIS FALL'S CORN IN A NEW OR PRE-OWNED HARVESTORE® SYSTEM...

Check with us for special prices on pre-owned Harvestore® Systems for high moisture grain for fall erection

...OR TO ERECT A HARVESTORE® SYSTEM FOR NEXT SPRING'S HAYLAGE AND FILL IT WITH THIS FALL'S CORN SILAGE!

Silage processed through a Harvestore® System is consistently good. It maintains a sweet smell throughout the feeding process. You can usually see the difference; you can smell the difference; and your cattle can taste the difference.
While the Harvestore® System helps reduce traditional silage loss; its greatest advantage is 365 day-a-year feeding capability.



Bottom unloading permits filling and feeding any time. Fill in early fall with corn silage, refill after grain harvest with lower moisture silage or stover, refill in spring with haylage. Most Harvestore® System owners average at least one-and-one-half fillings per year. This year-round storage and feeding capacity can mean greater returns on land, crop and livestock investments.

Call the Penn Jersey office for prices and information on all sizes of new and pre-owned Harvestore® and Slurrystore® systems available.

The results you may achieve with your Harvestore® System depend primarily upon your management skills and may vary from successful results achieved by others. Any application to a particular farming operation requires the advice of qualified experts and is subject to limitations of good management, weather and other conditions present at the individual location.

Lehman's Farm Market Provides Local Customers With Fresh Produce

BY SALLY BAIR
Lancaster Co. Correspondent

PALMYRA — The cars come steadily all morning, turning in the gravel driveway and bringing the customers who frequent Lehman's Farm Market. In its 34th summer, this market operated by Earl and Edith Lehman is a popular spot for a wide local clientele who have come to rely upon their fresh produce.

Edith explains that the market started because of their conviction that it would be a good experience for their children. She says, "We had seven children and they all grew up in the market. We thought it would be a good way for them to earn money."

The market started modestly on a card table in the front yard of their home along North Railroad Street outside of Palmyra. Eventually, they sold the chickens and moved the market to the chicken house.

Then they sold certified raw milk for 15 years and when they gave up dairying, they moved into the building where they sold the milk. There are two rooms and a storage room, and in August the building is filled with fresh produce, most of it raised on the 25 acres they devote to vegetables. They also raise about 70 steers.

By far their most popular item is sweet corn. Earl raises 15 acres of sweet corn and Edith says, "He picks it all by hand." They feature silver queen, golden queen and bi-queen as well as several other varieties. But it is silver queen that is the most popular, according to Edith.

Earl says they average about 1,000 dozen ears of corn a week, which means a lot of corn picking! He also notes, "This is one of the finest corn crops we've had. There are very few worms. I use very few insecticides." Although they began the summer with a dry period, Edith says the rains in July and August have all the produce looking good. "Things are growing pretty nice," she says, "but it is muddy in the fields."

August is the busiest month, when there is always a wide variety of produce, including cantalopes, string and lima beans, tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, cucumbers, squash and others. Fruit is also available at the market, but Edith says they do not raise their own. It is purchased both from local producers and Adams County growers.

For about 10 years the Lehman's have had a thriving pick-your-own business, including strawberries, sugar peas, hull peas and beans. "I think people like it," Edith says.

One aspect of the market which customers like and Edith thinks is important is picking the produce as fresh as possible. She said they like picking it early in the day, so the market doesn't open until 10 a.m.

The Lehman's believe in giving personal service, and every customer is given attention. Edith says she doesn't like going into stores and being ignored by sales people, and so she wants her customers to know they are important. "It's important to ask to help and to say hello!"

She adds, "We have nice customers. Mostly they are repeat." Her husband agrees, "We have a good relationship with customers."

Both admit that their customers are changing through the 34 years of business. Edith says the increased number of working mothers affects their business, and Earl says the number of families eating in restaurants also affects markets such as theirs. "It is an altogether different customer than 30 years ago."

Edith remarks, "People were canning and freezing more than they do today. It is a new generation."

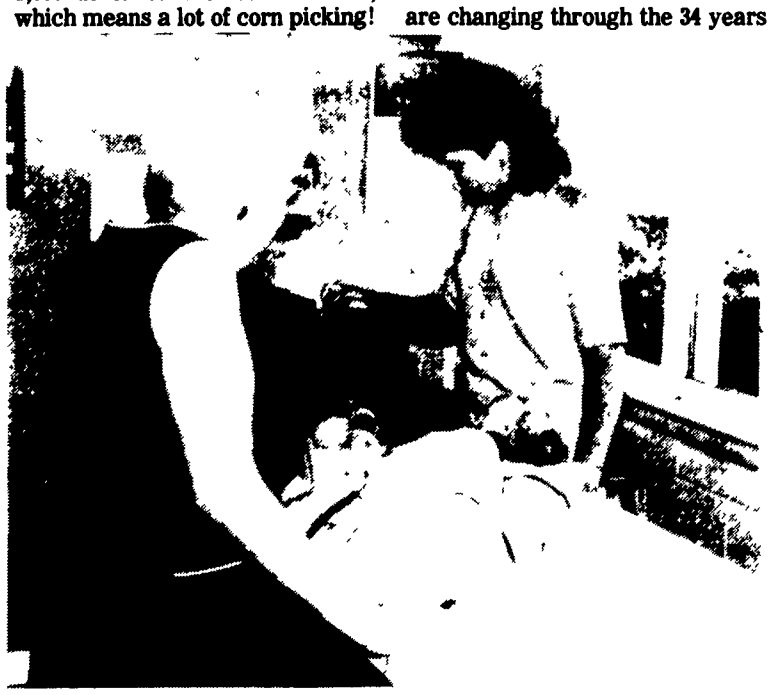
However, for the young people going back to canning and freezing, Edith is ready with advice, recipes and other printed information. "I try to have recipes for things we have."

When her daughters were home they helped with both the cooking and the canning. Now Edith says she tries to make time in the evenings to do some preserving. However, she pointed out that with her youngest child 21, she doesn't need to can in the large quantities she did when the children were growing up.

A common problem with market owners is charging enough money to make a good profit. Earl, vice president of the Lebanon County Farmers Association, admits that the profit margin is simply not there. "You can't turn a profit."

Edith notes, "Our expenses are higher but the prices are not that much higher." She said people work hard for their money and don't make that much, so they spend it carefully. Nevertheless, she has strong feelings about the benefits which American consumers have in the food marketplace. "American people are lucky. They spend just 17 percent of their money on food. In most countries it is much higher."

Waiting on customers quickly and efficiently is important to Edith, who likes to give everyone individual attention.



Amy, 12, waits on a customer after helping her choose what she wanted.

The Lehman Farm Market is now operating in its 34th summer, after humble beginnings as a card table in the yard. It's now open for business from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., six days a week.

Although the market is open daily for only about four months, the work of operating a market stretches over a much longer time. The first planting begins in early April with potatoes, followed by sugar peas and hull peas. How much planning goes into the system? Edith says, "After doing it for so many years, my husband knows what he needs." Most of the crops remain the same over the years, although Edith notes, "People are eating more squash now."

Edith helps with most of the field work until the market opens in the spring, but then spends her days there, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Her mornings are spent filling the shelves, sorting the fresh produce, and sweeping the floors. By the time customers begin arriving, often as early as 9:45, Edith is ready to greet them. If there are eager customers, she may open early.

Once inside the store, the customer is treated not only to a beautiful and bountiful array of vegetables, but also to a wide variety of Edith's favorite philosophical tidbits, neatly lettered on signs on the walls. Some favorites include: "Opportunity is usually disguised as hard work, so most people don't recognize it." — Ann Landers; "If you can't have the best of everything, make the best of everything you have;" "So live that every yesterday is a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope."

Lehman's Farm Market

In addition to the fresh produce some local handwork is offered, mostly baskets. This year for the first time a neighbor is making baked goods for sale there.

Edith's work is centered around the market, but not exclusively. She has been working as chairman for the Palmyra Fresh Air program, and opened her own home to these children from New York City for 10 years. In addition, her own family has hosted exchange students from Finland, Sweden and Peru through the Lion's Club Youth Exchange. But whether foreign visitors or city visitors, they have had much the same reaction to living on Lehman's farm — "We didn't realize you worked so hard."

Saying they really are in the "people" business, Edith says those exchanges were a good experience for all involved. She's glad to show others that Americans are hard-working people.

A member of Farm Women Society #3, she enjoys that fellowship with other rural women. She and her husband are active members of Lebanon Valley Bible Church and the Belle Grove Fire Company.

By late September and October, the main market items will be apples, pumpkins and potatoes. Halloween will mark the closing of the market.

In the winter, when the blinds are pulled and the market closed, Edith likes to "fix up dolls." She says, "I have a lot from the 20's to the 60's. I worked on a few of my own and picked up a few. I have my daughters' and daughters-in-laws' and when my granddaughters are finished playing with them, I fix them. It is my hobby."

While she enjoys working with the customers, Edith comments, "I love to go and pick things in the evening. It makes you feel thankful and you know that God is still in control."

As she moves through the market, the delight she feels in her work comes through. She tells one customer, "Peaches are like corn, every one has a little different flavor, but they are all good." She thanks another for bringing his own bag, and chats with another about neighborhood news. In between she fills up baskets as they empty, brings in more corn, and directs her two granddaughters who came to help her this week while her regular employee takes vacation.

Twelve-year-old Amy Lehman seems to echo her grandmother's feelings as she says, "I love it. It's not like work; it's more like fun."

Five Finalists To Compete in Pa. Egg Recipe Contest

HARRISBURG — Five Pennsylvanians from among 600 entries have been chosen as finalists to compete for a $1,000 prize in the 1986 Pennsylvania Egg Recipe contest.

The finalists are Phyllis Dobson of Liberty, Mrs. Tim Hoober of New Holland, Mrs. Sandra L. Nocivelli of Apollo, Ms. Tina Washington of Lebanon and Mrs. William (Daryl) Urzen of Philadelphia.

The finalists will crack eggs in a head-to-head cook off Sept. 6 at the Farm and Home Center in Lancaster. They'll prepare their dishes for a panel of judges. The winner receives $1,000 and a chance for national honors.

The winner will automatically be entered in the national contest through the American Egg Board. Prizes of $4,000, $2,000 and $1,000 will be awarded the top three finishers in national competition.

The state level contest is sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association and the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

A militant force has laid seige to the farm, practicing guerilla tactics that have driven terror into the heart of every insect on the place.

And one of the high points of my days is serving flies for breakfast.

Corporal Cluck and company are on the move. Perhaps you remember Corporal Cluck. Of course, she didn't always go by that title.

Corporal Cluck is the diminutive gray hen who hatched the batallion of babies in my heifer pen feed alley. The one whose eggs mysteriously moved from a feed trough onto the floor, with nary a crack? That's her.

No longer are those offspring fluffy, feathery puffs of black, gray and yellow. Now half-grown, they're sleek feathered, just beginning to grow red combs on their heads, and making bizarre squawking sounds as their voices change from peepings to crows and clucks.

But, unlike her half-bantam flockmates who haunt the farm's hidden corners, Corporal Cluck is almost a social old hen. Her preferences for habitat, like the alleyway nesting site, seem to lean toward the human-animal action of the farm.

Maybe she's just a busybody, afraid she'll miss something. Like the flies.

Hanging from the ceiling of our calf nursery is one of those electronic fly "zappers." An aluminum trough hangs beneath the technical-type fly swatter, so the little bug bodies don't fall all over the floor and into the calves' feed and water.

Emptying that accumulation has never been a chore I paid much attention to doing. That was, until we discovered that the poultry population goes berserk over the contents.

One morning when Corporal Cluck and her seven hatchlings were scratching for gravel bits nearby, I dumped the bug bodies out on the pavement. That hen sent up an excited clucking and calling that brought every baby scrambling and falling over each other in their haste to get a piece of the action.

Next morning, she was back. And the next, and the next.

Now, in cozy familiarity, she parades into the nursery — every morning like clockwork — and stands there clucking for flies. And her kids are getting almost as bossy.

Perhaps they feel it's their due after some rather bad treatment they received a couple of weeks ago.

Bonnie chose that night to calve. And Corporal Cluck chose a corner rung of Bonnie's maternity pen on which to park her family for the night.

Cows sometimes do strange things at calving time. Bonnie, a 1,600-pound "pussycat" who waits to be personally led by her neck-chain into her stall, decided she wanted no feathered bystanders even in the vicinity of her birth. The loud banging that woke us in the middle of the night was her head, battering the gate and shaking the sleeping chickens to the ground.

The bewildered Corporal Cluck had no idea why she was being evicted — and in the middle of the night, for goodness sake.

For about three days, Bonnie staunchly defended her newborn daughter from the questionable presence of feathered beings. Eventually a truce was negotiated and peaceful co-existence between species on the farm reigned once more.

So, I figure, Corporal Cluck has earned the right to demand her daily fly treats.

Do you s'pose we could call Corporal Cluck and company "flied" chickens?

Make The Most Of Zucchini Harvest

The prolific zucchini has found its way into the hearts — and recipe files — of homemakers. I would venture a guess that the abundance of zucchini recipes in circulation, as evidenced by the response to this week's recipe topic, stems at least in part from the fruitbearing capacity of the zucchini vine.

If you've ever planted zucchini in your garden, you probably know all about basket after basket of this squash variety. Fortunately, some creative homemakers have developed a multitude of recipes to utilize the zucchini harvest.

FRIED ZUCCHINI CAKES Or MOCK CRAB CAKES

2 cups grated zucchini
1 cup Italian bread crumbs (or your own mixture)
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Old Bay seasoning
1 cup finely chopped onion, optional

Mix all ingredients together in medium sized bowl. Fry zucchini in hot oil for about 2 to 3 minutes, until browned; turn and fry on the other side until browned.

Note: Some versions of this recipe call for only one egg.

Betty Wilders, Newville

PINEAPPLE ZUCCHINI

1 gallon zucchini, peeled, seeded and cut in strips, chunks or crushed
1 46-ounce can unsweetened pineapple juice
2 teaspoons pineapple extract
3 cups sugar
1½ cups real lemon juice

Betty L. Wilders
Newville

STIR-FRIED ZUCCHINI MEDLEY

3 medium zucchini cut into ¼-inch pieces
3 cups corn, fresh cut from cobs or canned, drained
2 green peppers, chopped
1 large onion, chopped
3 cups coarsely shredded carrots
2 tablespoons salad oil
½ cup water
1½ cups teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper

In large frying pan or Dutch oven, heat oil. Cook vegetables, stirring quickly and frequently until well coated. Add water, salt and pepper; reduce heat to medium. Continue stir-frying 7 to 10 minutes until tender crisp.

Nancy Kramer
Newmanstown

ZUCCHINI JELLY

6 cups grated, peeled zucchini

Boil 6 minutes until clear, stirring often to prevent scorching. Add:

6 cups sugar
½ cup lemon juice
6 ounces crushed pineapple with juice

Boil 6 minutes; stirring. Remove from heat, add 6 ounces apricot-flavored gelatin. Stir to dissolve. Ladle hot into jars and seal. Process 10 to 13 minutes in boiling water bath.

Mrs. Ann M. Kramer
Newmanstown

ZUCCHINI CUSTARD PIE

3 cups grated zucchini
¾ cup sugar
½ cup margarine
3 eggs
½ cup shredded coconut
1 teaspoon coconut extract

Prepare zucchini. Do not peel. Use the solid part but no seeds. Drain and squeeze with hands to get as dry as possible. Cream sugar and margarine, add flavoring. Add eggs, one at a time. Beat well, then fold in zucchini and coconut. Pour in one 10-inch unbaked pie shell or 2 small shells. Bake 15 minutes at 400°F. Reduce heat to 350°F. and bake until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

W. Newton

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

1 zucchini squash, finely grated
1 medium onion
½ can mushroom soup
1 beaten egg
1 cup bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
¼ pound cheese, grated

Mix together all ingredients except crumbs and cheese. Put cheese and bread crumbs on top last. Bake at 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes.

Pauline Shirk

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

3 full cups shredded zucchini

Set zucchini aside. Mix together:

4 eggs
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup grated mozzarella cheese
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons parsley
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon seasoning salt
1 teaspoon oregano
Dash of pepper
1 clove garlic, chopped fine
½ cup oil
1 cup buttermilk baking mix

Add zucchini last. Put in greased loaf pan or 1-quart casserole. Bake at 350°F. for 45 minutes or until done.

CHOCOLATE ZUCCHINI CAKE

Cream:
½ cup oleo
½ cup oil
1¾ cups sugar
Add:
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sour milk
2 cups shredded zucchini
Add:
2½ cups flour
4 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt

Sprinkle top with chocolate chips. Bake in floured tube pan 45 to 55 minutes.

Carole Frantz
Friendsville, Md.

ORANGE ZUCCHINI CAKE

2 cups brown sugar
1 cup oleo
1 tablespoon orange rind
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
4 eggs
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup orange concentrate
1 cup shredded zucchini

Cream sugar, oleo and spices. Beat in one egg at a time; add zucchini. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Blend alternately with orange concentrate. Bake in tube pan at 350°F. for 55 to 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cover with glaze.

Carole Frantz
Friendsville, Md.

SALMON ZUCCHINI BAKE

1 can salmon
1½ pounds zucchini
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons butter
¾ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon mixed Italian herbs
½ cup buttered cream crumbs

Drain salmon and break into chunks with a fork. Slice zucchini ¼-inch thick. Saute zucchini and garlic briefly in butter. Add salmon, cheddar and Parmesan cheese, sour cream and seasonings. Turn into 2-quart casserole and top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake at 350°F. for 20 minutes.

Friendsville, Md.

ZUCCHINI SQUASH RELISH

10 cups chopped zucchini
4 sweet peppers, chopped
4 cups onions, chopped

Put ingredients into bowl or pan and add ⅓ cup salt. Mix well, refrigerate overnight. Drain and rinse in cold water. Put in large kettle and add:

3½ cups sugar
2½ cups vinegar
1 teaspoon tumeric
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon black pepper

Boil for 30 minutes and seal hot.

ZUCCHINI FRITTERS

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1 cup finely chopped zucchini

In medium bowl, stir together baking powder and milk. Add egg and zucchini. Add flour and mix until well moistened. Drop by tablespoons into deep oil. Fry, a few at a time, until golden brown, 3 to 4 minutes. Drain on paper towel. Makes 24 fritters. Sprinkle with powdered or granulated sugar.

Denise Frazee
Friendsville, Md.

MOCK APPLE CRISP

8 cups thinly sliced, peeled and seeded zucchini
⅔ cup lemon juice

1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Simmer 5 minutes. Remove from stove.

Crust:
4 cups flour
2 cups sugar
3 sticks butter

Mix until crumbly. Put half in bottom of greased pan. Bake 10 minutes at 375°F. Remove from oven. Put mixture over crumbs. Cover with rest of crumbs. Bake at 375°F. for 40 minutes.

EASY ZUCCHINI RELISH

2½ cups shredded, unpeeled zucchini
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
⅓ cup vinegar
¼ cup horseradish
1 3-ounce package lemon flavored gelatin

Combine zucchini, sugar, water, vinegar and horseradish in a medium saucepan. Bring to a boil; boil 5 minutes, stirring often. Remove from heat; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Ladle quickly into hot sterilized small jars or freezer containers. Cover tightly; cool. Store in freezer or refrigerater up to 2 weeks. Makes 3 cups.

DELICIOUS ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

3 eggs
¼ cup oil
½ cup flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
½ cup cheese
2 cups grated zucchini
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped parsley

Slightly beat eggs and oil. Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and pepper and cheese. Add to egg mixture. Add the remaining ingredients and stir to blend. Pour into greased casserole dish and bake at 325°F. for 45 minutes or until set.

Featured Recipe

This week's featured recipe comes from Cambria County home economist Kathy Hostettler. Kathy gave a mini-lecture on microwaving vegetables and used this recipe to demonstrate how easy it is to make vegetables in a microwave oven. For more tips from Kathy, turn to the story on microwaving veggies in this section.

Fresh Vegetable Medley

1½ pounds fresh broccoli, cut in flowerets
½ medium heat cauliflower, cut in flowerets
¼ pound fresh mushrooms, ¼-inch slices
1 cup carrots, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons water
¼ cup butter
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Arrange mushrooms in a ring round the edge of a 12-inch round plate. Then arrange a ring of broccoli and a ring of cauliflower. Place carrots in center. Sprinkle with water. Cover with plastic wrap, leaving a vent in one side. Microwave at high for 3 minutes.

Rotate plate one-quarter turn and microwave 3 minutes more or until vegetables are tender crisp. Let stand 2 minutes.

Combine butter, garlic salt and pepper in 1-cup glass measuring cup while vegetables' plate is standing. Microwave at high 30 to 45 seconds.

Tomato Butter

8 pounds tomatoes
1½ pounds apples
¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Peel, quarter and seed tomatoes. You should have about 8 cups. Quarter and seed apples. Toss into kettle and heat until the juice boils Reduce to simmer and cook for 40 minutes. Reduce heat to low and cook 2 hours or until mixture is thick. Add cinnamon and puree in a processor or blender.

To can, pour hot tomato butter into clean half-pint jars Water bath for 35 minutes in boiling water. Butter can also be frozen To serve, defrost in the refrigerator overnight.

Green Tomato Raspberry Jelly

6 cups ground green tomatoes
5 cups sugar
1 box raspberry flavored gelatin

Grind tomatoes. (I use a meat grinder Small, hard tomatoes give the best results.) Mix tomatoes well with sugar. Bring to a boil on stove for 30 minutes. Remove from heat and add dry box of gelatin. Stir well. This mixture will thicken more in jars Place in jars to seal

ANSWER - Dorothy S. Riesterer, New Providence, requested recipe for crab apples. Thanks go to Lois Martin, Waynesboro, for sharing her Crabapple Gems recipe

Crabapple Gems

Wash, halve and core 2 quarts crabapples.
1 cup water
6 cups sugar
½ teaspoon red food coloring
¼ teaspoon oil of cinnamon

Bring first three ingredients to boil. Add oil of cinnamon and stir well. Add crabapples. Turn heat low and gently simmer for a half hour or until fruit is transparent and the sauce is thickened. Be sure not to cook — only simmer. Pack and Seal. Makes 4 pints.

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

1 pint small curd creamed cottage cheese
1½ teaspoons basil
1 teaspoon oregano
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1½ cups pitted ripe olives, cut into wedges
2 tablespoons butter
2 pounds zucchini, crookneck or patty pan squash, diagonally sliced ¼ inch thick (7 cups)
1 medium onion, cut into wedges
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons grated parmesan cheese

Mix cottage cheese, basil, oregano, garlic and 1 cup olives. Set aside. Heat butter in skillet. Add squash and onion and saute over high heat about 5 minutes or until tender-crisp. Sprinkle with salt and flour, mixing in. Turn half into shallow 2-quart baking dish. Spread cheese mixture overall. Top with remaining squash. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake uncovered in 350°F. oven for 30 minutes or until heated through. Garnish with remaining olives. Serves 4 to 6.

WHY TRICAL ?

TRICAL ™

FOR HIGH QUALITY FORAGE HARVESTED AS SILAGE, HAY, OR GRAZE. VARIETIES AVAILABLE FOR SPRING OR FALL PLANTING.

HERE ARE WHAT TRICAL GROWERS ARE SAYING:

GENE N. EDWARDS, STITTVILLE, NY -"Trical was very winter hardy even with adverse weather conditions. We had a hard freeze, then open weather and then snow. We had a dry spring but Trical still yielded very well. If I hadn't had the 20 acres of Trical, I would have been buying feed at the time."

BOB GROSSNICKLE, WOODSBORO, MD - "The energy level of Trical really surprised me. It was 67.0% TDN. Trical reached 3 to 4 feet in height with very little rain. The tonnage was more than any other spring grain we ever harvested. (Harvested as forage) There was a definite height and leafiness over other spring grains; worked well for double cropping corn and soybeans."

LEO MARTIN, ST. ALBANS, VT. - "I was impressed with the winter hardiness of Trical I cut 10 loads of Trical off 5 acres and probably lost 1 acre due to wet spots in the field. Even with adverse weather conditions it still allowed me to double crop with corn. My objective was to increase the quantity of forage that I could produce on limited acreage "

RON SHADDLE, MERCERSBURG, PA - "Excellent mix with alfalfa Good tonnage (4 ton/acre) even with dry weather Excellent smelling forage and had a protein level of 19 5%. I got an extra year from my alfalfa by using Trical."

Range Care During Canning Important

Many books and pamphlets tell you how to can foods, but few caution you about possible damage to your range top from prolonged use of canners.

To prevent damage to the surface around heating units, I want to share these recommendations.

Use equipment that fits the surface unit. An oversized canner doesn't allow proper heat dispersal. Concentrated heat over a long canning cycle may cause crazing, discoloration, or both. If you must use canners larger than the heating units, choose a canner that will be least likely to cause damage.

Canners made of bright shiny metals reflect more heat and are more likely to cause damage than nonreflective surfaces, such as blue-black porcelain water bath canners. A dull or brushed metal finish on the bottoms of water bath canners or pressure-type canners is more conducive to absorbing the heat then reflecting it.

Never can on glass or ceramic smooth top range surfaces.

Before beginning the canning process, clean the range top. Be sure the work surface next to heating units is free of grease, spills, and detergent residue. The high heats reflected from a canner overhang can bake on dirt that will be very difficult to remove.

Try not to concentrate all the canning time on one burner unit. Canning cycles may range from 20 minutes with a water bath method to 90 minutes with a pressurized canner. Repeating these cycles on a single burner invites the most danger of heat damage to the range finish.

During a lengthy canning session, alternate between the two large surface units. If the range has only one large unit, always allow the surface around it to cool before processing a second batch of food.

Use the minimum heat necessary to maintain the boil or the pressure while canning. Some consumers, particularly those using the water bath method, tend to turn the control to "high" to reach a boil, then leave it there for the entire canning process. This not only adds to the heat problem, it wastes energy.

Finally, don't "shock" the hot range top surface by wiping it with a cold cloth. Wait unitl the canner has finished processing and the surface has cooled, then use a warm, sudsy cloth to wipe up spills.

Reprocessing Jars That Didn't Seal

Modern metal canning lids may not seal immediately after removal from the canner — it may be several minutes or an hour until you hear the familiar "ping" that indicates a seal.

But what can you do if after several hours you notice that a jar hasn't sealed? Actually, you have three choices.

The easiest and most convenient is to refrigerate that jar and serve the food within a day or two.

Or you could remove the food from the jar and freeze it in a suitable freezer container. Keep in mind that after canned foods are frozen, the texture may not be as good. Label such containers to indicate they've been canned first.

Your third choice is to re-can the food. Remove the lid and check to see that the sealing surface of the jar is free from defects. If it is not defective, readjust the headspace and clean the sealing edge. Then add a new lid and a different screw band. (The first screw band may be bend.) Heat process for the entire time specified in modern directions for that food.

If the jar was defective, put contents in another jar, add a new lid and again, process the full time.

Make sure you label these jars to indicate you've reprocessed them. Foods will be less acceptable in color, texture and flavor.

Stets Tops Cumberland County 4-H Swine Roundup

CARLISLE — The grand champion market hog of the 1986 Cumberland County 4-H Swine Roundup sold for $4.80 per pound at the annual sale held recently at the Carlisle Livestock Market. Jennifer Stets, Newville, sold her 245-pound champion to Hatfield Packing Company.

The Country Butcher Shop, Carlisle, purchased Jim Hair's 245-pound reserve champion hog for $2.95 per pound.

Robby Keiter, Newville, sold his champion pen of two to the Williams Grove Steam Engine Association.

Other buyers included: CCNB; Donald Thomas; Kessler's Inc.; White Oak Mills; Doug Wallick; Ezra Good; Rick Foreman; Fickes Silo Co., Inc.; North Mountain Butcher Shop; Wayne Craig; Meals Mobile Homes; Saylor's IGA; John Diehl; Rotz & Son; Huntsdale Stock Farm; Fred Potteiger; Emory Buying Station; Mechanicsburg Insurance Service Limited; Walnut Bottom Home and Garden Center; Highland's Tire Service; and Valk Manufacturing.

Fickes Silo Co., Inc. of Newville sponsored the champion showmanship trophies which were awarded to: junior - Gayle Wiser; intermediate - Troy Waggoner; and senior - Matt Drawbaugh.

Knisely's Agriculture Center sponsored the champion banner. Champion ribbons were sponsored by Bourbon Springs Farm and ribbons were sponsored by the Central Penn Swine Club.

Champion lightweight - Patrick Metcalf; reserve champion lightweight - Kim Warner; champion mediumweight - Jim Hair; reserve champion mediumweight - Bobbi Jo Keiter; champion heavyweight - Jennifer Stets; and the reserve champion heavyweight - Robby Keiter.

Visitors Crowd To National Bison Range

MOIESE, Mont. — Out here, where the buffalo roam and the deer and the pronghorn antelope play, there is a dilemma that reflects in microcosm a similar problem affecting Yosemite, Yellowstone, and Glacier parks and other better-known pieces of the national heritage.

The dilemma is this: How do you make such places, supported by taxpayer dollars, open and accessible to the public without attracting so many people that the whole point of the enterprise is lost?

Moiese is home to the National Bison Range, one of the oldest components in the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's chain of wildlife refuges and one of the key elements in the successful early-century battle to save the American bison from extinction.

Park Relatively Small

Compared with the big national parks, the National Bison Range is tiny, as is the number of visitors who come here in a year, compared with, say, the 2.6 million who annually visit Yosemite.

Yet, in 1983, when the number of visitors to the 18,541 acres of grasslands, low-rolling mountains, and gently flowing streams reached a record 132,000, range manager Jon Malcolm feared that a further increase could cause grave problems.

In 1984, the number of visitors dropped by 24 percent, to 106,000, and Malcolm noted in his annual report that this was "optimum in terms of providing visitors with a quality experience." Partly because of unseasonably cold temperatures and early, heavy snow, the number dropped to 96,000 in 1985.

Visits in 1986 are up, however — 10 percent higher in May and June over the same months in 1985, a big 32 percent jump in July — and Malcolm is worried. "It's kind of hard to tell people, well, don't come because we've got enough the way it is," he says. "But that is one of our concerns."

A 1985 census on the range counted a balanced population of elk, white-tailed and mule deer, bighorn sheep, pronghorn antelope, and mountain goats. There also were coyotes, who did their part to keep down the population of deer, antelope, and sheep.

But the animal that is the range's reason for being is thriving. There were 332 bison, with 90 calves, and a mortality rate of just 1 percent. The range annually auctions off what is known as excess; last year, 66 bison were sold, for display elsewhere or for their hides or meat.

Where 60 Million Roamed

The current status of the bison — the creature's true name, though most authorities use buffalo interchangeably — is a far cry from the animal's peak in the mid-19th century, when an estimated 60 million of them roamed North America.

But it is also a far cry from the bison's plight a few decades later. Many forces brought about the bison's decline: the suppression of Plains Indians who had lived in balance with the animal, hunting only what they needed for food and clothing; massive buffalo hunts that accompanied the settlement of the West; the rise of trophy hunting; the desire of settlers to eliminate buffalo so they could plant crops.

When late-century scientists set out on expeditions to collect specimens before it was too late, they could hardly find any. By 1900, there were only 39 wild bison in the United States, a small herd in Yellowstone. Alarmed, the scientists and their supporters formed the American Bison Society.

They found an ally in President Theodore Roosevelt, who in 1905 designated a 61,500-acre tract in Oklahoma as a game preserve. It was stocked with 15 bison shipped, ironically, from New York's Bronx Zoo.

The conservationists then moved to have the government establish a second refuge. The Bison Society persuaded Congress to buy land in Montana from the Indians, and raised $10,560 from the public to buy 34 bison from a privately owned Montana herd. The animals, the first stock of the National Bison Range, arrived in October 1909.

What visitors to the range find today is a situation vastly different from natural conditions. The other big-game animals were introduced over the years, beginning with white-tailed deer and elk. Heavy fencing surrounds the entire range, preventing the wildlife from roaming over farms and ranches. Some areas are fenced off to prevent overgrazing or to keep herds apart for their own good.

Management Essential

"The populations we have here are probably as intensively managed as you'll find on any refuge," Malcolm says. "These animals, if they're not managed, can have a severe impact on the habitat, so on an area this size, it's necessary to manage and manipulate them. Just the fact that we have big-game-type fence around the perimeter is not natural to begin with."

There are, however, few concessions to humans. There is an information center with exhibits about the range and the history and biology of the bison, and a few animals are kept in display pastures nearby.

"We find that a lot of people, all they want to do is stop by and see a buffalo or two and they're satisfied," Malcolm says. "By providing for those people, that's one thing that limits the use on the longer tour."

The "longer tour" is a 19-mile self-guided excursion over a dusty, unpaved road that winds up and around Red Sleep Mountain. It can easily take two hours, but visitors are rewarded with a view of much of the range's wildlife. It is a daunting trip. Far fewer than half the visitors embark upon it.

At home on the National Bison Range, a buffalo bull displays wariness befitting a species that barely avoided extinction. Only 39 wild bison could be counted in the entire United States in 1900, compared with 60 million a few decades earlier. Congress set up the 18,000-acre Montana refuge in 1909.

THE MICRO WAY

LANI BLOOMER

Reheating Magic

Most people buy a microwave for reheating. If you don't own one, it's hard to believe how leftovers taste so freshly cooked when reheated this way. Foods reheat quickly, stay moist and delicious.

But reheating can be overdone. Anything that is dried out, hard or rubbery has been reheated too long. Here are some tips for reheating foods in your microwave.

Temperature Probe

A temperature probe makes reheating really easy. You don't have to figure out (or guess!) how long your food will take to heat. If you don't know how to set your oven's probe, get out the manual and look it up; you'll be glad you did.

Insert the probe tip into the middle of your leftover mashed potatoes, casserole, soup, etc. The probe can go right through a covering like wax paper or plastic wrap. Then put your leftovers in the microwave and plug the other end of the probe into the oven.

Serving termperature for food is about 160 degrees. Set the oven for this probe temperature and set microwave to heat on medium high (70-80). Presto, the oven turns off when the food is hot! Things couldn't be easier!

Power Level

Most foods can be reheated on medium high (70-80). Stirring once or twice will help the food heat evenly. Meats, food you can't stir, and large things, reheat better on medium (50). Use high for soups and sauces if you stir frequently (use 50 for milk or cream sauces).

Containers and Coverings

Reheat food in a serving dish when possible, since food cools rapidly when it is transferred to a cold container. Foods high in sugar, fat, and liquids reheat quickly and the heat from these foods may melt or distort soft plastic storage containers.

Covering food helps it reheat more evenly. Use plastic wrap or a lid if you want to trap the steam in with the food. Use wax paper if you don't want to steam the food. Feel the center of the bottom of the container to see how warm the food is in the middle.

Timing

The reheating time of your food is affected by:

1. The starting temperature – colder takes longer.
2. The quantity – more takes longer. One cup of food takes 3 to 4 minutes to heat on medium high (70-80).
3. The shape – a thick block of food takes longer than a thin shallow layer. Food pushed into a doughnut shape will reheat faster than food left in a solid block.
4. The consistency – dense food takes longer, drier food takes longer, larger pieces take longer.

A Plate of Food

Arrange the food so the more dense foods are to the outer edge of the plate and foods that heat quickly are in the center. For instance, put meat and potatoes around the edges with vegetables in the center.

Cover with wax paper. Reheat a dinner plate of room temperature food for about 1½ to 2 minutes on medium high (70-80). A plate of refrigerated food will take almost twice as long, depending on the quantity of food. Feel the bottom of the plate to see how warm the food is.

Meats

It is very difficult to reheat a roast without drying out (burning) the edges. Use your range if the roast must be kept whole. Otherwise, slice it before reheating.

Slice meat evenly and place in a ring around a serving plate. Use medium power (50) and heat for 45 to 60 seconds for each 4-ounce serving. Using a higher power level may toughen the meat.

Cover with wax paper or plastic wrap. Meat will heat more easily if you add moisture by putting a little gravy or juice over the meat before heating.

Casseroles, Side Dishes

Cover, stir when possible, and heat on medium high (70-80). If a casserole contains cubed meat, or you can't stir it, use medium (50). Adding 1 or 2 tablespoons of water or liquid will help dry foods like rice heat more evenly.

When reheating vegetables, you can use high power. Put the tender tips of vegetables toward the center of the container.

Breads

Wrap bread in paper towels to absorb moisture, or heat on a rack to keep the bottom from getting soggy. Rolls, etc. may be reheated in a napkin-lined wicker basket (if there is no metal on the basket!) Bread slices, muffins and rolls reheat very quickly. Five or ten seconds each (on high) if they are at room temperature is enough!

To reheat frozen rolls or muffins, heat on high for 10 seconds each, let them stand a few minutes to finish thawing, then warm for 5 second each. Heat frozen pizza on a paper towel on a rack to keep the bottom from getting soggy.

Sandwiches

To make hot meat sandwiches, hot dogs, etc. heat the meat first, by itself, on medium (50). Then put the meat on the roll or bread, wrap in a napkin or paper towel. Microwave for 5 to 10 seconds per sandwich on high.

Using this two-step method keeps the rolls from getting hard or rubbery while the meat heats. Put cheese on at the last minute, and heat just until the cheese softens; longer may make the cheese stringy.

Extension Offers Parent/Toddler Time

LEESPORT – Parent/child interaction is a characteristic of strong families. To help nurture this interaction Penn State Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a fun-filled activity workshop called "Parent/Toddler Time."

Parent and child spend quality time together on activities especially designed to promote the toddler's social, emotional, intellectual and creative growth and development of fine and gross motor skills. During the play time, parents learn skills to enhance children's self-esteem, self-confidence, and self-control and at the same time increase parents' effectiveness and decrease tension and stress. Parents have opportunities to form networks with other parents of toddlers and enhance the parent/child relationship.

Parent/Toddler time is being offered on Tuesday or Thursday in Berks County. You can attend Tuesday, Sept. 16, 23, 30 and Oct. 7 or Thursday, Sept. 18, 25, Oct. 2 and 9th. Sessions will be held at West Lawn United Methodist Church from 9:30-11:30 a.m. A $25 registration covers the cost of all four sessions. Registration is required.

To register contact Michelle Rodgers, Berks County Extension Service, Berks County Ag Center, P.O. Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533.

Bankert Shows York 4-H Swine Roundup Champion

YORK — The York County 4-H Swine Roundup was held at Weikert's Livestock Buying Station, Thomasville, Aug. 12. The 4-H members showed and sold 56 head at auction after the show.

The grand champion was shown by Greg Bankert, Hanover. He received $4 per pound for his 235-pound barrow from Hatfield Packing Co., Hatfield. The reserve grand champion was shown by Cathy Shive of Seven Valleys. She received $1.70 per pound for her 235-pound barrow from Hatfield Packing Company.

The sale grossed $13,035.25 and averaged $99.20 a cwt. with the champion and reserve. The average without the champion and reserve was $92.31 per cwt. Hatfield Packing bought 12 head, Weikert's Buying Station bought nine head, Service Feed & Supply, Delta bought eight head and Godfrey Bros. at Loganville bought six head. Twenty buyers purchased swine at the sale.

The Fitting and Showmanship awards were presented to the members. Senior fitter went to Gary Burgard, senior showman to Tim Ferrence, Spring Grove. Intermediate fitter was Kris Miller, and intermediate showman was Greg Bankert. Junior fitter was Kim Frantz, Loganville, and junior showman was Mike Stermer, East Berlin. Novice fitter was Cindy Miller, R6, York and she was novice showman also.

Other buyers were Gwaltney of Southfield, Va; Rutters Livestock, Dover; Garwick Meats, Manchester, Md; Dave Holloway, Glen Rock; Beacon Milling Co, York; Evergreen Tractor Co., Lebanon; Bankerts Duroc & Chester Whites, Hanover; Everly's Butcher Shop, Yoe; Abbottstown Feed & Grain; Jay Ackworth, Abbottstown; Dean Neigley, Mercersburg; Wayne Hoffman Farms, Dover; Farmers Bank and Trust Co, Hanover; Harold McFerren, Spring Grove; Peoples State Bank, East Berlin; Norwood "Mac" McGuigan, Felton.

Two Area Youth Named AIC Finalists

KNOXVILLE — Two Middle Atlantic area young adults were among 10 finalists in the American Institute of Cooperation Associate Youth Trustee competition here early this month.

Mike Heim of Felton, and Patricia Rupell of Washington, N.J., were finalists in the selection process, which took place at the National Institute on Cooperative Education.

Both students were participants in the 1986 Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Institute. This regional educational program focuses on how cooperatives fit into the agricultural business system. Heim was awarded the national trip by PAFC; Rupell's trip was sponsored by the New Jersey Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

More than 400 high school and college freshman students from across the nation attended NICE. Participants were divided into small groups; each group selected both a male and female candidate for the associate trusteeship.

In the interview process, candidates were judged on poise, leadership, cooperative knowledge, agricultural knowledge and presentation skills. Five young men and five young women were selected as finalists.

Associate trustees spend one year making public appearances on behalf of agricultural cooperatives, participating in AIC board meetings and refining leadership skills.

The PAFC Summer Institute is a joint effort between the trade association and the Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture.

Julia Pence Named W. Virginia Dairy Princess

BY DEBBIE STILES-RENZI
West Virginia Correspondent

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. — In ceremonies closing the 45th Annual West Virginia Dairy Cattle Show and Festival Aug., 14, Julia Pence of Greenbrier County was selected 1986-87 West Virginia Dairy Princess.

The daughter of Ronnie and Barbara Pence, Julia lives on the family farm, a 350-acre operation with a milking herd of 100 Holsteins. She takes an active role in the family business by registering all heifer calves on the farm. She owns 11 cows.

Since she was 9 years old, Julia has been a member of the Greenbrier County dairy judging team, where she placed as top senior individual in 1983. She was awarded the FFA state farmer degree in 1985 and received the Greenbrier County 4-H Dairy Achievement Award in 1983.

As a member of the West Virginia Junior Holstein Association, a Concord College student in Athens, W. Va., and now the newly-crowned state dairy princess, Julia looks forward to a very busy year.

Helping Julia with her dairy promotions will be Margie Minch of Ohio County, who was selected runner-up and Dairy Maid.

Julia was one of six contestants competing for the Dairy Princess title, which was held this past year by Loretta Bane of Jefferson County.

Candidates for the position were judged on poise, natural beauty and knowledge of the industry they wish to promote. During a luncheon Thursday, the contestants, ranging in age from 16 to 21, met with the judges and the press. At the luncheon, candidates spoke informally about their goals.

"I plan to pursue a career in dairy husbandry," related Susan Hickey, a princess candidate from Marshall County. The 16-year-old John Marshal High School junior hopes to attend Virginia Tech when she graduates and later farm on her own. "I want to farm," she says firmly.

Staying in the dairy industry, in the production end of the industry particularly, is an ambition most of the young contestants share.

One is already farming. Brenda Chaplin, 1985 runnerup and a candidate this year, has been working on her family's farm fulltime since graduation from high school in 1985. Brenda and her family are now in the process of expanding their operation to include another farm and 20 more cows.

Personal interviews with the judges and evening gown competition were two of the criteria used to judge the contestants. For the final test, each contestant was required to answer a question about the dairy industry in front of the audience assembled Thursday night for the "Parade of Champions" and awards presentations.

Emcee Marion Miller of Roanoke, Va., asked Julia about the importance of cooperatives.

After explaining the function of co-ops briefly, Julia concluded by saying, "Co-ops help...by keeping prices...stable." Her answer won the nod of judges and a few minutes later Julia was introduced as the new West Virginia Dairy Princess.

At the luncheon earlier in the day, 1985-86 Dairy Princess Loretta Bane outlined some of her many activities of the past year. She presented each of this year's six contestants and her chaperone, Norman Payne, a West Virginia Department of Agriculture employee, with gifts.

Judges for this year's pageant were Paige "Pepper" Armacost, a graduate of Brandywine College and modeling school who lives on a dairy farm; Mrs. Charlotte Hill, wife of the secretary of the National Holstein Association; and Fred H. Scott, assistant general manager of The Valley of Virginia Co-operative Milk Producers Association.

Contestants in the West Virginia Dairy Princess Contest were, from left, Margie Minch, Ohio County; Susan Hickey, Marshall County; Brenda Chaplin, Marshall County; 1985-86 Dairy Princess Loretta Bane, Jefferson County; Robin Wilson, Greenbrier County; Julia Pence, Greenbrier County; and Dawn Banks, Jefferson County.

Gregory, Nestleroth Selected Lancaster County Outstanding 4-H'ers

BY SALLY BAIR
Lancaster Co. Correspondent

MANHEIM — It was a night of recognition of the efforts of Lancaster County's 4-H'ers, paying tribute to the hard work they put in over the last year. Last Thursday's Achievement Night was the highlight of the new two-day 4-H Fair held this year for the first time at the Manheim Fair Grounds.

Sallie Gregory and Stacy Nestleroth received the highest honor for a 4-H'er in Lancaster County by being named the Outstanding 4-H'ers. Both girls have been involved in various 4-H projects since they were 8 years old.

Other finalists in the competition were Laura McLean, Garden Spot Community Club; Eric Rotenberry, Exchange Club and Penn Willow Community Club; Tammy Long, Boots and Saddles Horse Club and Tricia Musser, Woolies Club. All six 4-H'ers were interviewed privately by the judges, and gave a short talk at Achievement Night.

Sallie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregory, 28th Division Highway, Lititz, and Stacy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nestleroth, Manheim R1.

A 4-H'er for nine years, Sallie is a member of the Boots and Saddles 4-H Club, the Exchange Club and the Clay 4-H Cooking Club. She has been a member of the county horse judging team for three years, participated in State Days, and attended 4-H Leadership Congress for four years. She has been to two teen leader retreats and attended 4-H Capitol Days in Harrisburg.

About her new title she says, "I was really surprised. I was really proud. I had dropped out of marching band to really work toward it." She said she looks forward to promoting 4-H more, adding, "I hope to keep older 4-H'ers involved. It is a real learning experience. I got to make so many friends." For Sallie 4-H is something she could hardly wait to join, since she often attended meetings with her three older sisters.

Like Sallie, Stacy says she was "counting the years" until she was old enough to join 4-H, because her mother was a 4-H leader when she was little. Stacy is a member of the Elm-Penryn Community Club and the Exchange Club. She has taken projects in pet care, veterinary science, taught an cooking club and did a project on the "stress connection."

Stacy attended Leadership Congress for two years, was on the Consumerama judging team which placed second last year and first this year at State Days, and attended Capitol Days in Harrisburg. She would like to return to Leadership Congress as a part of the Leadership Council and will help plan next year's Capitol Days event.

She says, "Sallie and I really want to make a difference as we tell about 4-H. This is something I was working toward. I really admired those who received the award before."

Although she says 4-H has benefitted her in many ways, Stacy notes, "I was really shy when I was younger. It has made me a lot more confident, and I have tried things I wouldn't have otherwise."

Next highest honor in the county is to be selected for the 4-H Honor Roll. Those selected will have their names inscribed on a permanent plaque at the Farm and Home Center, and will receive a 4-H jacket. Recipients are chosen on the basis of their participation on a local, county, regional and statewide basis and on their leadership ability.

In addition to Sallie Gregory and Stacy Nestleroth, other senior honor roll winners were: Linda Bentrem, Mastersonville Community and Elizabethtown Pig and Rabbit Club; Stacey Goss, Penn Willow Club; Tina Mowrer, Mountville 4-H Club and Exchange Club; and Lorri Rutt, Solanco Community Club.

Junior Honor Roll winners were; Seth Bair, Mountville Community and Silver Springs Chefs; Lisa Bentrem, Mastersonville and Elizabethtown Pig and Rabbit Club; Marcia Dehmey, Mount Joy Community; and Diane Musser, Red Rose Beef and Woolies Clubs.

In the talent show, the top winner was 12-year-old Mike Mylin of the Penn Manor Community Club who did a humorous recitation. Second and third places went to two vocalists. Lorri Rutt, Solanco Community Club, was second, and Anne Vath, Boots and Saddles Club, was third. The winners received $12, $7 and $6 respectively, contributed by the Lancaster County Society of Farm Women. Tricia and Tara Bare, both of the Conestoga Valley Club, were also finalists in the talent competition.

With the new location for the 4-H Fair, there was added competition among the clubs in a volleyball tournament. First place winner was the Boots and Saddles Club, which won a plaque.

Club exhibits were also expanded because of the extra space and winners split $100 in prize money. First place went to Saddle and Cinches 4-H Club; second went to Penn Willow; and third went to Boots and Saddles Club.

Garden Spot and Boots and Saddles each were recognized for their outstanding 4-H Club scrapbook.

Farm Women Society #19 presented monetary awards to the outstanding 4-H'ers in clothing and foods. Lavina Musser, president, gave the clothing award to Lucinda Harnish and the food award to Debra Bentrem.

A new award presented by Farm Women Society #24 was given to the two best skirts exhibited at the Fair. Sharon Lefever and Becky Badger, both of the New Holland Community Club, received that award.

Each year the Lancaster County Bankers Association gives scholarships to qualified 4-H'ers who are attending college. This year's scholarships, presented by George Lewis, go to Deb Bentrem, Nicolette Miller, Mastersonville Community and Red Rose Beef; Jay Reiff, Elm-Penryn; and Juan Figueroa, City Teens.

Zoann Parker, Lancaster County 4-H agent who engineered the two-day 4-H Fair at the Manheim Fair Grounds, announced that the first ever 4-H benefit auction held Thursday afternoon netted $3,323. Donated items ranged from quilts to dolls to teddy bears to half gallons of ice cream and Zoann expressed deep appreciation both to the donors and to the bidders. She said the proceeds will be used to keep down the cost of participation in countywide programs.

Kenneth Brubaker, former 4-H'er, served as auctioneer and kept the bidding spirited.

Parker also thanked the 4-H'ers for their response to the request for donations of hay to drought-stricken farmers in Asheboro, North Carolina. Lancaster County 4-H'ers visited that county in an exchange in 1983. Local 4-H'ers donated 18 tons of hay, which is one trainload, to be shipped. Zoann said she expects to make another plea in January to help the North Carolinians.

Special recognition was given to Maritza Mayorga, a 4-H exchange student from Costa Rica who spent the summer with Penn Manor 4-H Leader Dorothy Charles.

In other recognition, Zoann announced the winners of the blue form achievement programs. Juan Figueroa was a national winner in personal development in the foods and nutrition program.

County blue form winners included Deb Bentrem, foods and nutrition; Cindy Harnish, clothing; Joy Layton, cooking; Stacy Nestleroth, leadership; Jay Reiff, beef; Vicky Creighton, horse; and Stacey Goss, achievement.

the Appalachian Audubon Society gave an award to the project which was "closest to their clause." It was given to Matthew Hess of the Penn Manor Community Club for the bird house he made in the wood science project.

Lewis Tops Showmanship Contest

MANHEIM — As part of the expanded 4-H Fair held at Manheim Fair Grounds last week, the Woolies Club held a showmanship contest.

Leader Sarah Fleener said the contest gave first-year members a good opportunity to practice their showing skills without a large audience, and allowed older members to get ready for the upcoming fair season.

Held on Thursday morning, the event also gave some non-rural 4-H'ers the opportunity to see sheep being shown and got some 4-H'ers with only sheep projects to the Fair to see the wide range of other projects.

Sarah said, "I was really surprised with the crowd we had. It was not just 4-H sheep families."

Champion showmanship award went to veteran showman Ellen Lewis, Mount Joy. Reserve champion was Phil Yeagley, Elizabethtown. Lewis and Yeagley were also winners in the senior division.

Intermediate Division winners were: 1. Mark Tracy, Elizabethtown; and 2. Andrea Mylin, Manheim.

Junior Division winners were: 1. Aaron Groff, Elizabethtown; and 2. Lyndon Reiff, Strasburg.

About 30 4-H'ers participated in the event.

Women In Ag Seminar Set For Sept. 18

UNIVERSITY PARK — Professionals and practioniers are invited to take part in the third annual Women in Agriculture Seminar at the Villa Leo Quality Inn in Harrisburg, Thursday, Sept. 18.

"Agriculture is in such a state of transition that women involved in program planning and policy making, and women who are practicing farmers, need to share their concerns, priorities and ways they meet today's challenges," says Audrey Maretzki, one of the program speakers. She is a professor of food science at Penn State and assistant director of family living programs for the Cooperative Extension Service.

The program includes sessions on estate planning, "Legal Tips for Farm Women," presented by Jane Alexander; "Political Activity" or how to get involved in politics, presented by Barbara Woods; and Handling Stress, presented by Nancy Summers.

Afternoon sessions include Farm Credit with Susan Hoyt and re-entry into the job market with Kay Townes. Audrey Maretzki and Gretchen Cornwell, acting director of the Center for Rural Women at Penn State, will discuss the Center and rural support groups.

"The seminar is open to anyone who would like to come," says Jamie Nikoloff, chief, economic division of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. She has worked with members and staff of a number of other agricultural organizations to plan the event.

"Last year we had a very diverse group of women from all over the state. We were able to discuss the future of agriculture in Pennsylvania and our roles as women in that future. We are expecting about a hundred to attend this year," says Nikoloff.

Registration is open until September 5. There is a $15 fee, which includes lunch. The program begins at 9:30 a.m. and continues until 3 p.m. Contact Jamie M. Nikoloff at the Bureau of Marketing Development (717) 783-8460 for a registration form.

Co-sponsors and participants include: the state office of the American Soil Conservation Service, the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, the Pennsylvania Farmers Union, the Pennsylvania Rural Development Committee, the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women, the Pennsylvania State Grange, Penn's Agri-Women, York Farm Credit, the Pennsylvania Rural Development Committee and The Pennsylvania State University college of agriculture.

Wheat Bound For Egypt

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng recently announced an additional opportunity for U.S. wheat sales to Egypt under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Export Enhancement Program.

Lyng said this initiative will give U.S. exporters the opportunity to sell an additional 52,000 metric tons of wheat. The export sales will be subsidized with commodities from the inventory of the Commodity Credit Corporation. The subsidy will enable U.S. exporters to compete at commercial prices in the Egyptian market in response to future tenders for wheat.

More than 1.2 million tons have already been purchased under previous wheat initiatives to Egypt.

Invitations for offers from exporters will be issued in the near future.

Abundant, High-Quality Horticulture Entries Expected At York Fair

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK — While summer's hot, dry growing season may have hastened ripening dates on locally produced fruits and vegetables, the lingering drought conditions have failed to wilt the enthusiasm of area growers who exhibit at the York Fair.

Don Lanius, manager of the York Fair's horticulture department, anticipates the usual abundant and high-quality entries that annually turn the cavernous Horticulture hall into an overflowing cornucopia of harvest. The York Fair runs this year from Friday, Sept. 5, through Saturday, Sept. 13.

An unusual, giant orange zucchini, displayed by Norma Jean Harding, heads up the list of vegetable and fruit entries from the S. K. Harding Orchard to the York Fair.

Among the perpetual crowd favorites are the "giant" classes, including awards for the largest pumpkin, watermelon, squash, and cabbage, and the heaviest potato.

Veteran York Fair produce exhibitor Carl Harding, of S.K. Harding and Son Orchard, is already casting a critical eye on every variety of produce coming in from the 40 acres of vegetable crops and fruit trees.

The Hardings have exhibited produce at the fair for 40 years, ever since Carl's father, S.K. Harding, pioneered the family's orchard business at Red Lion R2. As last year's York Fair drew to a close, the Red Lion retail marketers collected a total of 26 ribbons for entries representing the orchard's diverse commodities.

Selecting the entries is a time consuming process, requiring plenty of discerning picking and discarding, in search of the most perfect specimens of each variety.

"It takes about a day to pick, and then another day to make the selections. What we look for are the nicest, most uniform specimens, not necessarily the largest, but as much the same size as possible," explains Norman Jean Harding.

"We look forward to the fair every year," she says, adding with a chuckle, "But it's a lot of work."

The Hardings generally evert several varieties of apples and pears, plums, late peaches, squash, Indian corn, and, their specialty, pumpkins. While each year brings new hopes, their 24-pound pumpkin that dazzled the judges and claimed the first-place honors in 1967 still remains one of their most memorable entries.

One of Harding's possibilities for this year looks like a pumpkin - but isn't. A "freakish" zucchini turned up recently in the squash patch, ripening to a pumpkin-orange color, and measuring in at about 18 inches long and a diameter of about 8 inches.

Horticulture entries at the York Fair are open to all growers, both commercial and home gardeners. Entries must be made at Horticulture Hall at the following times: Tuesday, Sept. 2, and Wednesday, Sept. 3, from 1 to 9 p.m., and Thursday, Sept. 4, 9 a.m. through 6 p.m.

For additional information, contact the York Inter-State Fair office, 334 Carlisle Avenue, York 17404, or call 717-848-2596.

Pierce Wins State Horse Judging Contest

LEBANON — Sheri Pierce, Newmanstown, was named high individual in the State 4-H Horse Judging Contest held recently at State 4-H Achievement Days at Penn State University.

In the horse judging contest, 4-H'ers judge horses based on both performance and conformation. The 4-H'er then explains her judgement through oral reasons to contest officials.

Thirty-two teams participated in the state contest. Sheri and fellow team members, Stacey Horney and Jennifer Daullary, earned a sixth place team rank. The Lebanon County horse judging team is coached by 4-H leader, Charity Vragovich.

Active in the 4-H horse program for the past 12 years, Sheri is currently president of the Equestrians 4-H Club and a past president of the Lebanon County Teen Council. Sheri will be participating during October in five classes at the State 4-H Performance Horse Show with her horse, Dude's Rusty Que, and the State Production Horse Show with her weanling colt.

Boody Shows Champion Market Hog At Delaware County 4-H Fair

MEDIA — Sun Refining and Marketing Company of Marcus Hook was the high bidder on the champion market hog at the Delaware County 4-H Fair, held recently at Rose Tree County Park. Chris Boody of Newtown Square showed his 210-pound crossbred gilt to the championship spot in the morning competition.

Sun bought his pig for $400 at the auction in the afternoon. Wallace Umberger of Middletown Township, an employee of Sun, represented the company as the buyer at the auction. His son, Chris Umberger, had the reserve champion with his 210-pound Duroc gilt, which sold to David Brunertti, owner of Lima Pharmacy, for $325.

Lisa Shifflett of Chester had the first place lightweight hog purchased by C. William Johnston, a Harverford tree surgeon. Jim Cox and Joyce Damask bought the first place heavyweight hog owned by Stephen Harman of Middletown Township.

Chris Umberger won the junior showmanship trophy, with Chris Boody getting the reserve champion in junior showmanship judging. Champion and reserve champion senior showmanship honors went to Mark Umberger and David Trumbull, both of Middletown Township.

The judge for the market hog show was Bill MacCauley, formerly from Newtown Square. He also served as auctioneer for the sale. MacCauley is a former 4-H member, a student majoring in livestock production in the College of Agriculture at Penn State and raises Suffolk sheep with his parents at Atglen.

Delmarva Poultry Managers To Meet

NEWARK, Del. — The 1986 Delmarva Broiler Housing and Flock Supervisors' Conference will take place Sept. 17 at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center in Salisbury, Md. The event is sponsored by the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., in cooperation with the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland.

Doors will open at 7:15 a.m. for registration, coffee and donuts, and exhibits. The first session, beginning at 8:15 a.m., will feature poultry respiratory infections, pressure housing and dead bird disposal. The second session from 10:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. will cover litter management and practical approaches to Mycotoxins.

After a lunch break, afternoon speakers will offer advice on biosecurity and grower's concerns; and preparing for hurricanes, snow and ice storms. The final sessions will begin at 3:45 p.m. and cover livehaul procedures — from feed withdrawal to processing plant, and the do's and don'ts of cleaning and disinfecting.

Deadline for registration is Sept. 5. The $20 registration fee covers lunch, a copy of the proceedings, and coffee and donuts. Six-foot-wide exhibit spaces are available for $35 each. For further information and to register contact Delaware extension poultry specialist George Chaloupka at (302) 856-7303.

Microwave Veggies

BY SUZANNE KEENE

ROCK SPRINGS — Microwave ovens have become a welcome addition to the kitchen for 80 percent of all families, but many homemakers don't take full advantage of these fast-cooking ovens.

To help farm women use their microwave ovens more efficiently, Cambria County extension home economist Kathryn Hostetler offered a few tips on microwaving vegetables in a mini-lecture. Hostetler spoke to a full house of interested homemakers during Ag Progress Days, an annual agricultural fair held recently at Rock Springs.

"If you're not cooking all your vegetables in the microwave, you're missing a great opportunity," Hostetler said. "Foods from the vegetable group are excellent in the microwave."

To illustrate her point, Hostetler prepared a fresh vegetable platter while she discussed the advantages of microwaving veggies instead of boiling them on the stovetop.

Vegetables prepared in the microwave require little water for cooking and retain more of the vital nutrients they provide, she said. They also maintain their shape, texture and color better.

To prepare her Fresh Vegetable Medley, Hostetler placed cauliflower and broccoli divided into flowerets in the center of a large round glass dish. Then she arranged sliced carrots around these, and finally placed sliced fresh mushrooms around the outside of the container.

More dense vegetables should go on the outside of the container, she explained, because they receive energy, which cooks the food, from more angles than food placed in the center.

When the vegetables were arranged in the dish, she sprinkled 2 tablespoons of water over them and covered them tightly with plastic wrap to create a cooking environment similar to a tightly-lidded pot.

Hostetler cooked the vegetables in the microwave on high power for six minutes, stopping the oven after three minutes to rotate the pan a quarter turn for more even cooking.

All microwaves, she explained, have a "hot spot" where food cooks the fastest, and it is important for homemakers to know that location. To find the hot spot, she said, place nine marshmallows on waxed paper, spaced a few inches apart, set the microwave for 1 minute and watch the marshmallows as they begin to melt.

If you can't look into your oven while it's running, stop it after 20 seconds, and then continue cooking if necessary. The place where the marshmallows begin to melt first is your oven's hot spot, Hostetler explained.

"It's important to know where it is and to use it efficiently," she said.

To find the hot spot in ovens with a built in carousel, put marshmallows in a row in the center of the carousel on waxed paper and observe.

To complete her vegetable medley, Hostetler topped the cooked veggies with a quarter cup of melted butter mixed with garlic and salt.

While preparing the butter mixture in the microwave, Hostetler allowed the vegetables to "stand." Standing time is important, she said, because food molecules continue to vibrate and cook the food after it is removed from the oven.

If the veggies are cooked too long, they will become mushy and lose some of their flavor. They must be removed while tender crisp for best results.

Lehigh County 4-H Market Hog Championship Goes To First-Year Member

ALLENTOWN — Twenty-seven Lehigh County 4-H Swine Club members showed and sold 90 market hogs at Quakertown Livestock Market Aug. 20.

Jack Mosser, a first-year member from New Tripoli, exhibited the 220-pound grand champion, which sold to Hatfield Packing Company, Hatfield, for $3.40 per pound.

Benjamin Lazarus, Germansville, showed the reserve grand champion, which weighed 245 pounds and sold to Leidy, Inc., Souderton, for $2.80 per pound.

The remaining weight division champions were exhibited by the following members: Sheri Lazarus, Germansville, lightweight; Mary McCauley, New Tripoli, reserve lightweight; Amanda Gruber, New Tripoli, reserve middleweight; Mark Lazarus, Germansville, reserve heavyweight.

The average prices received for the sale animals were 80 cents (with the champions) and 73 cents (without the champions).

Ken Winebark, Lebanon County agricultural agent from Myerstown, was the show judge. Joe Matzo, of Quakertown Livestock Market, provided show and sale facilities. James Mohr, Milford Square, was the auctioneer.

The reserve champion honors went to Benjamin Lazarus of Germansville. Tom Leidy of Leidy, Inc., purchased the reserve.

Forest Service May Have Good News For Poison Ivy Sufferers

WASHINGTON — That age-old summertime curse – poison ivy – may soon be a thing of the past, thanks to a new product developed by researchers at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service.

Called Ivy-Block, the product is the result of five years of research to find a solution to one of the most troublesome health problems encountered by many, and in particular by Forest Service employees.

"What we did was come up with a way to prevent poison ivy, not cure it," said Jerry Oltman, the forester who headed the research effort. "We concentrated on finding some way to prevent urushiol, the substance in poison ivy sap that causes the rash, from contacting the skin."

Initial testing of Ivy Block has been so successful that the product may be made available to the public. If it is, millions of Americans will at last be able to find relief from poison ivy, one of Mother Nature's most annoying creations.

With a few exceptions, cheese can be frozen if properly stored. Low moisture Cheddar, Gouda, Brick and Parmesan are less affected by freezing than such high moisture varieties as cottage, cream and Neufchatel cheeses. These do not freeze well as they tend to become watery and mealy. To prevent cheese from drying out, it should be frozen in its original wrapped or sealed in freezer wrap, heavy-duty foil or plastic bags. In addition, each piece should be no more than one-inch thick, or weigh more than one pound. When ready to use, thaw cheese slowly in the refrigerator; and use as quickly as possible Note that small amounts of Blue, Roquefort and Gorgonzola cheeses can be frozen but may become crumbly when defrosted. They are suitable, however, for use in salads or salad dressing.

Farm Women

Lancaster Society 14

Members of Lancaster Society 14 met Aug. 13 at the home of president Nora Herr. Co-hostesses were Elma Barge, Mildred Herr and Viola Hostetter.

Mrs. John Metzler spoke about mailboxes and illustrated her presentation with slides of mailboxes from eastern Canada, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Lancaster County. Various mailboxes shown were supported by farm implements, tools, animals, pot-bellied stoves, tire rims, airplanes and other items.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 10 at noon at the home of Caroline Stoltzfus. The program will be the annual fall auction of vegetables, plants and baked goods. Items made from Pennsylvania's natural materials will also be judged.

Lancaster County Farm Women will celebrate State Farm Women Day on Oct. 14 with a brunch at Willow Valley Restaurant at 9:30 a.m.

Lancaster Society 22

Bidding was spirited at the August meeting of Farm Women Society 22 as members auctioned a wide variety of fresh produce and baked goods. Money raised from the sale will be used for community service.

The meeting was held at the home of Eleanor Rudy with Margaret Lefever serving as co-hostess. It was announced that sales of cookbooks have been good through the summer months. Plans were made for the next monthly meeting to be held Sept. 9 at the home of Alma Rohrer. The program will be presented by The House of His Creation.

Lancaster Society 34

Members of Lancaster Society 34 met this month in the home of Joan Wimer. Gayle Hershberger was co-hostess.

Mrs. Diana Towell from Hospice gave a presentation.

The group will not meet in September but will be entertained by Society 2 at the Farm and Home Center Sept. 13.

The next meeting will be Oct. 20 at the home of Debbie Kreider with Sue Rutt as co-hostess. The group will elect new officers at that meeting. The program will be on health and safety.

York Society 7

Members of York Society 7 met this month at the Starview Sportsmen Club for a picnic.

The group has nominated Anna Zinn and Donna Hoover for secretary and treasurer. Thank you notes were read.

The group gave groceries to the food pantry at church to give to needy families. Viola Druck celebrated her birthday.

The next meeting will be a tour and lunch at the Emig Mansion in Emigsville. Members are asked to arive at 12:15 on Sept. 10.

Berks Society 6

Members of Berks Society 6 met recently in the home of Mrs. Nora Schweitzer. A representative from Schoenley's greenhouse demonstrated flower arranging using dried, silk and fresh flowers. All members present received a plant as a gift.

Society member Mrs. Ronald Kelchner recently had a baby boy. Some members made meals to share with her and her family for a few days.

Members and their families enjoyed a picnic at Ha-Penny Farm in July.

Green Valley Society 26

The September meeting will be at the home of Carolyn Bailey, River Road, York Haven.

FWS Calendar

Tuesday, September 2
Lancaster Society 35 meets at 7:30 p.m. for a safety program.
Lancaster Society 23 meets at 7:30 p.m. to elect officers.

Thursday, September 4
Lancaster Society 20 meets for a show and tell program.
Lancaster Society 17 meets for a book review by Sherri Eshelman.

Saturday, September 6
Lancaster Society 6 meets at the home of Martha Eshleman for a program on osteoporosis.
Lancaster Society 10 meets in Refton for a "Hats on Display" program.
Lancaster Society 15 takes a cruise aboard the "Spirit of Philadelphia."

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

On a recent morning my youngest daughter and I set out for Atlantic City on a bus. We were surprised to see that it was only half full. There were few traffic holdups and we arrived in about three hours. The view from the Walt Whitman bridge is really spectacular.

Some of the boardwalk was being replaced and it was interesting to see the workmen using air hammers. There are no longer numerous bathhouses available as there were when I visited there as a child.

My great aunt took her nieces to the shore where the "Grocer's Picnic" was held each summer. We got a train in Lancaster and I remember that one year I won a box of groceries. This trip was a highlight of our summer vacation.

Now, the boardwalk has casinos built almost one against the other for blocks. They are quite modern structures and very elaborately decorated inside. Most of them are jammed with people playing the machines.

We walked and walked until I became tired and shared a bench with a woman from New York City. She told me that her husband came along just to please her. But she said, "They are no fun when they do that and next time I'll come without him." Now I found that statement rather thought provoking. She did not say she would stay home but rather that she would let him at home. The years do change our thinking and feeling of independence.

We had pizza for lunch at a table overlooking the ocean and the beach. Then before we boarded the bus for home, we enjoyed Chinese food in a nice restaurant resembling the outdoor cafes that I enjoyed in Paris. The weather was absolutely perfect for our day's vacation.

Pa. Extension Agents Receive National Service, Achievement Awards

UNIVERSITY PARK — The National Association of County Agricultural Agents recently presented several Pennsylvania extension agents with distinguished service and achievement awards. The winners are:

- Harold R. Ott, a senior extension agent and regional 4-H program leader for the Cooperative Extension Service, received a distinguished service award.

Since taking over the regional position in December 1979, Ott has worked in program and leadership development in the 17 western Pennsylvania counties.

In addition, he has worked to increase older enrollment in 4-H by providing relevant programming such as a weekend retreat dealing with securing a job, establishing credit and selecting training beyond high school. As a result of his efforts, the percentage of youth in 4-H who are age 16 or older has risen from 4.8 percent of total membership to 6.4 percent.

He has also worked extensively with 4-H day camp, helped develop a citizenship retreat, established the horse bowl program in Erie County and conducted a pre-teen citizenship program.

On the staff of the Extension Service for 22 years, Ott attended Penn State University, earning a bachelor's degree in animal science in 1963 and a master's in extension education in 1972.

- William H. Lazar, Venango County extension director, received a distinguished service award.

Lazar joined the Cooperative Extension Service as an assistant agent in Lehigh County in 1953 before joining the U.S. Army Medical Corps later that year. He began working in the Venango County Extension office in 1955.

He is responsible for programs in community development, home and commercial horticulture, agriculture organizations and the 4-H horse program. Lazar worked to establish the Venango County Extension Center and 4-H Fairgrounds, which at present includes 13 buildings, 40 acres, one indoor arena and one outdoor arena. Lazar advises a board of 15 volunteers who direct the center.

Lazar has also worked to develop volunteer leadership for extension programs, and he was instrumental in beginning the Venango County Fair. He has also conducted workshops on energy conservation, woodburning stove safety, recycling, and building solar water heaters.

Lazar graduated from Penn State in 1953 with a bachelor's degree in animal husbandry.

- Paul N. Reber, associate extension agent in Montgomery County, has received a distinguished service award.

Because Montgomery County is located in a largely suburban area, Reber realized the need to provide horticultural information to businesses and private landowners. He has coordinated county and regional programs on managerial skills in horticultural business for garden center operators and employees, arborists, turfgrass consultants, nurserymen, greenhouse and vegetable growers.

He has made the Extension Service highly visible to the public through county and regional newsletters, live radio programs, television shows and community educational programs. He has helped plan and construct an annual horticultural exhibit at the Philadelphia Flower Show, which reaches an audience of about 195,000 people each year

Reber has also worked to recruit new 4-H leaders, and the county has one of the larger youth enrollments in model rocketry, entomology and wildlife projects in the state.

On the staff of the Cooperative Extension Service for 29 yers, Reber graduated from Penn State in 1957 with a bachelor's degree in ornamental horticulture.

- Carol J. Schurman, associate 4-H agent in Indiana County, has received an Achievement Award.

The award is given to an agent with less than 10 years of service who has developed and carried out an effective program for the Cooperative Extension Service.

Ward Stover, Indiana County extension director, who nominated Schurman, said her major role has been to expand the county 4-H program. "Since she started working in the county in 1977, 4-H enrollment has increased from 590 members to a high of 940 members, an increase of 60 percent," he said,

Her major programs include 4-H leader training and development, 4-H communications arts-demonstrations, the 4-H horse program, 4-H publicity and awareness, teen development, 4-H officer training night and a 4-H embryology program which can be adapted to school curriculums.

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant Planned For Sept. 20

CLARION — The 1986 Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess Pageant will be held Saturday evening, Sept. 20 at the Harrisburg Marriott. A milk punch reception will begin at 5:30 p.m., followed by a banquet at 6:30 and the pageant.

Thirty-eight county dairy princesses will compete for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, now held by Elizabeth Amy Heald of Centre County. The newly selected princess will reign for a year beginning that evening. During that year she will represent Pennsylvania dairy farmers by speaking out for milk and all dairy products.

The pageant, which has been moved from the traditional Tuesday evening of All-American week to the preceding Saturday, will end two full days of activities and interviews for the contestants. Four judges, all from out of state, will select a winner and a first and second alternate from seven finalists.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program is supported by Pennsylvania Dairy Farmers through their various advertising and promotion agencies; American Dairy Association/Dairy Council, Inc., Mid-Atlantic Milk Marketing Agency, Federal Order 36, and the Pennsylvania Milk Promotion Program as well as the Department of Agriculture and other dairy related organizations.

This year, because of a grant from Sire Power, Inc., and several anonymous individuals, the awards to the winners will increase. The Pennsylvania dairy princess will receive $1,200 and her alternates will receive $500 and $400 respectively.

In addition, three girls will receive $100 awards for outstanding original dairy promotion presentations and two will receive $50 awards for compiling scrapbooks which chronicle their dairy princess activities.

Contestants will perform their presentations for the judges at 8 a.m. Saturday. The public is welcome to attend. Only the top three presentations will be given in the evening.

All contestants will receive a two-day stay at the Marriott and an appropriate gift. The contestants themselves will select a "Miss Congeniality" from among their ranks.

The primary purpose of the dairy princess program in Pennsylvania is to promote the dairy industry and its products on the local level. Incentive Awards will again be given to the counties whose 1985-86 princess and committee completed the incentive requirements. This year, 29 of a possible 38 counties will receive recognition.

In addition, an individual award of $300 will be given to the one young woman who accomplished the greatest number of promotion appearances during her county reign. The award, given for the first time last year, will be entitled the "Tina Shultz Memorial Award" in memory and honor of the young lady who in May 1986 succumbed to cancer during her reign as Huntingdon County Dairy Princess.

All interested persons are invited to attend the pageant. Tickets for the event are $14 per person and are available on a first come basis from Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc., 214 South Street, Box 640, Clarion, PA 16214. Phone: 814-226-7470.

MOPRO
THE PROFIT MAKER

MOPRO 100
LIQUID SILAGE FORTIFIER

has been used by progressive farmers for over 17 years. University tested and proven MOPRO Liquid Silage Fortifier is formulated to balance the major mineral and protein deficiencies of silages. It conserves dry matter by slowing down the heat of fermentation and also prevents loss from mold and rot after being removed from the silo or trench. MOPRO is added at the time of ensiling and is applied by metering equipment with very little handling cost. MOPRO will not corrode mild steel tanks or brass fittings and has no free ammonia odor to irritate the eyes or skin. MOPRO is a homogeneous solution of ammonia salts, urea, cane molasses, and minerals (except salt and calcium) in an efficient liquid carrier. It provides nitrogen for improved fermentation in the rumen and contains a mineral balance of phosphorous, magnesium, and trace elements including selenium. MOPRO 100 will give a resulting silage of up to 14.3% protein.

1986 Ephrata Fair

EPHRATA – The Ephrata Fair will celebrate its 68th year and will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 23 beginning at 7 p.m. continuing through Saturday, Sept. 27.

The Ephrata Fair was originally formed to honor the homecoming of World War I Veterans in 1918. Today it is under the sponsorship of the Ephrata Farmers Day Association and has grown to become the largest street fair in Pennsylvania and attracts over 200,000 people each year.

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 24, rain date, Thursday, Sept. 25, beginning at 7 p.m. the annual gigantic street parade will be held which attracts approximately 70,000 viewers and consists of many talented high school bands, a great variety of marching bands and special groups, plus a beautiful array of floats, and the presentation of the Miss Lancaster County Pageant contestants. The Central York High School Band which was the 1985 Honor Band, will be marching last and will climax the parade with a presentation in front of the reviewing stand located on Lake Street.

There will be various displays of needlecraft, models, and farm produce entered by exhibitors from Ephrata and surrounding communities throughout the week of the Fair. Included will be an art display along with the exhibits of baked goods, canned and dried foods, jellies, butters and jams, flowers, craft and photography – all of which will be on display at the Ephrata Pioneer Fire Hall banquet hall located on South State Street. Entries will be received on Monday, Sept. 22 between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. A bake sale will be conducted at 11 a.m.

Exhibits of 4-H clothing and various types of needlecraft will be located in the former Reading Company railroad station on East Main Street. The vegetables, fruits and nuts exhibits will be displayed in the tent located at the rear of the railroad station.

The agricultural portion and the foundation on which the Fair was originated is known as Tent City which is located in the Ephrata Community Park. Serving as temporary host to the baby beef, cattle and swine, sheep and grains, Tent City becomes the focal point of interest during the judging of the livestock. There is also an open class dairy show and a FFA-4-H sheep breeding division. Also on display to the public will be the exhibits of tobacco, grains and forage plus the mini-displays of youth groups.

Something new has been added to Tent City this year in the form of Family Fun Night. There will be contests held for egg throwing, bale throwing, water balloon throwing, big wheeler race, bag race and dressing up a calf.

Among other contests of skill at Tent City will be a tractor driving competition, garden tractor pulling, cow milking contest and the ever popular Pig Chase.

For the convenience of the public, there will be a shuttle bus provided free of charge to Tent City to and from the Ephrata Community Park on Tuesday, Sept. 23, Thursday, Sept. 25 and friday, Sept. 26, and will be located on the corner of West Franklin Street and South State Street.

The giant midway will provide a carnival spirit throughout the week, complete with rides for children and adults, concession stands, a variety of food, games of skill, and displays, with free entertainment provided on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, and will be located on North State Street and East Main Street.

On Thursday, between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m., the Ephrata Fair welcomes children of school age with a friendly clown on hand to greet the youngsters to the Fair. This day is designated as "Kiddies Day" when every child is given special reduced rates for rides, including such old favorites as the ferris wheel and the merry-go-round. In keeping with the festive spirit the Fair Association treats each child to a free popsicle and lollipops.

The traditional annual Baby Parade will be held on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27 beginning at 2 p.m. and consists of a colorful array of floats and costumes. The little competitors always add a delightful note to the afternoon.

The Miss Lancaster County Scholarship Pageant will climax the week's activities and will be held in the Ephrata High School Auditorium on Saturday evening, Sept. 27 at 8 p.m. This pageant is a forerunner to the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant wherein the contestants will compete in various categories including talent and poise.

The Ephrata Fair Premium Book containing all scheduled events for the week, will be distributed in rural areas as well as local areas and can also be obtained at various stores in Ephrata and surrounding towns.

Fertilize Pastures For Extra Feed

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – Spreading lime and fertilizer on existing pastures probably will produce more forage for beef and dairy cattle during late summer and fall than any emergency seeding program in a drought year like 1986.

That's the word from Lester R. Vough, Extension forage crops specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park. The procedure to follow depends on the type of pasture, Dr. Vough says.

If 40 to 50 percent, or more, of the existing vegetation consists of legumes like red clover and white clover, apply only potash and potassium. An application of lime might also be useful. No additional nitrogen is needed, since that is supplied by the legumes.

Always spread fertilizer and lime in accordance with soil test recommendations. If your pastureland hasn't been soil-tested within the past 12 months, get that job done as soon as possible.

You can obtain a free soil testing package from any county office of the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service. There is a $4 charge for each sample sent to the university's soil testing laboratory at College Park.

As soon as you receive the soil test recommendations, start spreading the fertilizer and lime. This will allow your pasture grasses to take advantage of any late-summer and early-fall rains.

For permanent pastures containing less than 40 to 50 percent legumes, apply nitrogen fertilizer right away—without waiting for a soil test. Use approximately 50 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre. Keep cattle off the pasture until the nitrogen has been dissolved by dew or rain. This will help to avoid nitrate poisoning problems.

"Immediate fertilization of non-legume pastures will give a boost to grass that has started to green up due to recent rains in a number of locations around the state," Vough said.

If you're short on permanent pasture and want to seed an annual grass for possible fall grazing, Vough suggests annual ryegrass.

Brassica crops for late fall livestock grazing also may be planted now. These crops include rape, kale, swedes and turnips.

Crops like sudangrass and sorghum-sudangrass hybrids are not recommended for seeding this late in the season because they produce Prussic-acid poisoning problems for livestock when hit by frost prior to maturity.

Hay Creek Valley Fall Festival

To Feature Early American Life

MORGANTOWN — The 11th annual Hay Creek Valley Fall Festival, to run Sept. 5, 6 and 7, will feature a recreation of life on an early American iron plantation. Festival activities take place daily at Historic Joanna Furnace near Morgantown.

Visitors will experience the lifestyle of an early American rural iron-making community including the foods, music, machinery and crafts then in existence. The festival will include one of the largest concentrations of working early American craftsmen in southeastern Pennsylvania. Visitors will also see hundreds of early 20th century gasoline engines as well as working steam engines, numerous contemporary craftsmen, antique dealers and musicians. Over 1,000 volunteers will paint a portrait of the iron furnace complete with working archaeologists.

Two Hay Creek Valley interpreters prepare ingredients for an open fire cooking demonstration. They are part of over 1,000 participants who will be recreating life on historic Joanna Furnace Plantation near Morgantown, during the Hay Creek Valley Fall Festival Sept. 5 to 7.

The event is sponsored by the Hay Creek Valley Historical Association, which is comprised of members from Berks, Montgomery, Chester and Lancaster counties. The 28-acre site is divided into five distinct theme areas with the 200-year-old furnace complex as the focal point.

The main goals of HCV are to research, restore and reconstruct the historically significant iron complex which operated from 1792 to 1897. HCV is a non-profit organization whose members donate their time and expertise to complete the restoration effort.

This year all visitors will park free at Manufacturers Outlet Mall at PA Route 10 and the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Morgantown. Free shuttle buses will run continuously from the MOM North Court directly to the festival grounds. On the return trip, visitors will be taken directly from the festival grounds to the MOM North Court.

There will be no visitor parking on the festival grounds! Admission to the festival is $2 for everyone over 12 years of age. Anyone wanting a festival brochure can write to HCV FALL FESTIVAL, Box 36N, Geigertown, PA 19523 or call 215-286-0388.

Tax Management Important With Business Vehicles

BY DR. LARRY C. JENKINS
Penn State University

UNIVERSITY PARK — Taxpayers who use a vehicle in their business have two options in deducting expenses related to use of the car or truck — the "actual expense" method and the "standard mileage rate" method.

Since each method may have merit for different taxpayers, taxpayers should evaluate each to see which offers the largest tax benefit.

The actual expense method involves deducting expenses for gas, oil, tires, repairs and insurance. In addition, the taxpayer may deduct cost of interest paid in financing the purchase of the vehicle as well as depreciation, license fees, parking costs and tolls.

The standard mileage method of deducting business vehicle expense involves a flat amount per mile of business travel. The rate of deduction is 21 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles of business travel if the vehicle is not fully depreciated. After the first 15,000 miles each year, the standard mileage rate method drops to 11 cents per mile. When the vehicle is fully depreciated, the deduction for all travel is at the 11 cents per mile rate.

Regardless of which method is selected, accurate records must be maintained. The records must show when use of the vehicle began, the tax "basis" of the vehicle, total and business miles driven and operating costs such as fuel and repairs. If the vehicle is leased, the lease costs must be included.

The "basis" of a business vehicle is the amount the taxpayer has a right to recover through depreciation or as a deduction against sale price upon sale of a vehicle. If a vehicle is purchased outright and used 100 percent as a business vehicle, basis is the cost. If an old vehicle is traded on a new one, basis is usually the adjusted basis of the old vehicle plus the difference paid in the trade.

When a vehicle is used partly for business and partly for personal purposes, a more complicated approach to calculation of basis is necessary. This involves determining gain or loss on the old vehicle and adjusting the cost of the new vehicle with that gain or loss.

A worksheet to use in making this computation is available from Farm Management Extension, 202 Armsby Building, The Pennsylvania State University.

The record-keeping requirement for business vehicles was debated extensively in spring 1985 when the concept of "contemporaneous" records was at issue. Congress reversed its initial stand and agreed to leave the record-keeping requirement as it was prior to 1985. While the pre-1985 rules do not require "contemporaneous" records, those rules do require that records be maintained and made available to the Internal Revenue Service in the event of audit.

LSA - 100®
(Liquid Silage Additive)

Advantages:
- 100% protein equivalent.
- Requires no specialized equipment.
- Creates no disagreeable odors to irritate your eyes and skin.
- Does not contain added salt or calcium.
- Will not corrode equipment.
- Needs no agitation at normal harvest weather conditions.

FOR BEEF & DAIRY

LSA-100 is a liquid silage additive designed to be added to corn silage at ensiling time to increase it's protein level, & balance minerals. LSA-100 contains 100% protein equivalent and high levels of essential minerals. When applied as directed, LSA-100 will convert your corn silage to a balanced complete feed.

Here's What LSA Users Have To Say:

"I rate LSA superior to other additives and preservatives because you get nutritional benefits in addition to preservation."

"With LSA I save $575 per month on my protein bill."

OH! OH!
The cows are falling.
How do you know?
Farmer Brown said so.

How do you know Farmer Brown?
I saw it with my eyes.
I heard it with my ears.
And there is less milk in the pail.
Let's go ask the wise old owl.
The owl thought for a moment.
"Call the Scabbler Man", he said.
"He can fix the barn for you, and You'll find more milk in the pail!"

SOLD OUT!!

I have never sold so much farm real estate in mid summer as this year and that is "great". However, that does leave me w/a real "need."

Presently I need several mid-sized dairy farms with 50 to 60 cow capacity. Anywhere from showplaces to regular one man operations.

Also Needed:
Up to 500 acres of decent crop soil for one buyer - nice buildings a plus but not a must.

If you have considered selling, give me a call for a free evaluation. I will give you my honest opinion of value & saleability.

Conservationists Discuss Benefits Of Manure, Sludge, Septage

BY SHARON SCHUSTER
Maryland Correspondent

HAGERSTOWN, Md. -- Manure is one of the most valuable, but often under-appreciated, byproducts a farm has, according to the Pennsylvania-Chesapeake Bay Water Quality Project. In a workshop session of the regional meeting of the National Association of Conservation Districts, panelists Paul Swartz of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Soil and Water Conservation, and Doug Goodlander, manager of the Lebanon County Conservation District, discussed the merits of nutrient management.

Goodlander presented the audience of conservationists with some startling figures. "In Lebanon County, 1.2 million tons of manure was produced in 1982," he reported. "Spread over the 97,000 acres of crop land, including alfalfa ground, that would be 13 tons to the acre, if it could be applied to every acre."

Swartz provided figures from the Northumberland district to support the claim. From a study of 84 fields on 19 livestock farms, Swartz said the total worth of over-applied nutrients was an average of $1982.68 per farm.

The message given to farmers was to use chemical fertilizers as a supplement to the manure that is so readily available. Swartz presented an overview of a computer program that helps a farmer determine the amount of manure to use so that it is environmentally safe and meets the crop needs. "Penn State is trying to make this program practical," said Swartz. "We're even changing the nomenclature to 'loads of manure' rather than tons."

"The starting point is the soil test, eliminating the amount of nutrients that will end up being residual in the soil," said Swartz. A plan is then developed upon the findings of the soil test. It is critical that the manure be tested as well. In 36 tests of liquid dairy manure, Goodlander reported that nitrogen levels ranged from 0.8 lbs./ton to 11.2 lbs./ton. Solid manure varied from 1.6 lbs./ton to 19.6 lbs./ton. He also stressed the importance of knowing how to pull a representative sample of stored manure. Because of its stratification, the solid top layer of cow manure may yield 8 lbs./ton of nitrogen, while the liquid layer at the bottom is 4 lbs./ton. Further considerations must be given to manure of other livestock, such as hogs, which yields in reverse proportions.

Goodlander added that it is also important to know how to calibrate a manure spreader. A manure spreader calibration worksheet is available from Penn State University's Cooperative Extension service.

In another workshop session entitled "Land Application of Sludge," a panel discussed methods safeguards, regulations and opposition of the application of sludge.

Dr. Ray Shipp of Penn State Extension Service said the agricultural use of sewage sludge is "quite extensive in Pennsylvania." He outlined the components of a good sludge management program as using low metal/low risk sludge; having acceptable soils and farmer/owner acceptance. He said a sludge analysis is available for $150.

Terry Miller, manager of the Bedford County conservation district, reported on a sludge usage as part of the reclaiming process of mined lands. Miller said that initially there was a lot of public opposition to the 10-acre demonstration project located at a recently reclaimed surface mine in Somerset County. After two years of observation and collecting samples, Miller said the consultation committee recommended the following practices: land management, record keeping, better erosion and sedimentation control, good mining practices, and involve the public in the decision-making process where land application of sludge is planned.

Jack Byrne, executive director of the Vermont Association of Conservation Districts reported on the activities of the Septage Management Improvement Group. "One of the biggest problems with septic disposal is that neighbors don't want it in their backyard," said Bryne. He suggested that regional facilities may be the answer to disposal of excess septage. "The public is less and less likely to accept land application, but at the same time, treatment plants are turning haulers away."

Basic questions about sludge were fielded by the panel. A concern arose about the testing of sludge. Shipp said that while not every load is tested, regular analyses are conducted for metal content and to determine whether it can be recycled safely and beneficially, by pulling a minimum of three composite samples for a period of a year. Application rates of sludge are based on nitrogen needs of the soil. A permit is required by the municipality or the hauler but not by the farmer who uses sludge. There is no permit required for the use of septage, which is the pumpings from septic tanks.

The solid waste management rules and regulations are enforced in Pennsylvania by the Department of Environmental Resources. In Pennsylvania, Shipp reported that sludge is not permitted to be applied to vegetable crops that can be eaten raw, or to tobacco, because it is a cadmium accumulator.

More information on land application of sludge and septage is available from Penn State University's Cooperative Extension Office, University Park.

Goat Champions Named At Westmoreland Fair

BY MARGIE FUSCO
Cambria Co. Correspondent

GREENSBURG — Goats are a growing business in Westmoreland County. Although goat shows are diminishing in many counties, in Westmoreland farmers have found a sizable ethnic market for their kids. The result is a good draw of goat show entries, including 4-H and FFA as well as open class animals.

In the 1986 market show, Cindy Hull took top honors with the champion and reserve champion neutered market goat in the 4-H/FFA show.

Study Shows Impact of Free Food Programs

WASHINGTON — Each 100 pounds of cheese donated under federal food assistance programs causes commercial cheese sales to decline by about 40 pounds, and each 100 pounds of butter donated causes margarine sales to decline by about 80 pounds, according to a report released recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

By law, USDA is required to study the effect of food distributions on commercial markets. Since cheese and butter account for 80 to 85 percent of the dollar value of food distributed, the study focused on those commodities.

Since 1982, $3.4 billion worth of food has been given to states for distribution to low-income families. Current annual distribution levels are:

Commodity	Quantity/Year (Million Lbs.)
Cheese	420
Butter	72
Nonfat Dry Milk	96
Wheat Flour	144
Cornmeal	48
Milled Rice	180
Honey	96

Based on the 40 percent rate of displacement found in cheese distributions, the USDA report concludes that approximately $230 million worth of additional cheese was purchased by the government under the Dairy Price Support Program because of the distributions. The Dairy Price Support Program requires USDA to purchase enough amounts of cheese and certain other dairy products necessary to keep milk prices up to a specified level.

Butter distributions cause reductions in margarine sales. According to the report, margarine sales decreased by about 95 million pounds because of butter distribution.

Assistant Sec. of Ag Tours PA Farms

BY HELEN KELCHNER
Columbia Co. Correspondent

BLOOMSBURG — Wilson Scaling, assistant U.S. secretary of agriculture and Chief of Soil Conservation, recently visited sites in Columbia and Northumberland Counties. The whirlwind tour was to view agricultural and conservation practices in Pennsylvania.

After a breakfast meeting in Bloomsburg with the Soil Conservation officials and the Columbia County Soil Conservation board, Scaling was taken to two area farms, both diversified operations and both strongly committed to conservation practices.

The first stop was Bloomsburg where Robert (Mike) Seesholtz and son John have 800 acres under cultivation — half of this is rented land. They grow 30 acres of strawberries, 275 snap beans, 30 carrots, 300 field corn, 55 wheat and a small amount of oats (acreage, approximates).

Mike's father, Samuel, began land conservation, in the form of strip farming, as early as the 1940s before his retirement in 1950. In recent years, the Seesholtzs have extended the contour stripping and added terracing and diversion ditches which involves about three-quarters of their land.

Observing the effects of a recent downpour, which dumped 4 inches of rain in an hour, Mike commented, "If it hadn't been for our terraces and ditches, our fields would be gullied." With the soil management in place, the runoff was minimal causing no damage or soil loss. Seesholtz is very pleased with the conservation plans worked out by SCS.

After a brief tour of the Seesholtz farm, Scaling was taken to the Paul LeVan Farms in Catawissa.

The LeVan farms are run by Paul's two sons, Ray and Dennis, and Terry Adams in a three-way partnership.

The LeVan land entered into the soil conservation program some years before Paul's retirement in 1980. Since then, they have concentrated on waterways and terracing. They have extended the contour stripping each year. The present LeVan farms involve 225 acres with an additional 425 acres rented in the entire operation.

They grow 150 acres of corn, 20 oats, 42 wheat, 30 hay, 85 snap beans, 75 sweet corn, 40 soybeans, 20 barley, 5 rye and this year, for the first, 100 in sunflowers. (Acreage approximates.)

They also raise 35 cow/calf beef cattle, 7,500 chickens and have at any one time about 100 feeder pigs from 20 sows.

The original part of the farm has been in the LeVan family nearly 150 years with four generations. Ray's son, recently graduated from college, helps on the farm, but intends to enter another line of work. Whether he returns to the farm as a fifth generation is yet to be seen.

In the years that Paul has lived on the farm, he has seen many changes and one of the most vital to the welfare of the whole business is the conservation practices set in motion by SCS. Sons, Ray and Dennis, along with partner Terry Adams have worked the land with and without the present soil management. According to Ray, the benefits have drastically reduced erosion. During the same heavy downpour experienced at the Seesholtz farm, LeVan said the runoff was carried safely out of the vast acreage with no damage.

One recently purchased 70 acre farm in the complex has only 35 tillable acres because of wetland. Over the next three years, drainage tile will be laid with sod waterways and terraces for long term reclaimation of the 35 idle acres.

Both Seesholtz and LeVan practice no-till to some extent which also lessens soil loss.

Scaling was impressed by both the Seesholtz and LeVan diversification. He stressed the importance of not "putting your eggs all in one basket." He added that to make it in farming, diversification provides a "cushion" if one crop should fail — or it can provide added income to an already established farming operation.

The assistant secretary acknowledged that some farms are going to fail. "That's sad for anyone," he added. But, he went on to explain, that farming is no different than any other business or industry that is forced to close. For those who are "making it" or are having trouble hanging on, he strongly suggests exploring diversification.

Scaling is a Texas rancher raising 1,000 Herefords on 18,000 acres. He is well aware of the variables that make or break a farming business. Besides raising grain he also jokingly explained that he allows a fairly large area of his land to "grow up" unattended.

Game birds inhabit this untamed acreage and he rents out the land to sportsman at $2 an acre. He admits it's the easiest money he ever made. He also sells harvest privileges to woodland. This rancher practices economy and suggests the same to others in agriculture. For instance — in his area of the country — some ranchers with a flair for showiness pay $15,000 for a fancy cutting horse when an ordinary "Heinz variety" can be trained to do an equal job at a fraction of the investment.

Drought is something that ranchers in Texas live with and accept. Underground water is hard to find. Scaling has eight wells on his ranch powered by wind.

After spending half a day touring the two Columbia County farms, Scaling traveled to Northumberland where he attended an information session on manure management.

Because of a limited time factor, data was presented by way of a slide show. There are several of these systems in operation, some more controlled than others. The idea is to balance soil requirements of manure application to eliminate or cut down on unnecessary leeching into underground waterways and streams. The farther down river, or the closer to the Chesapeake Bay, the more intense such management is encouraged by the federal government according to SCS data.

With advances in agricultural management continuing to expand, the farmer has options to improve almost all areas of his operation. Pennsylvania ranks right up with the best in the nation. Since 1980, agriculture has been the Keystone state's leading industry. Dairy is the largest and ranks fifth highest in the nation. Fruit production also puts the state in the top five.

Pennsylvania farmers produce $4 billion in annual yield value. They are directly responsible for generating $30 billion in related economic activity.

This activity has the potential to grow with continued interest in wise land management. For instance, in the past 20 years, well over a million feet of diversions were installed in conjunction with contour strip cropping in Columbia County. Already this year 100,000 feet of cropland terraces have been installed.

Land is a precious endowment. For too many years many acres were misused, neglected and abused. Landowners are being given the opportunity of reclaiming lost acreage, improving poor soil and saving the good.

The Soil Conservation Service is eager to guide those who need help, provide information and suggest cost defrayment. Farmers are urged to evaluate their situation and seek help if needed. It's all part of "good business."

Sanders Claims West End Championship

BEAVERTOWN — San-Be Sexation Blessing, a 4-year-old cow owned by San-Be Farms, Millmont, topped the open Holstein show at the recent Union County West End Fair. Reserve honors went to another San-Be cow, 3-year-old San-Be Ken Royal Blackie.

The reserve grand champion went to the junior champion, J and K-Vue Royal Magic Kristie, a senior yearling owned by Jonathan Boop. Barry Spangler's 3-year-old cow sired by Green-Banks Diplomat captured the reserve senior champion honors.

John Rishel also showed the grand champion Holstein of the FFA show Dietrichs Millie, a 3-year-old cow sired by Glen-Ett Milu Benedict. Jonathan Boop exhibited the reserve grand champion, J and K-Vue Rhonda, a senior 2-year-old cow bred by Gerald and Kathy Ann Boop.

South Central District FFA Dairy Show

SHIPPENSBURG — The 1986 South Central District FFA Dairy Show was held at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds Aug. 1. Type judge for the show was Ray Seidel of Kutztown; fitting and showmanship judge was Maryanne Johnson of Sire Power. Seventy four animals were exhibited from Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Perry and York counties.

The senior champion and grand champion of the Holstein breed was three-year-old Ben-Lou Angie shown by Benjamin Dum, Jr. of the West Perry FFA, Perry County and the reserve senior champion and reserve grand champion was Weim-Sharr-MC Rora Denise-ET, a four-year-old shown by Jennifer Weimer of the Conewago FFA, Adams County.

The grand champion and the junior champion of the Jersey breed was Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Crysta, a senior calf shown by Timothy Warner of the Kennard-Dale FFA, York County, and the reserve grand champion and reserve junior champion was senior yearling Allison Hi Land Baby, shown by Missy Gebhart of Conewago FFA, Adams County.

The senior champion was Samson Magic Mandate Betty Lou and the reserve senior champion was S.V. Dreaming Lassie, both junior two-year-olds shown by Missy Gebhart of the Conewago FFA.

South Central Dairy Show

Kennard-Dale FFA was first with his Ayrshire junior two-year-old Cool-Branch Liberator Julia and Lisa Kilgore was first in the Brown Swiss breed with her intermediate calf Kildary Cindis Styl Angel.

Adams County won the County Good Housekeeping award and the Conewago Chapter of Adams County received the individual Chapter Good Housekeeping award.

In the selection of county groups, the first place group of four animals of the Holstein breed was Adams County and the first place Brown Swiss group was exhibited by York County.

Champion fitter honors went to Michael Smith of the Shippensburg FFA, Cumberland County, and champion showman competition ended with Jennifer Weimer of the Conewago FFA, Adams County, on top. The champion fitter received a show halter and the showman received a show blanket, both presented by Don Crouse of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.

Attending the show and providing assistance by presenting ribbons and awards were the dairy princesses of Adams, Franklin, Cumberland, and Perry counties. Special thanks were expressed to the many businesses and individuals who donated their time and/or money toward the success of the show.

DICKEY-john DjGMT Grain Moisture Tester

The DICKEY john Grain Moisture Tester measures moisture content automatically You don t have to preweigh the sample There are no meters to read no dials to set and no thermometers to lose As soon as you pour in the grain sample the testing sequence begins A digital readout is displayed when the proper weight of the sample has entered the test chamber The readout is corrected for temperature at the touch of a pressure sensitive switch Models are available with direct readouts for corn soybeans or wheat and adhesive conversion charts are provided for other grains

- GRAIN MODEL
  List...$259
  CASH.....$185
- FORAGE MODEL
  List...$310
  CASH.....$215

Simple, four-step operation

1 Place the tester on a steady, level surface Then, lift the protective cover up and slide it down out of the way

2 Use the sample cup to pour grain into the testing cell. Pour slowly and steadily, taking about eight to ten seconds to empty the sample cup. A readout will appear automatically

3 Wait at least fifteen seconds Then, press the temperature compensation switch for a direct readout of the moisture content of the grain listed on that switch Refer to the appropriate chart for other grains

4 Empty the tester by turning it over (If you should forget to empty the test cell, the tester will shut itself off automatically after two minutes.)

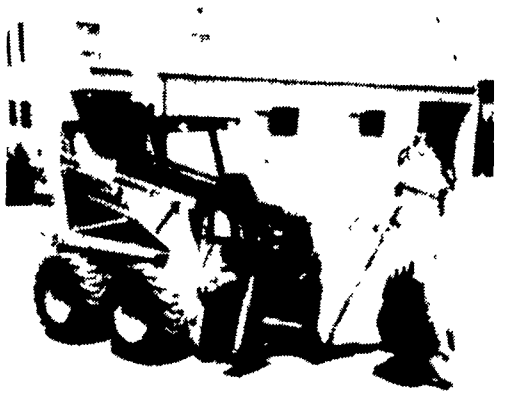
Increase The Potential Of Your Skid Steer Loader With This Versatile New Backhoe

IN STOCK
KELLY MODEL BS 30C
8'6" Digging Depth, 15" Bucket

$4,550 Plus Installation



Check These Quality Features Of The Kelly Model BS 30C

1 RIGID MOUNTING allows weight transfer onto the backhoe when the hydraulic stabilizers are in down position and locks the backhoe in the best possible working position for maximum digging power
2 TWO DOUBLE ACTION SWING CYLINDERS - one pushing, one pulling - for a powerful, smooth and controllable full 180 degree swing
3 HYDRAULIC SWING CUSHION PROTECTION - Patented swing cushion slows down and stops swing automatically; prevents "Shock Load" at end of travel.
4 SIX SPOOL SECTIONAL CONTROL VALVE for Open Center Hydraulic systems - Power Beyond capabilities is optional kit
5 ONE MASTER RELIEF VALVE AND FOUR CIRCUIT RELIEFS with anti-cavitation feature - Standard on BS30C
6 TWO LEVER CONTROL for ease of operation. Operator remains stationary avoiding stress and fatigue. Superb operational control with good feathering characteristics and minimum cylinder cavitation
7. ADJUSTABLE FOLDING SEAT to allow Skid Steer operator more room.
8 HYDRAULIC PRESSURE GAUGE KIT is Standard Equipment on BS30C (optional on BS20A).
9 A VARTIETY OF BUCKET SIZES: For BS20A - 9", 12", 15", and 18". For BS30C - 12", 15", 18", and 24"
10 ALL BUCKETS have replaceable teeth and hardened side cutting edges

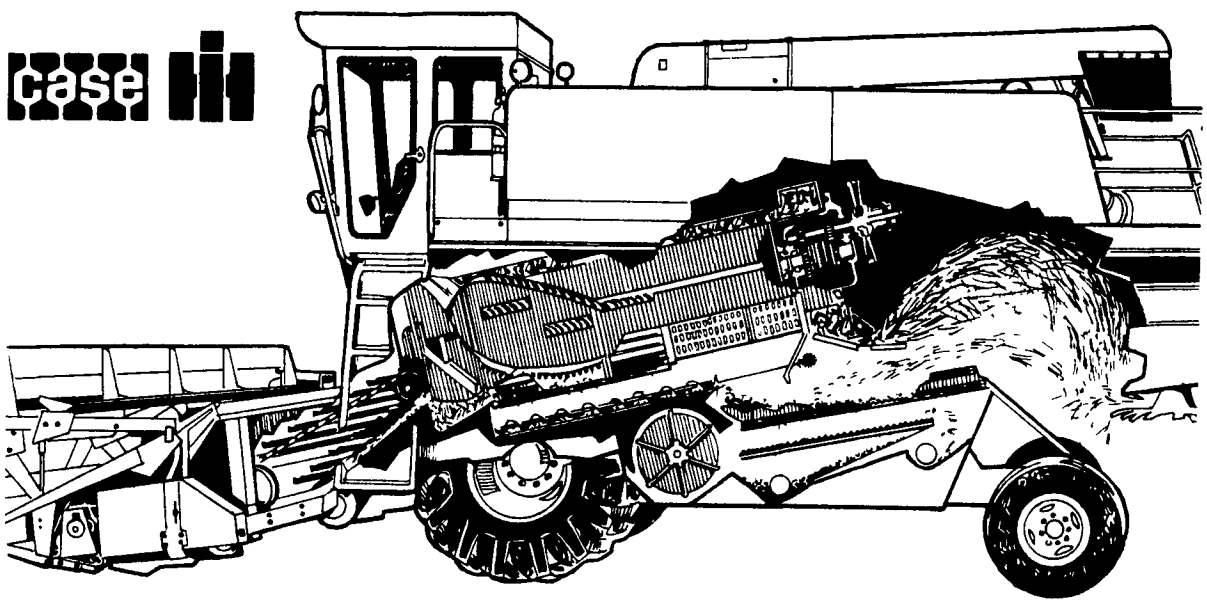
ALL CROP VERSATILITY...

case IH



The one moving part in Axial-Flow's entire threshing/separating process is the single large-diameter rotor. Nothing more. No cylinder, beaters or straw walkers. There's far less that can break or need maintenance. That's Axial-Flow combine simplicity.

Axial-Flow helps bring top price at the elevator. It handles grain more gently. Less crackage and dockage. You'll combine higher moisture grain at faster ground speeds for a quicker harvest. That's Axial-Flow performance.

Axial-Flow Combines for every crop. Designed to harvest over 100 different crops including corn, soybeans, wheat, sorghum and others. All popular grain header sizes plus 4 to 8-row corn heads.

HOOBER COMBINE SERVICE...

HOOBER COMBINE SERVICE SPECIALISTS KNOW COMBINES.

For nine years Hoober's 3 combine mechanics have been working with Axial-Flow technologies. A COMBINE BOUGHT FROM HOOBER IS BACKED BY PEOPLE WHO KNOW AND CARE.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS, ETC.

Serving Customers Coast to Coast.

Complete TA assemblies for 706-1586 are priced at $595 and come with a Dana Co Heavy Duty Sprag instead of the usual IH sprag The Dana sprag is guaranteed for 2 years against failure Sprag kits (includes sprag gear, Dana sprag, and piston carrier) and all items for rebuilding your own TA are available to qualified persons Ramps and carriers for the older style TA's (as in SMTA, 340, 560) are priced at $150 each and carry a 90 day guarantee We have all the parts needed to rebuild your TA in stock at prices that will save you money We also have a shop available for complete TA installation Or, you may split your own tractor and bring the center housing to us, which we can rebuild while you wait (approx 4-6 hrs) We also stock New and Rebuilt Water Pumps, Dynlite Clutches Pressure Plates and PTO Drive Gears (Spline fit into pressure plates) for most IH tractors and combines

We are in need of TA & clutch cores for rebuilding purposes. If you have not returned your cores, please do so or call us for pickup.
Dealers: We are paying cash for cores. If you have quantity, we will pick up.

3 SILOS AND UNLOADERS

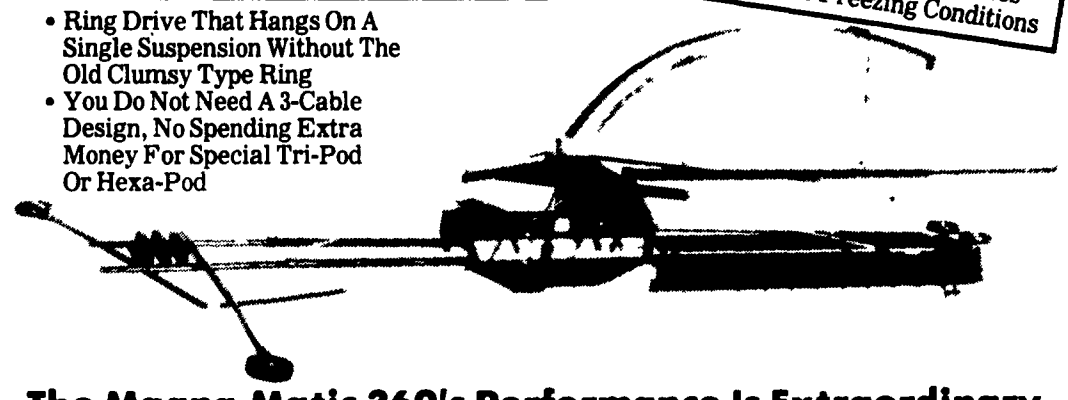
VAN DALE®

MAGNA-MATIC 360® RING-DRIVE SILO UNLOADER
OUTPERFORMS THEM ALL

Tested in Northwestern States Under Severe Freezing Conditions

Features No One Else Can Claim:

- Ring Drive That Hangs On A Single Suspension Without The Old Clumsy Type Ring
- You Do Not Need A 3-Cable Design, No Spending Extra Money For Special Tri-Pod Or Hexa-Pod



The Magna-Matic 360's Performance Is Extraordinary

- Positive drive in loose and frozen material
- Smoother operation in extremely tough conditions
- The silo can be filled to the top, increasing silo capacity by several tons
- Quicker changeovers from fill to feed and back to filling
- Can utilize existing single cable suspension with sufficient weight carrying specifications
- The surface of the silage or grain is not disturbed by a drive wheel
- Steadier delivery of silage with less frequent winch adjustment
- Less installation time than conventional ring drive

SELF-FEEDING BIG AG-BAG PLUS!

You can feed directly from an Ag Bag and save hours of labor every day! You will also be feeding a more palatable feed as high in nutrition as the day you bagged it their eighty five cow dairy Our butterfat went to 700 which is good because we had a tough time in getting it to 625 before the bagging states Jim The palatability of the feed is a big plus and the higher quality feed has made a difference in the herd health We are now at a 12 5 calving interval which is important to us as our herd is completely artificially inseminated Both our veterinarian and nutritionist agree that the higher nutrition makes the difference

Another big plus is that you can select the feeds you want like haylage corn silage or wheatlage out of each bag and feed accordingly to your high group or your low group of cows it's a real management tool

AG-BAG Feed Storage Bags Are Time Tested And Proven!

Custom Bagging

- The white outer layer reflects the heat of the sun and the ultra violet rays that are the enemy of all plastics
- The black inner layers are designed to assure no ultra violet or oxygen penetration and offers double protection for your valuable crops and feeds

BOTH 8 FT. & 9 FT. BAG SIZES AVAILABLE

AG-BAG.

INSIST ON THE AG-BAG

JR-700 BAGGER COMPACT BUT TOUGH!

The JR 700 Bagger features an independent hydraulic system and positive compaction control Transports easily to bag feed where you want it and in unlimited capacity

PROVEN BAGS

PROTEK™ The New Technology In Protein Efficiency. It's Working!

Patent Pending

Marv and Betty Sauder, RD #2, Ephrata

We started on Protek in December of 1984. Before switching to Master Mix feeds, we fed a soybean and mineral mix to our cows for over 10 years. Our rolling herd average consistantly ran in the middle 15,000's, with our highest average going to 16,250. Mike Sensenig sets up our feed program and wanted us to go on Protek, so we did. We are glad we did. Our cows are peaking much higher and holding very good. Our program calls for 35 corn silage, 13 lbs. hay, a cob chop mix equal to a 13% Protek, and topdressing Protek 1890 (Hi Energy) pellets to cows over 60 pounds of milk.

After being on Protek for one year, our R.H.A. increased over 1800 pounds, and 50 pounds fat. It's up 2000 pounds now, and our second year on Protek, cows are still producing better than the first year. Our March DHIA average per cow was 70.3 pounds per day. We never hit 70 before. We hope to go as high as 19,000 as this year goes on. We are off to a good start. We have a number of cows that have increased 3,000 to 4,000 pounds in one year.

Our herd health is also very good. The calving interval is down to 12.3 and the cows just seem to be very healthy, along with peaking high and milking very good.

As far as we are concerned Protek works, and we are both sold on it.

R. Earl Sauder, Goodville, PA

I'm always interested in trying to advance my milking herd for better profits, and I'm really pleased with how we're doing with Protek. My salesman tested my forages and my feed dropped from a 16% flaked dairy to a 12% flaked dairy with Protek. The flaked dairy is made by Sensenig's Mill using flaked corn, oats, Protek, and molasses. I raised some soybeans this year and am topdressing them to cows milking over 60 lbs., our herd production went up and we were able to save considerably on our feed cost. During the winter months, we are consistantly averaging 60 lbs. of milk per head per day. Our butter fat has also been around 3.9.

My feeding program consists of 36 lbs. corn silage, 12 lbs. alf hay, Sensenig's flaked dairy with Protek, and topdressing roasted beans. When the beans are all, I topdress the Protek Concentrate.

I would also say Protek made a difference in the cows being able to breed back. In fact, the cows have just been responding better in every avenue!

Amos S. Lapp, Oregon Pike, Leola

I'm feeding Protek, and I like it. It seems to make more milk and my feed cost is down. As far as my production goes, I was never as high as I am at this point. I started feeding Master Mix feeds from Sensenig's Mill in August of 1984, and my herd average was 15,572. In December of 1984 my salesman convinced me to go on Protek. A short time after I started, I saw an improvement. I had one cow that milked 100 pounds for five months straight. I'd never had that before. That's nice.

My feeding program consists of 35 corn silage, 12 hay, a complete 13% flaked dairy made by Sensenig's, and topdressing the Protek 1890 (Hi Energy) pellets to cows over 60 lbs. The cows really hold production with those 1890 pellets. I found most of my cows are 10-15 lbs. higher, and they hold production longer than they used to. I used to have cows go up to 100 lbs. then drop back to 90 or 80. Now they go to 100, and they'll hold. I've had them as high as 110 or better and holding there for a couple months. As of December 1985, after 1 year on Protek, my R.H.A. is up to 17,271, and my average per cow in March was up to 68.9 lbs. per day. So, I would have to say I'm very pleased since being on the Protek Feed Program.

Durocs Top Penn State Performance Tested Boar Sale

BY MARY MAXWELL
Centre Co. Correspondent

UNIVERSITY PARK — Duroc boars earned the highest indexes and brought the highest prices at the Performance Tested Boar Sale at the Penn State Ag Arena last week.

The top boar, consigned by Penn State, sold to Carl and Dennis Cooper, Lenhartsville, for $1,250. The second highest selling boar, also a Duroc, was consigned by Kenneth Ketterer, Newville, and sold to Bruce Lemmon, Newburg, for $1,175.

The two top boars earned indexes of 139 and 138, respectively. The boar performance index ranks an animal with other test animals, regardless of breed. This ranking is based on average daily gain on test, the feed efficiency of the pen (four boars by one sire from one owner), and an ultrasonic scan of back fat. The index of 139 earned by this year's top boar means he is 39 percent better than the average boar tested.

"We're regular buyers here at the Performance Test Sale," reported Dennis Cooper who is in partnership with his brother, Carl, and father, Lloyd. "Last year we also bought the top-indexing boar and we like boars from the Penn State testing station for use in our 300-sow commercial operation."

The sale totaled $21,550 for the 38 performance tested boars. The 16 Durocs sold for $10,525 with an average price of $658. The 15 Yorkshires totaled $7,775 and averaged $518. Three Hampshires sold for a total of $1,425 and an average of $475. Two Lancraces total $1,075, averaging $538 and a Bershire and Poland China sold for $375 each.

"It was a good sale," concluded Glenn Eberly, Meat Animal Evaluation Center director. "The 38 boars sold for an average price of $567, a higher average than in recent years."

Swine Progeny Test Nominations Due

BY MARY MAXWELL
Centre Co. Correspondent

UNIVERSITY PARK — Nominations are still being accepted for the remaining pen space in the Swine Progeny Test at the Meat Animal Evaluation Center on the Penn State campus.

A sire-progeny group consists of at least six pigs from six or more sows by one sire. According to Glenn Everly, Evaluation Center director, not more than two sows may be full sisters or dam-daughter combinations and not more than three pigs from any one sow will be permitted in a sire-progeny group. The progeny group may be any combination of barrows or gilts.

All pigs must be 80 days of age or less when delivered to the Center and their weight per day of age must be between .60 and 1.20 pound. The delivery period is Sept. 22 to Nov. 17 and the test period Sept. 29 to March 1.

A nomination fee of $5 is required for each pig, but this will be refunded when the pigs are delivered. Upon delivery, the consignor will also receive 75 percent of the value of the feeder pigs based on market reports of the previous week.

The pigs will be slaughtered at about 220 pounds filled weight and carcass measurements taken. The animals will be evaluated on rate of gain and feed efficiency and the carcass on color, firmness and percent of ham and loin yielded.

Results of progeny tests are valuable to pure-bred as well as commercial breeders. If a boar is siring undesirable offspring, the breeder should eliminate him from his breeding herd. And on the other hand, if a boar's progeny excels in one or more traits, these factors are identified for the breeder. Data from the test will also aid the breeder in selling littermates, half-brothers and half-sisters of the tested stock.

For more information on the upcoming Swine Progeny Test contact Glenn Eberly, Meat Animal Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16803. Phone: 814-238-2527.

Wool, Mohair Prices Announced

WASHINGTON — Support prices for wool and mohair for 1986 marketings are $1.78 per pound for shorn wool and $4.93 per pound for mohair, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official has announced. In 1985 the support prices were $1.65 for wool and $4.43 for mohair.

Milton E. Hertz acting administrator of USDA's Agriculture stabilization and Conservation Service said pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the support price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

Shorn wool payments will be based on a percentage of each producer's return from sales. The percentage will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool in 1986 up to the support price of $1.78 per pound, Hertz said. In 1986 shorn wool prices are expected to average around 70 cents per pound compared to about 63 cents per pound in 1985.

Mohair payments will be calculated in a manner similar to wool. Hertz said projected prices indicate payments may be necessary for 1986 marketings. Mohair prices during 1986 are expected to average around $3.50 per pound compared to $3.45 in 1985. Mohair is being supported at 85 percent of the percent of parity at which shorn wool is supported, which is the statutory minimum price.

Huntingdon Juniors Sell Fair Champions

BY BETSY STITT
Blair Co. Correspondent

HUNTINGDON — Junior livestock exhibitors at the Huntingdon County Fair ended an eventful week with their annual sale on Aug. 15.

Kristie Espy, Spruce Creek, exhibited the grand champion steer. Her 1,430-pound Charolois sold to Miller's Diner, owned by Paul and Delores Knepp, for $2.50 per pound for a total pricetag of $3,575.

A 1,165-pound Angus, shown by Gary Morgan Jr., Orbisonia, captured the reserve grand championship and sold for $1.30 per pound. Penn's Pride Meats bought Gary's steer for a total price of $1,526.

Without the champions, the market hog show averaged 77 cents per pound.

Brad Horning, Huntingdon, sold his grand champion lamb, a registered Hampshire named Snoopy, to Huntingdon's McDonald's Restaurant. Bidding for McDonald's Restaurant, John Eastman paid $5.90 per pound for Brad's 120 pound lamb. McDonald's Restaurant donated the lamb to be sold again with the proceeds going to the 4-H Lamb Club. It resold for $1.50 per pound.

Unitas Bank bought Mark Miller's reserve grand champion lamb for $4 per pound. The 120 pound lamb sold for a total of $480. It was also donated to be sold again and brought $1,40 per pound on the second selling.

The 4-H Lamb Club raised a lamb and donated the proceeds from its sale to the Tina Shultz Fund. Tina was the 1985 Huntingdon County Dairy Princess who lost her battle with cancer earlier this year. She was a member of the 4-H Lamb Club. The lamb sold for $2 per pound.

Denise Bollinger, Mill Creek, sold her grand champion wether goat, weighing in at 85 pounds, to Kevin Delaney for $4.60 per pound. Three goats sold at the sale for an average of $1.63 per pound.

Several politicians attended the livestock sale, including Secretary of Agriculture Richard Grubb, Sen. Samuel Hayes who had two sons, Lee and Erick, exhibiting lambs at the fair, and Penn State Dean of Agriculture Lamartine Hood. After viewing the sale, these politicians commented that it was encouraging to see young people so involved in agriculture.

Beam Tops Chester Co. 4-H Swine Show For Second Year

NEW HOLLAND — Brian Beam couldn't have had a more perfect weekend at the Chester County 4-H Swine Show and Sale held recently at the New Holland Sales Stable.

Brian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Titus Beam, Elverson, began the weekend Friday evening by claiming the reserve championship rosette for his pen of pigs. He went on to be named senior champion, then drove his heavyweight pig to grand champion market hog honors.

Show judge Mark Nestleroth said Brian's Hampshire was the widest-based, thickest-made hog in the show and would hang up a very profitable carcass for any packer.

Winning has become a common event for Brain; he exhibited the grand champion market hog and champion pen last year and was named champion junior showman. In both years Brian's pigs were bred by Omar and Nelson Beam of Elverson.

The reserve champion was exhibited by Trudi Marsh of Honeybrook. Trudi, a longtime member of the club, has shown pigs for years, but the championship always seemed to elude her.

Jill Burkhart of Mohnton also had a good night. She exhibited the champion pen, which was bred by David Glass, and was named champion junior showman. Reserve junior showman was David Howe of Downington and reserve champion senior showman was Mike Stoltzfus of Elverson.

Type and showmanship trophies were sponsored by the Lancaster-Chester County Swine Producers Association and pen trophies were sponsored by Markie and Jamie Travaglini of Thorndale.

Brian Beam (left) showed grand champion and was named top senior showman at the Chester County 4-H Pig Show/Sale on Aug. 8. Hatfield's Doug Clemens was buyer at $4 a pound.

Reserve champion honors went to Trudi Marsh of Honeybrook. Once again Hatfield was high bidder.

Hatfield Packing was the volume buyer of the day, followed by Leidy Packing and New Holland Sales Stable.

Other buyers included ABC Groff and Thrifty Dutchman, New Holland; H.D. Matz, Ephrata; Omar Beam Custom Spraying, Elverson; Harold Althouse, Farm Bureau, Fleetwood; Maxwell Hardware, Downington; David Glass, Birdsboro; and Beam's Shavings, Elverson.

Other buyers were Downingtown National Bank, Downington; Farmer Brown's, Morgantown; M.H. Eby, Blue Ball; Lisnageer Farm, Coatesville; Agway, Cochranville, and Hamilton Bank, Exton.

Sherwood Steers Claim Somerset Beef Honors

BY MARGIE FUSCO
Cambria County Correspondent

MEYERSDALE — Half-brother steers bred by the Robert Sherwood Farms in West Virginia took grand and reserve grand champion titles at the beef show during the Somerset County Fair, held Aug. 19.

The grand champion steer, a 270-pound Simmental cross, was raised by Greta Mostoller of Boswell. She purchased the steer at the Somerset County Club Calf Sale, and the animal took top honors in a special Club Calf champion class during the fair.

The reserve grand champion steer, a 1,280-pound Chianina cross, was raised by Kermit Stahl of Somerset. The steer was purchased from Sherwood Farms.

Both Mosteller and Stahl are members of the Steak and Chops 4-H Club. Their steers were among 41 entries in the day-long show, judged by Dr. Robert Herr, vocational agriculture teacher and beef and sheep breeder from New Holland. The 1986 show marked Dr. Herr's fourth appearance as a judge at the Somerset Fair.

Class 1 - 835-935 lbs
1 Marty Stutzman 2 Cory Frazier 3 Mike Potts

Somerset Fair Swine Show Is Biggest Ever

BY MARGIE FUSCO
Cambria County Correspondent

MEYERSDALE — A record number of hogs were on hand at this year's market swine show at the Somerset County Fair. In the end, 50 entries in the weight-class competition had to be turned down because they were over or underweight and the swine barn was at capacity.

Among the more than 100 hogs that remained, a 216-pound Duroc trotted off with the top trophy. Joe Speicher of Shellsburg exhibited the hog. Diana Auman of Somerset, showed the reserve grand champion, a spotted cross York gilt weighing in at 222 pounds.

200 lbs
1 Diana Auman 2 Les Young 3 Wendy Will

NuPulse Names Top Dealer

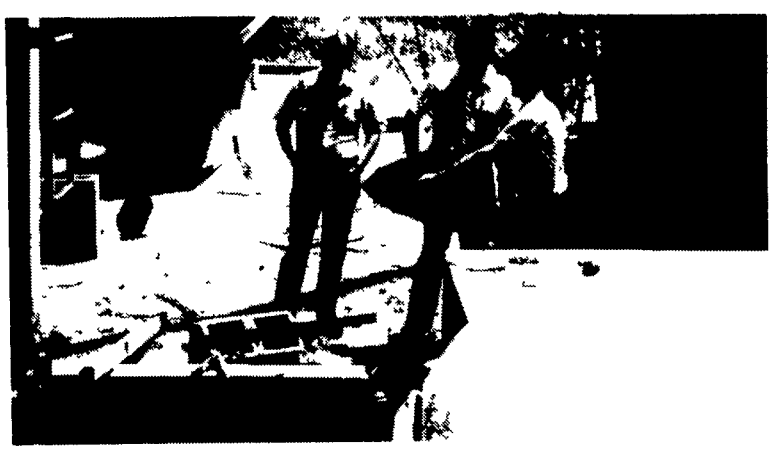
Tam Agri Completes Job Ahead of Schedule



When the University of Maryland sold their research farm recently, the grain drying bins and equipment had to be moved to a new location. Tam Agri Corp., Dillsburg, got the job of relocating the grain drying setup on another farm in Beltsville, Maryland.

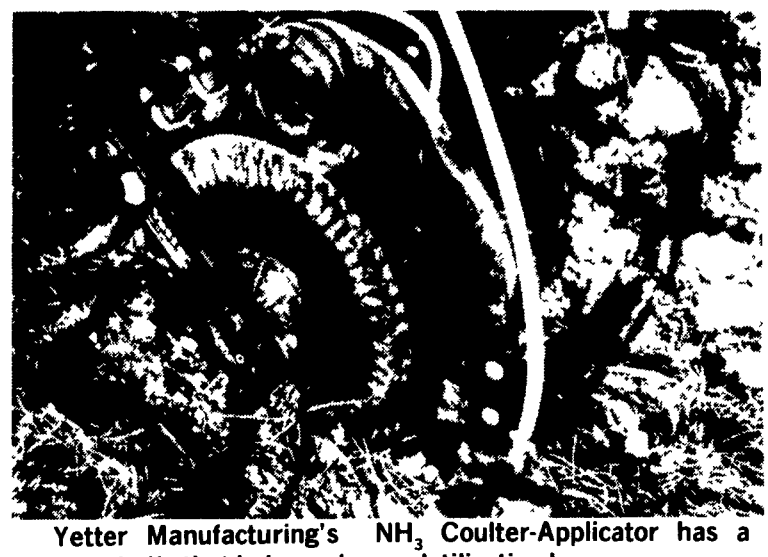
Yetter Introduces Coulter-Applicator

PEORIA, Ill. — An NH_3 Coulter-Applicator recently introduced by Yetter Mfg. Co., Colchester, Ill., represents an important advance for deep placement in conservation tillage practices.

The new attachment is equipped with a unique pivot arrangement to protect the 20-inch blade and the unit's narrower knife from damage while injecting anhydrous deeper into the soil where volatilization loss is minimized. If the blade encounters a rock or other object, it merely pivots around the obstruction reducing the chances of damage.

The coulter cuts a path through the trash for the applicator knife which cuts an extremely thin slot. Because the narrow knife reduces soil disruption, the slot has a tendency to close itself, sealing the volatile anhydrous in the soil below the root zone where it can be utilized for maximum effectiveness.



Yetter Manufacturing's NH_3 Coulter-Applicator has a narrow knife that helps reduce volatilization loss.

Details on the new Coulter-Applicator are available at all Yetter dealers or by calling toll-free 1-800-447-5777 outside IL, or 1-800-325-7165 in IL. Yetter Manufacturing Co., Colchester, IL 62326-0358.

Grain Moisture Indicator For Harvest Plan

MOUNT JOY — "How soon can we harvest the corn, Dad?"

Seems there is always an eager youngster asking that question this time of year. The answer given in the past may have been more of an estimate, but by following the advice of an area agronomist, an accurate answer may not be so difficult and could reduce drying costs.

Bill Fleet, area agronomist for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., says, "A good way to determine when to harvest corn is to look at the kernel dent and the formation of black layer. This helps gauge the moisture level in the grain."

Each kernel passes through a stage called physiological maturity during which the sugary, watery substance in the kernel is turned into starch. The end of this process, which is also known as black layer, can be seen by peeling the tip of the kernel off with a thumbnail or knife to where the black layer can actually be seen.

Fleet says there is another indicator.

"You can also watch this process by observing the milk line. This is a whitish line that slowly moves up the kernel as the starch is formed.

"It's difficult to predict the exact moisture of the grain, but by observing these signs during the year, farmers can make a good estimate of when it is time to harvest."

Timely harvest is important because that will determine how much additional drying needs to be done to have the grain at a marketable or useable moisture level.

"Each additional point of moisture adds a few cents to drying costs. Per bushel this may not appear to make much difference, but this can amount to substantial savings each year when the entire crop is considered," Fleet says.

Unverferth Offers Combine Terra Wheels

KALIDA, Ohio — Terra tires for combines, which improve flotation while reducing compaction and crop losses caused by wet fields, may now be mounted on high quality Terra wheels from Unverferth Manufacturing, Kalida, Ohio.

Unverferth fabricates the wheels in sizes for virtually all Terra tires and popular combines. All Unverferth Terra wheels are precision constructed, primed, and painted for long service life. In addition, Unverferth thoroughly pre-tests all Terra wheels to eliminate the possibility of leaks.

For more information about Terra wheels for combines, or any Unverferth product, contact Unverferth Manufacturing Co., Inc., P.O. Box 357, Kalida, OH 45853. Phone 1-800-537-9442 (419-532-3121 in Ohio) Telex 265026.

Pioneer Develops New Inoculants

JOHNSTON, Iowa — The Microbial Genetics Division of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. has developed two new inoculants: Pioneer brand 1174 water soluble silage inoculant and Pioneer brand 1186 water soluble inoculant for high-moisture corn.

Available this fall, 1174 and 1186 are highly concentrated formulations packaged in 150 gm foil pouches.

Pioneer 1174 silage inoculant is recommended for all forage crops. It contains special strains of naturally-occurring beneficial bacteria isolated by Pioneer and used exclusively in Pioneer inoculants. These bacteria help promote a faster and more efficient fermentation.

Pioneer 1186 high-moisture corn inoculant is recommended for high-moisture shell and ground ear corn. It contains corn-specific naturally-occurring beneficial bacteria isolated by Pioneer and unique to Pioneer products.

Both products are mixed with water and applied to forage at the time of ensiling. These products offer farmers an alternative to Pioneer brand 1177 silage inoculant, which comes in 50 pound bags and is applied dry.

Plot Tours Compare Varieties

MOUNT JOY — Educational opportunities for farmers abound at field days and plot tours, says an agronomist for a leading seed company.

"This is an ideal opportunity for farmers to take a look at the products suited for their areas under varying management programs and soil conditions," says Bill Fleet, area agronomist for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.

To get the most out of a field day or plot tour, Fleet recommends the following:

- Concentrate on the products that fit a particular management system that is similar to your own.
- Compare hybrids and varieties that are of similar maturities.
- Consider the strengths and the weaknesses of the products and how important each one is to you.

Other qualities to compare are performance of various populations, standability, tolerance to insects and diseases, and the overall plant health.

It is important to remember that this type of evaluation is one source of information to be used to evaluate the products for use on each farm, the agronomist says.

"Performance records from the past two to three years are necessary to properly evaluate these products. This data needs to be collected from a large and diverse area to indicate the consistency and stability of these products in various environments," he concludes.

Brockett's Ag Advice

Coping With The Farm Doldrums

We in the agricultural community must learn to cope with the present farm doldrums or farming may never recover. I did not say accept the present situation. That would be defeat and I do not think farming is anywhere near defeat. But, until we all learn how to handle the present set of problems, it will be difficult to move on and change things for the better.

What must we do? The very first thing to do is look into a mirror and say "Hey old friend, you are the only one who can change things and the only way you will succeed is to recognize the problem is in part a management one that you can handle." Once that line is crossed, the rest begins to fall in place.

1. Use all available management tools such as soil testing, forage testing, DHIA, Crop Management Associations, and above all, records and business analysis.

2. Become active in learning about the marketing and consuming of your product. To do this, it is a must for you to calculate your cost of production. You may also have to talk to some non-farm people to find out their needs.

3. Become a manager of your resources, including labor.

4. Talk to your lender or lenders about rescheduling your loan payments to bring them in line with your repayment ability. If you can show the lender your repayment ability, it will help your negotiate the change.

5. Do not borrow any more than you can show your present income can handle. Even better, allow yourself a 10 percent reserve on top of your payment for possible financial recessions.

6. Do not buy new capital items unless you can prove to yourself that (a) you can pay for it or (b) you can handle the payments if you have to borrow the money.

7. Learn how to distinguish between wants and needs in both your business and in your personal life. (There is nothing wrong with buying wants - if you can afford them.)

8. Learn to accept those things you can not change, to work like blazes to change those you do have influence over, and ask for guidance in determining the difference.

Debt and Income

Many economists have stated that the farm asset to liability ratio is the important factor when determining potential failure of a farm. For a long time I have said that percentage of income to service debt was the major critical factor. The other day, I heard an economist discussing the economic factors that point to recession or boom in this country. One of his main points was the total national liability to gross national income ratio. He said the thing that concerns him now is that this ratio is now over 2 to 1. In the past it seldom exceeded 1.6 to 1. That would be an interesting measure of stability.

We have used as a measure of credit worthiness (capital turnover) the ratio of assets to income. Unfortunately, this measure became of little value as assets inflated in value beyond the assets ability to generate income. Perhaps a liability to income ratio has some merit. You can do this without estimating inventory value or market value of other assets. Simply divide the total value of your liabilities by your gross income for 1985. The answer would be your liability to income ratio.

If you have an answer of 1.6 or less, then according to the analyst I heard, you are probably in reasonable financial shape. If you arrive at an answer in excess of 2, you are probably overloaded with debt. As with any other measure, this one too has some problem areas when dealing with an individual.

How much debt can an individual farm business handle? The answer is a little more complicated than some of the thumb rules that are thrown around. A rule of thumb says a dairyman should have no more than $3,000 debt per cow. Or a rule of thumb says that a dairyman should have a debt payment less than 25 percent of income to be a viable operator.

Now that economists says that dairyman should have a liability to income ratio of no more than 1.6 to 1. That would mean sales of $1,875 per cow if we used the $3,000 figure. Sales of $1,875 would allow a debt payment of $468 per cow if the 25 percent of income figure was used. A debt repayment ability of $468 per cow would allow for a debt of $2,424 per cow if the debt was a seven year loan at 9 percent interest, or $2,208 per cow if the debt was a 7 year loan at 12 percent interest, or $4,333 per cow if the debt was for 20 years at 9 percent interest, or $3,539 per cow if the debt was for 20 years at 12 percent interest.

So all three rules of thumb are in the ball park, but none of them hit it and may even be way outside of the mark if the dairyman is above or below average. Actually an individual dairyman must consider a number of factors to determine the amount of debt his or her business can carry. Some of these factors are:

1. Length of loan life (annual payments decrease as loan life lengthens).

2. Interest rate charged would have a direct bearing on amount that can be borrowed. (see the difference between 9% and 12% above).

3. Debt repayment ability for that particular farm (it in turn is affected by the operation's expense to income ratio and family living requirement).

The curds and whey Miss Muffet was eating when the spider sat down beside her are still enjoyed in England but with a little honey and heavy cream added for additional flavor. The curds are the soft custard-like lumps that form after milk used to make cheese is treated, then curdles and separates. The whey is the liquid left after the curds form.

Werley And Fisher Take Lamb And Steer Honors At Kutztown

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

Sheep Show

KUTZTOWN – The sheep shows at the 1986 Kutztown Fair remained very popular with exhibitors and spectators alike as 4-Hers exhibited their skills with the docile animals. Judging the events was Robert Leib, vocational agriculture teacher with the Cumberland Valley Schools.

In the market lamb competition, Tricia Werley, Shoemakersville, was awarded the grand champion market lamb rosette for her first place heavy-heavyweight market lamb. The reserve champion was Glenn Heffner, Fleetwood, with his first place light-heavyweight. There were 68 lambs entered in the competition.

In the sheep blocking and grooming contest, Joyce Heffner, Fleetwood, took the title in the junior contest, while Joshua Grim, Breiningsville, took the senior division title.

The grand champion fitter and the reserve champion fitter in the fitting and showmanship contests went to a pair of sisters. Jodi Frantz, Lehigh County FFA, Schnecksville, was named grand champion fitter. Her sister, Tracey, received the reserve honors. But Tracey was also named grand champion showman with Glenn Heffner taking the reserve ribbons in showmanship.

Jodi Frantz, a 16-year-old FFA member, and her 18-year-old sister, Tracey, have been showing sheep for the past three years. They are the daughters of Wayne and Pat Frantz, Schnecksville. The sisters also showed several of their sheep to breed champions and competed in the market lamb contests.

Steer Show

Peter Levan judged the steer shows at the 1986 Kutztown Fair with many entries from which to select his champions in the market steer division, the showing and fitting contests, and in the breed divisions. Grand champion market steer was shown by Kent Fisher, Oley. Kennianne Rarick, Reading, exhibited the reserve champion. Showing and fitting honors went to Lori Rabenold, Lehigh County, who was named grand champion showman and Debra Krause, Lehigh County, who was named grand champion fitter.

Blair County Posts Livestock Champions

BY BETSY STITT
Blair County Correspondent

MARTINSBURG — FFA and 4-H livestock exhibitors from across Blair County brought market hogs, lambs and steers to Morrison's Cove Memorial Park on Aug. 19 for a busy yet rewarding day at the annual livestock show and sale.

During the day, quality classes throughout the show presented judge Brenda Walters from York County with a difficult job in grand champion selection.

John Dowey, a recent graduate of Williamsburg High School, exhibited the grand champion steer. Buddy, a 1,150-pound Chiania cross, garnered a price of $5 per pound, for a total selling price of $5,750, from Hoss's Steak and Seafood House.

The sale's 27 steers averaged 90 cents per pound without the champions. This average is 26 cents above top market price.

Robbie Stultz, son of Mrs. Marsha Stultz of Williamsburg, exhibited the grand champion hog, a 230-pounds Duroc cross. Robbie, a member of the 4-H Swine Club, sold his champion to Shaw Packing Company for a sale record of $5 per pounds or a total of $1,150.

Corina Frye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frye of Williamsburg, showed the reserve champion hog. Her 244-pound entry sold to Hoss's Steak and Seafood House for $3.75 per pound and a total of $915.

Lee Hayes, son of Sen. Samuel Hayes of Tyrone, exhibited the grand champion lamb. His 136-pound, Suffolk-Hampshire cross garnered a price of $4.25 per pound. Shaw Packing Company bought the Tyrone FFA member's lamb for $578.

The reserve champion lamb, shown by Doug Myers, Williamsburg, sold to Giant Eagle for $3 per pound. The 96-pound champion sold for a total price of $288.

Sixteen lambs at the sale, excluding champions, averaged $1.13 per pound.

Several animals were resold with the proceeds being donated to the Allan Sollenberger Medical Fund. Allan has had two liver transplants.

Farmers Urged To Report Drought Stricken Crops To FCIC

HARRISBURG — State Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Grubb recently reminded farmers with Federal Crop Insurance Corporation policies to report potentially covered losses to their FCIC agent before destroying or converting crops to other uses.

"Producers in drought stricken areas must do this even though the U.S. Department of Agriculture will allow them to salvage program crops for badly needed feed without penalty," Grubb noted.

Whether a crop is to be converted or destroyed, producers must report their intention to USDA through the local ASCS office and to FCIC, Grubb said.

E. Ray Fosse, manager of FCIC, has notified the state that the agency can not waive the reporting requirement because it would impact directly on indemnity levels. However, FCIC will work with farmers to permit salvage harvesting.

Fosse has assured the state that FCIS will be as flexible as possible in permitting farmers to harvest while leaving loss adjustment strips.

Grubb said farmers in drought affected counties should call their crop insurance agent if they have questions regarding the operation of their policy in this situation.

Counties considered drought affected by USDA are York, Adams, Fulton, Franklin, Chester, Lancaster, Delaware, Dauphin, Cumberland, and Bedford.

Slippery Rock Farm Family Wins Conservation Award

WASHIN("ON, D.C. — The Richard Kind family of Slippery Rock are the state winners of the 1986 National Soil and Water Conservation Awards Program.

Sponsored by the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation and The Du Pont Company, the program recognizes farmers and ranchers for outstanding achievement in protecting America's agricultural resources.

Sound conservation management has helped the Kinds convert a poorly managed farm with naturally wet soils into an efficient 700-acre cattle, corn and alfalfa-grass hay farm. Their farm, Grassycrest, is known to thousands who have visited it to learn about farm life in general or conservation practices in particular.

"Conservation pays! We believe that we are stewards of the land," said Kind. "Conservation is necessary for preservation of our natural resources."

Ten national finalists will be selected from among the state winners. The finalists and their spouses will receive an expense-paid trip to attend a national awards ceremony in the fall.

In December, the three 1986 National Winners will be announced. Each will receive an expense-paid trip to the national awards ceremony in Washington, D.C. and a $1,000 cash award. Last year's three national winners were presented a certificate in a White House ceremony.

"The Endowment awards program is designed to help make agricultural producers and the general public more aware of the importance of saving our soil and water resources by spotlighting the work of outstanding conservation farmers and ranchers," said Emmett Barker, Farm and Industrial Equipment president who chairs the Endowment.

"The program recognizes producers such as the Kinds, who work hard to conserve the state's and the nation's most precious commodities — soil and water," said area Du Pont sales representative, Duane Hobbs.

"As natural resources become more scarce, strategic conservation of these resources is critical to America's future," said Dale Wolf, vice president of Du Pont agricultural products. "Our farmers and ranchers have not only an opportunity in that regard, but a special responsibility as well. At Du Pont's agricultural product's group, we are pleased to contribute what we can by helping sponsor these state conservation awards with the Endowment for Soil & Water Conservation."

The National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation is a non-profit, privately funded, non-political organization dedicated to conserving the nation's natural resources and promoting a sense of stewardship for the land by involving all Americans.

Soil Conservation Society Honors Two Pennsylvanians

HARRISBURG — A Mechanicsburg man and a member of the Penn State faculty were recognized at the international meeting of the Soil Conservation Society in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Ronello 'Mel' Davis, Moores Mountain Road, Mechanicsburg was one of 20 to achieve the recognition of 'Fellow' in the Society. Lynn Hoffman, Pennsylvania Furnace, was one of nine to receive an 'Honor' award.

Davis is the retired special assistant to the undersecretary of agriculture for international science. He was recognized for his contribution to conservation with the USDA Soil Conservation Service, his skill at working with cooperating organizations and his international conservation efforts.

Davis has assisted the governments of Iran, Saudi Arabia, Tunisia, Zimbabwe, Nigeria, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Venezuela, Argentina, Haiti, Egypt and Israel in solving conservation problems.

He has been a member of SCSA for 29 years. He joined the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service, starting in North Dakota. Later in his career he was State Conservationist in Pennsylvania and ended his SCS career as national chief in Washington, D.C.

Hoffman, an assistant professor of agronomy, was recognized for his effective promotion of no-till crop production throughout the northeastern states.

Hoffman is known as "Mr. No-Till" in Pennsylvania and surrounding states. His no-till concepts include most agronomic crops. Hoffman actively promotes the positive results of combining crop rotation with no-till.

Hoffman manages Penn State's agronomy research farm at Rock Springs. His current research focus is on crop management in conservation tillage production systems. Hoffman also serves as agronomy extension specialist for tillage. He also trained USDA Soil Conservation Service employees in no-till concepts.

The Systems Approach of Hershey Equipment lets you put it all together

"System thinking" can help you plan away problems before you begin, or it can help you automate away problems you now have.
Hershey Equipment Co. is geared to provide all components of the system including equipment, plumbing, electrical and building. This will assure that the pieces will fit together to form a profitable system.

Union County Youth Claim Livestock Championships

LAURELTON — The Union County West End Fair held its Eighth Annual Junior Livestock Sale recently at the fairgrounds in Laurelton. Union County FFA and 4-H members had 53 animals auctioned off by Bryan Imes for a sale total of $14,647.

The grand champion market steer was owned by Crystal Knechel of R1 Millmont. The 1,200-pound steer was purchased by Roger Shuck for the Mifflinburg Farmers Exchange, Inc. of Mifflinburg for $1 a pound.

The 1,055-pound reserve champion market steer was owned by Amy Cotner of Lewisburg and sold at 86 cents per pound to Keister's Middleburg Auction Sales.

In the Market Swine Division, the grand champion market hog was owned by Duane Keefer of R2 Lewisburg. The 231-pound hog was sold to Hatfield Packing Company, of Hatfield, at $4.50 a pound.

The 222-pound reserve champion hog was owned by Tammy Kulp of R3 Mifflinburg. It was purchased by Swineford National Bank of Middleburg, for $2.80 a pound.

The 110-pound grand champion market lamb, owned by Brian Walker of R2 Lewisburg, was sold to the Mifflinburg Bank and Trust Company of Mifflinburg for $6.20 a pound.

The reserve champion lamb, owned by Rebecca Dietrich of R2 Mifflinburg, was sold to Swineford National Bank for $5.70 a pound.

This year's sale included 5 steers, 30 hogs, and 18 sheep. The 5 beef animals sold for $4,538, the hogs for $6794, and the sheep for a total of $3,315. Each Union County 4-H and FFA member could sell 2 lambs, 2 hogs, and/or 1 steer. The animals had to be project animals in their respective club and record books had to be entered with the animals.

Brian Walker showed his market lamb to the championship position at the Union County West End Fair. Bob Valentine, representing Mifflinburg Bank & Trust Co., purchased the champion.

New Ryegrass

TANGENT, Ore — Pickseed West Inc., announces the release of Prana tetraploid perennial ryegrass through Seedway, Inc., the Company's distributor in the Northeastern United States.

Prana replaces the old variety Nestor, being equal to it in each performance characteristic, but superior in seed production. This improvement will assure growers of a consistent, high quality seed supply of Prana. The new variety germinates quickly, has good seedling vigor, excellent yield potential, high digestability, and rapid regrowth.

Late maturing tetraploid perennial ryegrass varieties have found acceptance in the Northeaster U.S., as a companion grass with alfalfa, due to exceptional forage quality and compatability with alfalfa in the field. A key element in optimizing forage quality from alfalfa/ryegrass stands has been variety selection of the ryegrass so that alfalfa and ryegrass mature simultaneously. Prana is maturity matched with the normal cutting date of alfalfa so that growers can achieve maximum nutrient production from this combination.

Recommended seeding rate is 15 pounds alfalfa and 5 pounds Prana in a mixture, or 20 pounds per acre in straight stands. The variety can also be used in conjunction with other grasses and legumes for mixed hay or pasture.

Tax Relief For Drought Sales

Livestock produces who sell breeding animals because of the drought can postpone paying taxes on the proceeds, if they buy replacement stock within two years.

"New livestock must be used for the same purpose as the livestock that were sold," says Dr. Don Tilmon, extension farm management specialist for the University of Delaware. "Beef cows must be replaced with beef cows, and dairy cows must be replaced with dairy cows."

Producers must show that the drought caused the sale of more livestock than normal. For example, if a farmer normally sells one-fifth of a herd each year, only the sale of those in excess of one-fifth qualifies for a postponement of taxes.

If the drought forces producers to sell livestock held for resale, these producers also may postpone taxes for one year. To qualify for the postponement, producers must meet four requirements:

* Their principal occupation must be farming.
* They must use the cash method of accounting.
* They must be able to show that under usual business practices the sale would not have occurred this year.
* And, the farm must be in an area designated as eligible for assistance from the federal government.

"Sales before an area was eligible for federal assistance still qualify as long as the drought caused the area to later be declared eligible for fedeal assistance," the economist says.

For more information, producers can read the IRS Farmer's Tax Guide or consult the person who prepares their tax returns.

Drought Could Trigger Silo Fires, Toxic Gas

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — The 1986 drought could be responsible for more silo fires than usual this fall. And a rash of life-threatening silo gas poisonings appears likely on dairy and livestock farms throughout Maryland and the Southeast.

That warning comes from Gary L. Smith, Extension safety specialist and agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland in College Park.

Smith says that corn fodder and other forages going into silos at less than 40 percent moisture content will be a major cause of silo fires. And high nitrate levels in drought-stressed silage crops can lead to fermentation production of toxic gases — the most dangerous being nitrogen dioxide and nitrogen tetroxide.

In addition to being lethal if inhaled even in small amounts, the nitrogen oxide gases will support combustion. Burning silage triggers their rapid production in large quantity.

The nitrogen oxide gases are characterized by a strong, pungent odor. But their anesthetic effect can prevent a person from smelling them after only a breath or two.

The gases have a corrosive effect on tender human tissue, causing pulmonary edema — an abnormal accumulation of fluid in the lungs. Farmers often die in their sleep the next night after exposure.

Nitrogen dioxide and nitrogen tetroxide are heavier than air, and they produce a reddish brown or yellow haze as they settle. "But by the time you see their telltale signs, you probably are already in a life-threatening situation," Smith warned.

So what can be done to ease the double-barreled threat of silo fires and silo gas?

Smith notes that silo fires quite predictably occur at points where there are air leaks — usually around unloading doors. So prior to filling, insure that all potential leaks are sealed. Make certain that unloading doors are in good condition and fit snugly.

To further reduce the likelihood of fires, Smith recommends adding water at silo-filling time to all forages containing less than 40 percent moisture.

Fires are most likely in conventional upright silos, Smith noted. But those newer oxygen-limiting, upright steel silos are subject to both fire and explosion if careless air leaks are allowed to occur.

With these newer silos, local fire departments need to be alert that pouring water on smoldering silage may only make things worse. One of the leading manufacturers of this type of silo has supplied its dealers with a four-page bulletin which gives instructions for putting out fires in an oxygen-limiting structure.

To reduce the possibility of dangerous nitrogen gases produced by fermentation, Smith recommends cutting stover at least 18 inches above ground level — since nitrate toxicity normally is concentrated in the lower one-third of plant stalks.

The highest levels of poisonous gases are present during the first 48 hours after chopped forage is placed in an upright conventional silo. But they may be present at dangerous levels for up to three weeks.

Smith suggests leaving your silo blower in place for a month after filling. Keep unloading doors removed down to the top level of the silage. Run the blower for at least 15 minutes each time before entering the silo.

If you're in a hurry to start feeding silage to your cattle, let the initial 48-hour danger period pass. Then use an approved, self-contained breathing apparatus when you enter the silo.

Even if you only suspect that you have been exposed to nitrogen oxide gases, see your doctor as soon as possible. Exposure symptoms include irritation of eyes and mucous membrane, shortness of breath, and fever, plus accumulation of fluid in the lungs.

Nitrogen oxide gases are not to be confused with nitrous oxide, the "laughing gas" used by many dentists to produce loss of sensibility to pain. Nitrous oxide also is used as an aerosol propellant in whipped cream and other food products.

Pasture Field Day Set

DONEGAL — A field day to demonstrate the Voisin method of rotational grazing will be held Friday, Sept. 12 in Westmoreland County. The Voisin system, which involves strip grazing, is currently under trial at several farms in the county. The field day will focus on the system as it applies to dairy herd grazing.

Tom Calvert, regional Soil Conservation Service agronomist will talk on the management of intensive grazing. Carle Bebes of the Westmoreland County Soil Conservation Service will discuss farm management, and Gary Shepard of the county Extension Service office will discuss feeding strategies for dairy cattle.

The field day will be held on the Burton Mulhomin farm, M & N Dairy, near Donegal. Lunch for the event is free, provided by the Westmoreland Conservation District. For more information on the field day, contact the Westmoreland County Extension Service office at (412) 837-1402.

PA Poultry Annual Conference Set

The Pennsylvania Poultry Federation has set their annual conference for September 24-25 at the Holiday Inn in Grantville.

Slated for the second day of the conference, the commodity sessions offer attendees the opportunity to hear speakers address problems specifically related to the species with which they are associated. All commodity sessions begin at 9:30 a.m. and feature two forty-five minute presentations. This year's featured speaker, NBC economic correspondent, Irving R. Levine, will speak after the commodity sessions.

The turkey session features Dr. Frank Cherms of Nicholas Enterprises in Sonoma, California. Dr. Cherms will address "Altering Carcass Composition Through Lighting," a relatively new concept which has been successful for Nicholas, one of the world's largest turkey breeders. Dr. Cherms has been a Reproductive Physiologist for Nicholas since 1969.

The Broiler Conference features a speaker on perhaps one of the most controversial topics within the entire poultry industry in the last few years, the Federal Meat Inspection Program. Dr. Donald Houston, administrator of the Food Safety Inspection Service (FSIS), which operates the inspection program, will discuss the future of the services and what it will mean to poultry processors all over the country.

A session on new product development is one of the highlights of the Egg Conference. That discussion will be led by Dr. Frank Cunningham, a Professor in the Department of Animal Science and Industry at Kansas State University. Dr. Cunningham has spent his entire career working on the development of egg products, and is one of the field's leading experts. His research has included studies on the factors affecting coatings on foods, the biochemistry of eggs and poultry meat and the preservation of foods.

Sharing the podium at the Turkey Conference will be Dr. Arun Bahl of Stoudt Enterprises, Monroe, North Carolina. Dr. Bahl will address the problem of enteritis in turkeys and discuss ways to prevent this costly disease through management techniques and medications. Dr. Bahl's career has taken him to the University of Minnesota, where he served in the research department and on the teaching faculty and to Cuddy Farms, where he was the Director of Veterinary Medicine at that company's Marshville, North Carolina operation.

The Broiler Conference will also feature Dr. William D. Weaver, an Extension Professor in Poultry Science at Virginia Tech University. Dr. Weaver will discuss the differences between curtain sided and closed environmental housing for broilers and the advantages and disadvantages of each. Dr. Weaver's work has been recognized by the Poultry Science Association, Virginia Poultry Federation and the Rockingham Poultry Servicemen's Organization for outstanding achievement. His research and extension efforts have involved the study of various environmental factors on broiler performance.

Rounding out the Egg Conference is Dr. Roland M. Leach, Jr., Professor Poultry Science at Penn State University. Dr. Leach will address "Influencing Early Egg Shell Formation," a topic on which he has performed extensive research. Dr. Leach is recognized nationally for his research in trace mineral nutrition, skeletal development, and eggshell formation. He has authored several papers on each of these subjects. In 1980, he was the recipient of Poultry Science Association's Research Award, which was sponsored by the American Feed Manufacturers Association.

Horse Plowing Contest At Schaefferstown

SCHAEFFERSTOWN — Historic Schaefferstown's 16th Annual Horse Plowing Contest begins at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 13.

The Annual Horse Pull will begin on Sunday, Sept. 14, at 1 p.m.

Both days will see a new feature in 1986, a covered wagon pulled by 20 Belgian Draft Horses. At 2:30 p.m. on both days visitors may see this unique demonstration of horsemanship.

Housed in a large circular pavilion, the horse power driven by four horses will provide a new threshing demonstration using one of Pennsylvania's first threshing machines. A smaller one-horse treadmill will demonstrate sawing slab wood.

The 100-year-old Frick sawmill will saw logs and there will be demonstrations of log jumping, baling, stone crushing, a team of oxen and a large display of old farm implements.

On Saturday the new plowing class for young girls will compete for prizes and on Sunday the young boys class will demonstrate. There will be a new driving class competition with wagons.

The Fall Harvest season will be marked by cider making, apple butter cooking, roasted corn meal for mush making, and the new dry houses drying apples, string beans, corn and fruit. Great tasting sausage sandwiches will be available at the sausage stand.

Harvest pies at the tasting table will include apple, grape, schnitz and raisin custard. Other pies will be available at the Dutch Kitchen and other demonstration areas. Samples of the old favorite, dried string beans and ham, will be available to visitors. Samples of Schaefferstown's traditional breakfast gschmokte warscht and schnitz boi, or smoked sausage and schnitz pie, will be offered.

There will be craft demonstrations, including rye-straw roof thatching, tours of the house, the log house over the spring, the blacksmith shop and the garden.

The two large fireplaces in the Schaeffer House will be cooking old-time foods and the 1771 bake oven will bake bread and pies.

Weekend entertainment will be provided by Al Shade's orchestra on Saturday and by the Rohrerstown Band on Sunday.

Hours on Saturday, September 13 are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday, September 14 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $2.50 for adults, children free. Historic Schaefferstown is located north of Lancaster at the intersection of Routes 501 and 897.

Northumberland SCS Meeting

The Northumberland County Conservation District, Cooperative Extension Service, and Soil Conservation Service will sponsor a twilight meeting on Thursday, September 4, from 6:30 to 9:30 P.M.

The meeting will begin with a tour of Carl Swartz's no-till corn demonstration plot from 6:30 to 7:00 P.M. The plot is located one-half mile east of McEwensville on Route 44.

Starting at 7 P.M., the rest of the meeting will be held indoors at a shed next to the no-till plot. Presentations will be made by chemical company and agency representatives on a variety of topics. Mike Fleming, Sandoz Crop Protection Corp., will speak on controlling problem broadleaf weeds. Vernon Brose, County Agent, will speak on farm safety. Norman Conrad, County Agent, will discuss corn production inputs.

George Phillips of the conservation district staff will present a slide program on the results of the conservation district's no-till demonstration plot program. Bill Krieger, a consulting forester from Elysburg, will discuss woodland management. Kevin Blake, Soil Conservation Service, will speak on the Conservation Reserve Program and Sod Buster regulations. Robert Jacobs of the conservation district staff will speak on the Chesapeake Bay Cleanup Program.

The meeting will feature the premier showing of a slide presentation produced by the Northumberland County Conservation District entitled "Manure: Where Does It Go From Here." The slide show was funded by the Citizens Program for the Chesapeake Bay and will be used throughout Northeastern US to promote good manure management. The presentation features interviews with the two local farmers.

Refreshments will be provided by the Northumberland County Conservation District. More information on the meeting can be obtained by calling the conservation district.
